BROOKS ASSAILS OFFICIALS WHO BREAK PLEDGES

Addresses 3,000 at Starved Rock.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
(Picture on page 10.)

Ottawa, Ill., Aug. 27.—In his own farming community, Sen. Wayland Brooks tonight told more than 3,000 persons at the annual Starved Rock State park meeting that our representative form of government will die unless its elected officials keep their word.

Brooks and most of the other Republican candidates who appeared tonight were on a familiar meeting ground. But there was a great difference in the audience they faced. Tonight there were few young men in the crowd. The high proportion of women and girls was a somber wartime note.

There was less cheering than there was a year ago near the fortresslike sandstone structure on the Illinois river banks which gives the park its name. However, there seemed to be no less fervency in the handclasps and wishes for victory which the G. O. P. nominees got.

Has Kept Every Pledge.

"In a broad sense, we can say that Starved Rock plays a part in the war effort, for all of America must now be dedicated to the purposes of war," Brooks said.

"You and I believe that the hope of the liberty loving people of the whole world depends upon the future strength of representative government. We believe that representative government will disappear and die unless those elected to function as officers of that government keep faith with their people and fulfill their pledges and promises made.

"I am happy to report that during my brief service in the senate I have faithfully kept every pledge I made to the people of Illinois.

Difficult Road Ahead.

"The road that lies ahead for America is a difficult road, filled with incalculable obstacles that call for greater service, sacrifice, and stubborn determination than was ever called for in the history of our nation. But victory awaits the free people of the world at the end of the war.

"However, what wretched logic would prompt us to fight for democracy in remote corners of the globe and not defend it with equal courage here at home. Free government here in America is in grave jeopardy unless the precious rights of every minority are fully protected."

On his way here from the 8th ward Republican picnic in Chicago, Brooks visited his farm, which is only half an hour's drive from the state park. He made an inspection of the stock, including 67 head of Guernsey ETAO including 67 head of Angus cattle and 8 Guernsey cows, 60 porkers, and assorted chickens, ducks, and geese.

Wright Pledges Support.

State Treasurer Warren E. Wright, who ran against Brooks in the April primary, was on hand tonight.

"I'm here to say that I'm going to support Sen. Brooks and every other

FURY OF TOOTHLESS STEAK LOVER FLARES FUTILELY IN COURT

Frank Rickard, 59 years old, 3212 Parnell avenue, loves steak. That's why he appeared yesterday in Criminal court before Judge William V. Daly and pointed an accusing finger at Frank Hall, 19, colored.

"He's the reason I can't eat steak any more," said Rickard, explaining that he was a waiter in a steak house. "He held me up and took my teeth right out of my hip pocket. The plates were in my wallet, where I kept 'em when I wasn't steak eating."

Hall flashed his large, white teeth and retorted: "Judge, I got perfect teeth. Why would I take some teeth I couldn't use?"

The evidence on Rickard's complaint wasn't sufficient to convict, but Hall was found guilty of assaulting Mrs. Rose Piccarello in an attempted holdup of her grocery at 3528 Princeton avenue and sentenced to a year in the Bridewell. Rickard was disconsolate.

"I'll give him a reward if he'll send my teeth back," he said.

LARGEST MOVING BEE 13-NIGHT JOB

1,000 Vanloads Trucked from Stevens.

The biggest single moving job in the history of Chicago—equivalent to the moving of the furnishings of 1,500 four-room apartments — is nearing completion. It's going on at the former Stevens hotel, the world's largest, now unit 1 in the army air force technical school. Only a few odds and ends remain to be moved.

Beds, tables, desks, chairs, chinaware, and silverware by the hundreds and the thousands have been packed, moved and stored for the duration of the war. They are being replaced by the less ornate, but as practical, furnishings supplied by the army for the use of the thousands of radio students who will start arriving at the Stevens next week.

Items by the Thousands.

This is approximately what the heavy muscled movers have moved from the big hotel thus far:

5,000 banquet hall chairs.
3,000 upholstered armchairs.
500 odd chairs.
4,000 luggage carriers [or stands].
300 davenports and loveseats.
1,500 barrels of china and glass bric-a-brac.
200 boxes of silverware.
200 radios.

In addition, the movers took up hundreds of loose carpets and rugs, and many thousand square feet of carpeting, 20,000 in the grand ballroom alone. Corridor and room carpeting was left untouched.

Thirteen Nights for Job.

Otherwise, the job would have been even greater, said George A. Julin, manager of the Werner Brothers-Kennelly company, which handled the work. From five to eight large vans were used each night, and more than 1,000 vanloads of furnishings were carried away. From 80 to 90 men worked 12 hours a night for 13 nights to do the job.

Brig. Gen. Arnold H. Krogstad, commanding officer of the school, said the 7,000 beds and mattresses alone would have filled 65 freight cars.

Every item was tagged with the room number from which it was taken, so that it may be returned to the same room after the war. Soldiers checked the inventoried lists, and other soldiers checked the delivery of the furnishings into a garage converted into an army warehouse. There they will remain, under army guard, until the axis is licked, and unit 1 changes back to the Stevens hotel.

How Marines Smashed Makin! President's Son Under Fire

BY WALTER B. CLAUSEN.

PEARL HARBOR, T. H., Aug. 27 (AP).—The first eyewitness account of hand to hand fighting in which United States marines wiped out 350 Japanese on Makin Island in the Gilberts last week disclosed today that the President's son, Maj. James Roosevelt, was shot at by snipers but was uninjured.

Commander John M. Haines of Coronado, Cal., who led the navy-marine raid on the Japanese held island; Lieut. Col. Evans F. Carlson, Plymouth, Conn., commander of the marines, and Maj. Roosevelt, second in command of the marines, graphically told a story of 40 hours spent on the eastern most enemy seaplane base in the Pacific. During this time all the enemy forces, ships, and installations were completely wiped out.

[This was the first word of such an extensive loss of life among the defenders. Earlier reports on the raid had estimated the number of Japs killed as "at least 80." American losses were described in these reports as moderate.]

Sank Two Jap Ships.

The expedition sank two Jap ships, destroyed two enemy planes, devastated three radio stations, and destroyed a thousand barrels of American made gasoline the Japs had stored for seaplane use, as well as a large amount of supplies.

The operation was conducted by a special unit which Col. Carlson and Major Roosevelt had been training for months. Carlson is a veteran of marine campaigns in Nicaragua and China and had many old China hands with him but the average age of the batallion was 22. Roosevelt said the marines had been handpicked from 7,000 candidates for this work.

"Did you shoot down any Japs?" Roosevelt was asked.

"Fired two shots at snipers," he replied.

Surprise for Japs.

Col. Carlson said that the landing, made on a dark and moonless night, was a complete surprise, the force being on the island for 20 minutes before being discovered.

"We were deployed when the Japanese defense force came up in American made trucks," he said. "There were 200 Japanese naval marines defending the island, all young fellows of a much better type than I saw in China.

"Our assault echelon was led by Lieut. Wilfred S. Le Francois, who got five machine gun bullets in his right shoulder the first five minutes.

"When the Japanese resistance developed it was mostly machine guns, automatic weapons, and grenades.

"We fought until 11:30 in the morning when the first Japanese air raiders came. They strafed and bombed indiscriminately, not injuring any of our men but shooting some of their own. Between air raids hand to hand fighting was resumed.

"There were three air raids the first day and four the second day. They were apparently so confused they fired at everything."

Maj. Roosevelt interjected that the natives were very coöperative. There were some 1,700 natives on the island.

One native took off his sarong and gave it to Capt. James N. M. Davis of Evanston, Ill., who had lost his pants while coming thru the surf.

Tells of Bomber's Crash.

"We heard several short bursts of machine gun fire in the afternoon and investigated and found our marines firing on two Japanese planes which had landed in the lagoon," Col. Carlson continued.

"An enemy scouting plane was set afire and two engines were shot off a Jap bomber. The bomber tried to get away, but after getting up 100 feet crashed and all aboard were lost.

"The morning of the second day only eight Japanese were left on the island. We wiped out all we could find, and after a checkup with the natives found only two Japanese unaccounted for.

"I cannot disclose our casualties, but will say the Japanese losses on land alone were more than 10 to 1 to our losses, not counting the 150 Japs lost at sea or in planes.

"We spent the second day destroying installation, which besides the gasoline included bombs and American and South American canned beef, American salmon, and other food supplies which the Japs had in reserve there."

RUSSIANS STALL GERMANS' DRIVE FOR STALINGRAD

MOSCOW, Aug. 28 [Friday]—(AP).—Counterattacking Russian troops have wiped out a Nazi tank wedge northwest of Stalingrad, while the soviets have swept into the outskirts of Rzhev, 130 miles northwest of Moscow, in a continuing offensive which has recaptured several localities, Moscow announced early today.

The Germans pushed "huge fresh tank and infantry forces" into one sector northwest of the imperiled Volga river city of Stalingrad to menace the Russian flank, a communique said, but "the Red army men launched a counterattack and restored the situation."

Eleven enemy tanks were destroyed and about two infantry companies annihilated in this action, the communique said. Red army tank men and infantry beat off 10 violent Nazi attacks in another sector. There, 13 German tanks and two infantry battalions were destroyed.

Reds Fall Back in Caucasus.

The Russians also held firm in other sectors ringing the approaches to Stalingrad, after having reported they had stalled the German drive on the city.

However, another retreat in the Prokhladnaya area in the Caucasus was acknowledged, and fighting still raged at Mozdok, 55 miles west of the Russian oil city of Grozny.

Near the Black sea, south of Krasnodar, soviet gunners held most of their hill positions.

Twenty-six Nazi tanks were knocked out in the sweep which carried the Russians to the "outskirts of Rzhev," the communique said. Hundreds of Germans were killed. "Our troops captured several populated places," the bulletin added, including "one populated place heavily fortified by the enemy."

Kill 800 Near Voronezh.

Red airmen were credited with destroying or damaging 20 German tanks, and more than 150 troop and supply trucks on Wednesday.

At Voronezh, on the upper Don river, about midway between the two main fighting fronts, the Russian reported the killing of 800 more Germans on the western Don bank.

Before issuing the midnight communique, the Russians had summed up yesterday's situation thus:

Blast 48 Nazi Planes.

Below the city, northeast of Kotelnikovo, a murderous Russian cannonade also held the Germans back, while Red cavalrymen slashed into the enemy rear.

On Russia's own 16 day old "second front," which stretches from Vyazma to Kalinin in an arc more than 100 miles west and northwest of Moscow, the Germans sent a cloud of dive bombers to the rescue of their hard pressed divisions, but the Russians downed 48 of them.

By now the Russians' total of German dead in the central offensive has reached 47,000.

Drive to Rail Line.

The Russians broke into Rzhev from the north and were fighting hard to hold their ground in the battered streets of this heavily fortified German stronghold.

Twenty miles to the southwest they had driven thru Zubtstov to the Sychevka area, reaching the rail line which connects Rzhev with Vyazma, also a strongly defended Nazi defense position. Farther south the Russians were across the Gzhatsk river.

ADMIT STRONG RED ATTACKS.

The German high command yesterday reported "embittered" Russian counterattacks on the Stalingrad front, but said they were repelled with the destruction of 40 tanks. "Renewed attacks" by the Russians on the central front also were reported.

Reuters [British news agency] quoted a DNB [German news agency] broadcast as conceding the Russians had made "certain local progress" in the Rzhev and Kaluga areas of the central front.

Reuters quoted the Vichy radio as saying a German-Rumanian column was within 20 miles of the Russian Black sea port of Novorossisk.

Illinois Flyers Find Answer to Wish at Dieppe

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND, Aug. 27.—A picture of heroic participation of Chicagoland flyers in the Dieppe raid was pieced together today as they told stories at their air base between convoy and other patrol missions. They all insisted that they wanted more action like Dieppe and other sweeps over enemy territory.

[American Flying Fortresses raid Rotterdam. Story on Page 6.]

They related yarns of duels with German Focke-Wulf 190s and Dornier 217 bombers, and expressed great satisfaction with the British Spitfires they flew.

Laverne Collins of Colgate, Okla., is one of five United States pilots of Spitfires missing in the raid, it was disclosed. Comrades said they saw him bail out over the sea five miles from Dieppe. Names of the four other missing American pilots have not yet been given.

Expectant Father Happy.

Capt. Louis Zimlich, 24 years old, whose wife is the former Rita Talbert of Oakland, Ill., had added incentive in the Dieppe scrap.

"My wife is expecting a baby in a few days," he said. "Every shot was one for the child. I was up three hours on three missions. The first was protecting a landing party, and I ran head-on into three Focke-Wulfs. I fired and did some damage.

Maj. Marvin McNickle [left], Lieut. Keenan Barber, and Lieut. William Wren [right].

"I came back, refueled, and went back again to protect men withdrawing. I ran into more Focke-Wulfs, but scored no hits. The third mission was guarding a convoy half way back and I had no trouble. The Focke-Wulf is plenty 'hot', but the Spitfire does not have to take a back seat. I have been on several sweeps and convoy patrols and I want more."

Wants "More of the Same."

First Lieut. Keenan Barber, 23, of Pittsfield, Ill., who attended the University of Illinois, had a "keen time" at Dieppe, he said. He also had three missions, covering landing craft, escorting 12 Boston bombers, and protecting a returning convoy.

"While covering shipping we were under constant Focke-Wulf attack for 40 minutes," he said, "and escorting the Bostons we got caught in antiaircraft fire and I got a hole in my wing. Returning to England the Dorniers kept attacking the shipping and we drove off several and damaged one. Give me more of the same."

First Lieut. Charles Kenworthy, 23, of Shenandoah, Ia., remarked: "I haven't gotten enough action except at Dieppe. That day we went over looking for a fight and got it for 45 minutes. We chased a batch of Focke-Wulfs. They escaped even thru our ackack [anti-aircraft fire]. Next time we'll get them."

Iowan Escapes Two Nazis.

First Lieut. Richard L. Bisgard, 25, of Harlan, Ia., was over Dieppe for five hours. His flight hit a Dornier but was not hit itself. Once two German fighters fired on Bisgard but he drove and got away.

The unhappiest squadron men were three Chicagoans—1st Lieut. Gerald Ducket, 25, of 2630 Windsor avenue, and 2d Lieutenants Albert Juhnke, 23, of 1638 Catalpa avenue, and William Wren, 22, of 3437 Franklin boulevard. Ducket, an engineering officer, was considered too valuable on the ground to go to Dieppe. Juhnke and Wren joined the squadron too recently to help support the commandos in their raid on the French city but have been on several other sweeps.

Chicagoans in Ground Crews.

The noncommissioned ground crew includes a number of Chicagoans. They are Staff Sergeants Albert R. McLean, 28, of 835 Agatite avenue, Christian Pederson, 21, of 1815 Keystone avenue, Gilbert Alden, 24, of 1357 Hood avenue, Technical Sergt. Bernard Paterson, 34, of Kankakee, Ill., Staff Sergt. John W. Ewer, 26, of Hammond, Ind., and Corp. Wade Gardner, 22, of Shelbyville, Ind.

"These boys do not get the glory the flyers do," Maj. Marvin L. McNickle of Deland, S. D., a squadron leader, said, "but they are the secret of our success. If they did not do a job satisfactorily there would be a tragedy in the air—but they do."

VITAL SOLOMON AREA CLEARED OF ENEMY UNITS

U. S. Destroyer Lost in Atlantic.

12 Planes Downed

GEN. MacARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Aug. 28 [Friday]—(AP).—Allied airmen shot down eight Japanese planes over Milne bay in southeastern New Guinea, where allied ground troops also were in action against the enemy's landing forces, a communique said today. Four other Japanese planes were destroyed at Buna, 180 miles northwest along the New Guinea coast, the communique said. One allied plane was reported lost.

Two Japanese planes attacked Darwin in northern Australia, and two other raiders struck at Broome in western Australia, but only slight damage resulted at both places, the communique said.

The communique listed an additional nine Japanese fighter planes probably destroyed in air actions over Milne bay and Buna. Allied fighters machine gunned enemy barges, supplies, and fuel dumps on shore at Milne bay as action developed between opposing land troops there.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27 (AP).—Battered by American warriors of sky, sea, and land, the Japanese appeared tonight to have halted for the time being at least their effort to recapture vital Solomon Island areas wrested from them in a united nations offensive that began on Aug. 7.

A terse navy department communique said that "Japanese surface forces appear to have withdrawn from the vicinity of our positions in the Tulagi area." Thus the important harbor at Tulagi, considered one of the best naval air sites in that area of the world, appeared to be more firmly than ever in the control of the Americans.

Tulagi has obviously been counted upon heavily by the united nations high command as a base from which to launch further offensive operations, possibly to roll the Japanese back eventually into the China sea.

Pause in Sea Fight.

Meanwhile, the big sea battle that had been raging north of the Solomons seemed to have come to a pause, if not an actual halt, for the communique said that there had been "no further action" in this encounter.

Earlier in the week, the navy had reported at least half a dozen enemy vessels damaged in this battle, but full details have yet to be disclosed. Yesterday's communique said that it was too early to predict the outcome.

While this struggle, involving enemy airplane carriers and warships, was in progress, American air power put another Japanese invasion fleet to flight off Guadalcanal, another of the Solomons group. American bombers, plunging down upon enemy transports, cruisers, and destroyers, left six of them burning fiercely.

Reveal Loss of Destroyer.

Besides the information about the Solomons struggle, the naval communique disclosed that the 1,600 ton United States destroyer Ingraham had been sunk as the result of a collision in fog in the Atlantic ocean.

No details were given, but it was stated that next of kin had been notified. The normal complement of the ship was 175, but whether any of them had been rescued was not stated.

The Ingraham's keel was laid at the Charleston, S. C., navy yard on Nov. 15, 1939, and she was launched Feb. 15, 1941. The Ingraham was commissioned July 17, 1941, and named in honor of Capt. Duncan N. Ingraham, a former South Carolina naval officer.

Interpreted as U. S. Success.

Withdrawal of the Japanese fleet from the Tulagi area was interpreted to mean success for the United States forces in what has been termed the second phase of the battle of the Solomons—the Japanese attempt to recapture the islands.

HOFFMAN FIGHTS SMEAR BRIGADE IN MICHIGAN RACE

BY ARTHUR M. EVANS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Rep. Hoffman.

Benton Harbor, Mich., Aug. 27.—Rep. Clare E. Hoffman [R.], Allegan, is a special target in Michigan's primaries of the smear groups in the east which are seeking to purge congress of members who were noninterventionist before the Jap attack on Pearl Harbor.

Hoffman, one of the "fightingest" men in congress is at the top of the list of Michigan congressmen marked for the guillotine by the eastern purgers. Five or more other house members from this state also are marked for "liquidation" by the eastern groups.

The primaries will be held Sept. 15. Hoffman is in the district making speeches and the fruit belt is beginning to resound. He has two Republican opponents—State Sen. J. T. Hammond of this city and Benjamin J. Burton of South Haven.

People Spurn Advice.

"People thruout the United States," says Hoffman, "in both Republican and Democratic primaries which have been held, have demonstrated they neither need nor heed the advice of the smear coteries—the Winchells, the New Republics, the Daily Workers, the PMs, nor the Communists. People of this district need no advice from these and similar creators and distributors of disunity.

"The question of who was right and who was wrong before Pearl Harbor is idle and useless. We are in the war. First and foremost in my mind will be the defeat of our enemies, the winning of the war, and with it the preservation of the liberty and freedom of our own citizens.

"Before Pearl Harbor at least 85 per cent of our people wanted to avoid war. So said President Roosevelt. So said Wendell Willkie. Both, asking votes, promised that American boys would not be sent to foreign soil.

Stands on Record.

"Your congressman, following your wishes, voted against all those measures which, in the mind of the average man, drew us nearer to involvement in war. I always voted for national defense, and the facts of the record confront those who maliciously or thoughtlessly charge otherwise.

"The attack by the Japs on Dec. 7 made necessary a declaration of war. We are at war and we must be a united, determined nation if we are to win. The government's own Office of War Information has solemnly declared that we could lose this war. We know that only a united, determined effort will enable us to win.

"Yet the administration, the New Deal politicians—and, it is hinted, Willkie—now demand most inconsistently and illogically that, while we forgive the two Presidential candidates for their lack of foresight, excuse their violation of their promises to keep us out of war, all those who opposed entry into the war should now be banished from public life and all spokesmen and publications which venture to criticize the the administration should be silenced."

CIO an Old Foe.

The Congress of Industrial Organizations is bitterly opposed to Hoffman, as it has been in other campaigns. A few years ago the congressman was an arch enemy of communism within the CIO, then headed by John L. Lewis. He began his denunciations of communistic attachments with the CIO at the time of the sitdown strikes at Flint. The material Hoffman piled into addresses on the floor of the house laid the foundation, in large measure, for the work of the Dies committee investigating un-American activities.

The influences of these addresses was regarded as helpful in other states which had Republican landslides. In 1938, Hoffman's spadework was credited with helping the G. O. P. in Minnesota, where communism was a chief campaign issue and the Farmer-Labor party was split over communistic influences in the statehouse.

Despite an attempted purge by CIO and by labor's Nonpartisan league, which Lewis helped create, Hoffman was reëlected in 1938 by an increased majority, and in 1940 was reëlected with a lead of 25,000.

This year the CIO is more strongly organized in Benton Harbor and St. Joseph and again is fighting Hoffman.

Last month, Candidate Burton, one of Hoffman's opponents, issued a statement at South Haven saying that he had been approached by two CIO officials and asked to withdraw in favor of Hammond. This would have reduced the field against Hoffman and made it a two man race.

"My reply was an unqualified no," said Burton. "The CIO is not going to dictate to me during this campaign or at any other time. The withdrawal scheme was by no means the first proposal laid before me by CIO officials. I have been approached repeatedly in a manner which bore all the earmarks of an out and out shakedown."

Calls CIO Tactics "Insulting."

"The CIO has asked me to make pledges, as a price for its support, which would have tied my hands as a representative of all the people of the 4th congressional district. As my friends know, I am sympathetic with the reasonable hopes and aspirations of working people. This knowledge, however, apparently is not enough for the CIO politicians.

"Since I announced my candidacy in opposition to the incumbent congressman, Clare E. Hoffman, the high pressure tactics of Michigan CIO leaders have struck me as insulting to the basic principles of decent government."

Hoffman carried the fight to the CIO last April. He held a labor meeting at the naval armory here and gave a special invitation to CIO members to attend. It was one of the greatest catch as catch can meetings this city has seen. Hecklers kept firing questions, and to Hoffman heckling is duck soup. After the show was over Hoffman and his audience said everybody had had a good time.

Cites Own Labor Program.

On his labor record, Hoffman is calling attention to a bill he introduced in 1938 to amend the national labor relations act and to protests he made against the way the labor board administered the act.

"Now, more than three years later," he says, "Dan Tobin, speaking for the executive board of the International Teamsters' union in the official July issue of the union's publication, made the same demand. Dan has just got around to demand the very same thing that Hoffman asked for union members more than three years ago."

BRITISH PUBLIC TOLD TO TRAVEL LESS, FOR AEF NEEDS TRANSPORT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 27—The growing concentration of American troops in the British Isles is being used by the railroad executive committee as an argument to impress on British civilians the need to restrict demands on transport.

The committee runs advertisments daily in the press with a picture of an American soldier over the caption, "Their journey is necessary." The advertisments say that "the American expeditionary force is a new priority demand on the transport of Britain so passenger travel must be reduced still further."

"Before you travel ask yourself whether your journey is more necessary than that of many thousands of American troops and their equipment now arriving in Britain," Britons are told.

DISMISS SUIT TO REGAIN $100,000 BRIBE TO BIOFF

A petition filed in the federal District court in New York by two north shore residents, who demanded an accounting of funds by the officers and directors of Paramount Pictures, Inc., was dismissed yesterday by Judge John Bright.

In the bill it was asserted that Paramount had paid $100,000 to William Bioff, west coast labor racketeer who was convicted of extorting about a million dollars from major movie companies and that the Paramount directors had no authority to make the payment. Bioff was sentenced to 10 years in prison.

The complainants, both Paramount stockholders, were Mrs. Lillian S. Ratner of 712 Greenwood avenue, Wilmette, and G. Arthur Peck of 921 Ridge avenue, Evanston.

CALIFORNIA VOTE HANDS ANOTHER REBUFF TO PURGE

G. O. P. Elated by Strong Warren Showing.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 27 [Special]—Political circles today were discussing the continuing failure of the efforts of an eastern cabal to purge congressmen opposed to the administration's pre-Pearl Harbor policies, as a result of the rebuff administered by California voters in the Tuesday primary.

The six California congressmen whose various stands on defense and foreign policy matters were drawn into the primary easily won renomination, four of them capturing places on both Republican and Democratic tickets.

The four are Representatives Tom Rolph, Albert E. Carter, Harry L. Englebright, and Richard J. Welch, all Republicans. The other two, Representatives Leland M. Ford, Republican, and John H. Tolan, Democrat, were victorious within their respective parties.

Series of Rebuffs.

Rep. A. J. Elliott, a Republican, who defended during the campaign his vote in congress against the fortification of Guam and against renewal of the reciprocal trade treaties, was unopposed.

The purge campaign, whose rebuff in California is one of a succession experienced at the hands of the voters in primaries thruout the nation, was engineered by a pressure group called the Union for Democratic Action composed of certain eastern men of wealth, Willkieites, administration zealots and left wingers.

Republican leaders expressed high satisfaction with the results of the gubernatorial voting and predicted reasonably certain election in November for their candidate Earl Warren, state G. O. P. leader.

Warren Vote Twice Olson's.

Warren, running on both tickets, overwhelmingly won the Republican nomination for governor and gave Gov. Culbert L. Olson a hot battle for the Democratic primary. He polled an aggregate of nearly twice as many votes as Olson.

He pledged support to President Roosevelt in furthering the war effort and said he would clear California of "bickering and bungling."

Gov. Olson complained that 1,200,000 Democrats apparently failed to vote in the primary and asserted that conclusions based upon the totals would be misleading.

man on the Republican ticket," he said.

Rep. Noah Mason of the 12th congressional district, told his constituents that he has worn sack cloth and ashes ever since he supported Wendell L. Willkie, because of Willkie's confession of "campaign oratory" when he deserted the G. O. P. platform after his defeat in the 1940 election.

Trying to Make Amends.

"I'm trying to make amends by the work I'm doing for 'Curley' Brooks, who has kept every pledge to the voters," the congressman said.

Other candidates who spoke included Stephen A. Day, renominated for congressman at large; William G. Stratton, congressman at large, who has been slated for state treasurer, and Vernon J. Nickell, nominee for state superintendent of public instruction.

NEW COMPANY IS ORGANIZED TO PUBLISH LIBERTY

An announcement that Liberty, national magazine published for years by Macfadden Publications, is under new management financed by John F. Cuneo, Chicago printing firm head, and Paul Hunter, eastern publisher of screen magazines, was made in New York yesterday by Hunter.

He said a new corporation, known as Liberty Magazine, Inc., a subsidiary of Macfadden Publications, would publish Liberty and that the change in management resulted from capital he and Cuneo had put into the new corporation. Hunter will continue to publish Screenland and Silver Screen.

At Cuneo's home in Libertyville it was reported last night that he was out of town.

Nothing to Say.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27 (AP).—Advised that petitions to nominate him for another term had been placed in circulation in Nebraska today, Sen. George W. Norris said:

"I'm sorry. I've got nothing further to say."

STALL OFF HOUSE ACTION ON VOTES FOR SERVICE MEN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27.—The house today delayed action on the bill permitting men in the armed forces to vote in the November elections, but something like an uproar was predicted for next Monday's session on the measure.

The amendment sponsored by Sen. Wayland Brooks [D., Ill.], which removes southern state poll tax restrictions from the soldiers' and sailors' votes, has southern congressmen fiery with indignation over this "invasion of state rights." They will use every parliamentary maneuver to avoid a vote on the amendment and under complicated house rules have every hope for success.

Speakers Sidestep Action.

The bill has been passed by both houses and the usual procedure, when there are differences in versions of legislation, would send it to conference between the two bodies. It came back to the house from the senate today and was laid on the speaker's desk.

It was in order for any member to request unanimous consent that the bill be sent to conference. Rep. Martin F. Smith [D., Wash.] took the floor to warn against "procrastination" on the legislation, but he didn't make the official request. Rep. Adolph Sabath [D., Ill.] also announced that he desired action on the bill and expressed the hope that "unanimous consent" would be granted next Monday.

At the majority leader's table sat Rep. Schuyler Otis Bland [D., Va.], grimly intent upon objecting if the request was made. But no one spoke and the house recessed until Monday.

Reasons Made Apparent.

The inside reason for the delay resided in the fact that southern Democrats dominate house committees. If house conferees were appointed, they would have to be selected from the committee on elections, which includes statesmen from Texas, Mississippi, North Carolina, and Alabama. Chairman Caroline O'Day [D., N. Y.] has been absent because of illness.

If it were necessary to go to the rules committee to force action, the subject would be dealt with mainly by legislators from Georgia, Virginia, North Carolina, Texas, Mississippi, Missouri, and Oklahoma.

The remaining alternative is to raise a point of "no quorum" in the house, which has been operating with an attendance of not more than two score of its 435 members during an informal recess. [A quorum is 218 members.] Even if such a point is made, a leading southern Democrat said, a motion to adjourn, which has precedence, would be made.

Edgar B. Brown, director of the National Negro council, announced that he will go to Chicago to appeal to Mayor Edward J. Kelly to get all the Democratic congressmen back to Washington to help pass the bill Monday with the anti-poll tax amendment. He said he will ask Kelly and Democratic Boss Pat Nash to use their influence with Rep. Arthur W. Mitchell [D., Ill.], only Negro member of congress, to return from his Virginia estate and raise the point of no quorum.

NELSON WRESTS PRIORITY POWER FROM MILITARY

Hundreds of Officers Lose Authority.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27 (AP).—Donald M. Nelson's new "get tough" policy in dealing with the materials shortage bore fruit tonight in withdrawal from hundreds of army and navy procurement officers of all authority to grant priority ratings on individual contracts.

The War Production board chairman vested the authority, effective Sept. 7, solely in the hands of WPB district offices, in order to establish a unified control over the distribution of critical materials.

Hundreds Giving Priorities.

Nelson said that under the old system—which gave to each of many hundred army and navy procurement officers and inspectors the power to grant priorities automatically upon awarding a contract—"there has been no careful accounting of the quantities of materials to which ratings were assigned."

The sweeping resumption of power came as the climax of a series of criticisms from labor, congressional and editorial sources that Nelson had permitted the armed services to take over much of the control of production which President Roosevelt had placed in WPB's hands.

Defends Junk Men.

Nelson told the nation tonight not to jump on the junkman—that he plays an important part in speeding the stream of scrap into the war plant furnaces.

Pointing out that the war production board is not in the scrap metal business, but merely supervises getting it collected, sorted and processed swiftly so that it can go into munitions, Nelson said in a radio address over the Mutual net work that the actual work is being done by "the 10,000 scrap metal dealers of the country who have the experience, the personnel and the facilities to handle it."

The WPB head said a friend had complained about the number of junked automobiles he saw in an auto graveyard, and that the piles of metal seen in junkyards. However, Nelson said this represented a moving stream of scrap to munitions furnaces, and that more than 400,000 tons of scrap per month had come from the auto graveyards alone in recent months.

ARNOLD ASSAILED FOR HANDLING OF PATENT PROBLEM

Bar Association Asserts Law Is Adequate.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 27 [Special].—The American Bar association closed its annual convention here today with an attack by the patent section on Assistant Attorney General Thurman Arnold's war-patent pronouncements.

Roy C. Hackley Jr., of California, chairman of the patent, trade mark and copyright law section, presented a program to the delegates which he contended would "end the civil war on patents and help the country to remain on the industrial alert."

Hackley charged that Arnold who addressed the convention on Monday had tried to give the impression that patent laws deprived the armed services and the nation of tires, quinine, plastics and other essential war materials.

Cites Roosevelt Law.

Denying that this is true, Hackley said the government, under a law sponsored in 1918 by then Assistant of the Navy Franklin D. Roosevelt, had the right to have any patented article made by any one it designated, paying the inventor a reasonable royalty.

He pointed out that the bar association, immediately after Pearl Harbor, had sponsored war-patent legislation that has yet to be acted upon.

"It is unfortunate that the senate patents committee and the anti-trust division of the department of justice have been so busy with sensationalism," he said, "that the association's proposals have remained dormant."

The association approved legislation seeking to transfer to federal courts all contests between rival inventors, granting the government additional wartime power over patents, the seizure of patent rights, rather than patents, for war purposes, and the use of anti-trust provisions to crack down abuse of patent rights.

Blames Arnold's Bureau.

"The senate patents committee hearing conducted by Sen. Homer T. Bone, Democrat from Washington, have shown no evidence of anything wrong with invention or patent laws," Hackley said. "The Bone committee hearings have shown certain abusive uses of patents for which the patent is not responsible at all. These abuses can be cured by a very simple amendment of the anti-trust laws.

"If there have been abusive uses of patents it has been more because of failure of the anti-trust division of the department of justice to enforce the laws on the books than the lack of legislation for the purpose. The American Bar association recommends adoption of a law which will expressly apply the Sherman act to illegal use of patents."

BROWNELL NAMED AS MANAGER OF DEWEY CAMPAIGN

New York, Aug. 27 [Special].—Thomas E. Dewey, Republican nominee for governor, today announced the appointment of former Assemblyman Herbert Brownell Jr. as his campaign manager, and also as campaign manager for the rest of the candidates on the state ticket.

Dewey described Brownell as one of the "ablest legislators New York City ever sent to Albany." Brownell also was counsel to the World's Fair and is a member of the law firm of Lord, Day & Lord.

Brownell declared that the keynote of the Republican campaign would be attack against the inefficiency of the state administration.

Brownell ridiculed the claim of the Democratic State Chairman James A. Farley that Dewey would not receive more than a 250,000 majority upstate this year.

CANADA UNIONS OPPOSE MOVES ON PAPER MILLS

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 27 (AP).—Delegates from the pulp and paper industry to the 58th annual convention of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada at a special meeting last night indorsed a resolution opposing any move by the power controler of Canada "to use power now used in our industry for any private interests," without prior consultation with representatives of the employés.

The resolution stated that the power controler has not yet consulted labor about a proposal to shut down certain paper mills, nor has he curtailed power used in nonessential industries.

The resolution further added that no agency of the government should be permitted to dislocate the pulp and paper industry before consultation with the unions so they could be sure that any dislocation was necessary in the interest of "a 100 per cent all-out war effort."

Legislation in Canada similar to the United States Wagner act to guarantee collective bargaining rights to all workers was urged in a resolution indorsed today by the convention.

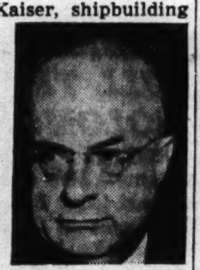
STEAL CAR AND MERCHANDISE.

Thieves stole an automobile loaded with candy and tobacco, valued at $350, from 3004 North Laramie avenue last night while the owner, Abe Smith of 909 Independence boulevard, a tobacco salesman, was making a purchase in a nearby store, he reported to police.

KAISER BLAMES PRIORITY CHAOS FOR OPA CHARGE

Denies Knowledge of Any Steel Price Evasions.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 27 [Special].—Henry J. Kaiser, shipbuilding magnate, who is seeking materials to build a fleet of 500 giant cargo airplanes, declared tonight that his general offices had no knowledge of wrongdoing in a purchase of steel for which an official of the Office of Price Administration today charged the Kaiser Company, Inc., had paid profiteer prices.



Henry J. Kaiser.

James C. Gruener, regional OPA attorney, asserted in Cleveland, O., that Kaiser's west coast shipbuilding firm had purchased steel "on an illegal market" from the Builders' Structural Steel company of Cleveland, paying "profiteer prices in its eagerness to snatch steel from other steel famished war industries."

The attorney obtained from Federal Judge Robert N. Wilkin a temporary restraining order against the Kaiser Company, Inc., and the Cleveland company, enjoining them from violating OPA price ceilings on steel. A hearing on a permanent injunction was set for Sept. 5.

Viewed as "Smear" Effort.

Kaiser, who was not named personally, observed here that the court action "may be an attempt to besmirch a legitimate concern earnestly engaged in prosecution of the war effort."

The industrialist, known as one of the nation's leading builders of surface ships, said his company is content to rely upon its general reputation and record, and that when he completes his own investigation, if he finds any errors have been made, the company will be "delighted" to work with the OPA to correct them.

"I know Leon Henderson [OPA administrator] personally," Kaiser said. "I know that he knows my record. I believe he has absolute confidence in my honesty and integrity and will not endeavor to take advantage of the action of some individual, of which the general offices had no knowledge, if these charges are true.

"The transaction referred to by the OPA regional office was completed at one of our branch offices by a former employé of the company. There has not been an opportunity to check the facts with respect to the purchase.

Shows Warehouses "Bulging."

"Even if true, this charge proves that apparently warehouses are bulging with steel and, in spite of the highest priority, this steel is not available for the most urgently needed war jobs.

"Our records in California show that we were short of anchor bolts for foundations of the new steel mill. All our branch offices were notified to make an effort to obtain these from existing warehouse stocks in the various areas where our offices are established. We could not obtain them from the steel mills when needed but found we could get them from warehouses and thus prevent a stoppage of work.

"This may develop a crisis and result in establishing that which I have long advocated—the pooling of warehouse inventories under strict control of the government, subject to allocation by the government to meet the emergency needs of the war effort."

Charges Price $5,210 Too High.

The OPA complaint asserted that the Kaiser company in mid-July bought 504,000 pounds of steel on one order from the Cleveland company, and that price maximums were evaded by shipping it in less than carload lots.

The Kaiser company was declared to have paid an estimated $5,210 above ceiling prices for the shipments it received, as well as an estimated double freight rate to California.

In addition to citing the shipments of 504,000 pounds of steel, a supporting affidavit by Amos J. Coffman, OPA enforcement attorney from Washington, asserted the Cleveland concern on Aug. 4 was offering to sell Kaiser 400,000 more pounds at above ceiling prices.

The action against Kaiser grew out of an investigation into the activities of Willard P. Markle, steel broker of Houston, Tex., which followed a declaration by Frank Higgins, son of the president of Higgins Industries, Inc., of New Orleans, that a "black market" existed in steel. A consent decree obtained by the OPA in Cleveland on Monday permanently restrained Markle from violating steel price ceilings.

MacARTHUR DRIVE ON JAPS AT NEW LANDING IS SEEN

'Stakes Too High' in Milne Bay, Writer Says.

BY E. R. NODERER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SOMEWHERE IN AUSTRALIA, Aug. 27 [Passed by military censor].—Gen. Douglas MacArthur's forces are expected to lose no time in launching a determined counterattack aimed at driving the Japs out of Milne bay, their new foothold on the southeastern tip of New Guinea.

An earlier announcement that allied troops were "in contact" with the enemy has not yet been amplified, but it is felt here that this is one place where the Japs cannot be permitted to remain. There is too much at stake to allow the enemy to consolidate himself at Milne bay, where he would be in a position to break up shipping to Port Moresby, New Guinea, as well as raids on Rabaul, New Britain, from the mainland.

Overland Trip Difficult.

Milne bay is 225 miles from Port Moresby and 400 from Queensland, Australia. The mountains and dense jungle between Milne bay and Port Moresby would make a Jap trip overland difficult but not impossible

There was no indication tonight as to what MacArthur's first move will be, but since it was officially stated that the enemy landing at Milne was not a surprise, it is presumed that some plan for dealing with the invaders is already under way. Informed circles do not appear to be seriously perturbed by this latest enemy move altho there is no attempt to kiss it off as insignificant.

Bay 20 Miles Long.

Milne bay is about 20 miles long and is at the extreme southern tip of New Guinea. The backbone of the Owen Stanley range, which forms the main allied defense line in the Kokoda area skirmishing, comes down nearly to the water's edge. Not a great deal is known of the topography around the bay.

Twenty miles away is Samarai, important trading post of the prewar era. It is believed that with the exception of the area farthest inland, the bay is surrounded by a swamp fringe.

In some circles it is considered that the Jap landing at Milne bay may not be so much a serious attempt to occupy the area as a move to tie up MacArthur's air force, which might otherwise be "coöperating" in the Solomons battle.

Knock Out Jap Fighters.

Enemy air activity at Buna, where allied planes destroyed 19 Jap Zeros on the ground in the last 48 hours, is apparently tied in with the Milne bay action. The Zeros, which probably were intended to provide air support for the landing forces, never got off the ground. The allied raids were made in very heavy weather, which the Japs apparently thought would keep them away.

The destruction of the Jap planes at Buna bears out general headquarters' original contention that establishment of an enemy base there would be difficult in the face of opposition from our fighters, which can slide down over the Owen Stanley range and be upon the enemy almost without warning.

Sir Earle Page Gets Place on Australian War Board

CANBERRA, Australia, Aug. 27 (AP).—Prime Minister John Curtin announced today that Sir Earle Page had been appointed to the advisory war council in Australia and would sit in on meetings of the Australian war cabinet to give it the benefit of knowledge he gained as special minister to London. Sir Earle recently returned from London to recuperate from a severe illness after serving as Australian representative in the British war cabinet.

American Destroyer Sinks in Atlantic Collision

The American destroyer Ingraham, which the navy announced yesterday sank as a result of a collision in the fog in the Atlantic. The next of kin of those lost have been notified, the navy said.

in a matter of hours or days by another large scale invasion attempt.

No mention was made in the communique of what air actions might still be under way. The Japanese, however, have not fared well in previous attempts to blast United States forces from the islands by air, and have lost at least 33 planes, including seven dive bombers, in such efforts.

Presumably remnants of the Japanese forces which occupied the islands originally were still engaged in harassing the marines with guerrilla warfare. Such battling with scattered small groups might be continued indefinitely.

Tokio Admits Carrier Hit.

TOKIO, Aug. 27 [from Japanese broadcasts]—(AP).—Japan has lost one destroyer sunk and a small aircraft carrier damaged in the renewed battle of the Solomon Islands, imperial headquarters announced today.

The Japanese also claimed that their air units attacked American naval forces east of the Solomons, severely damaging a "large aircraft carrier of a new type," and damaging a second carrier of medium size, and a battleship of the Pennsylvania type.

[The Japanese communique was the first statement that a Japanese ship had been sunk. United States navy communiques have announced hits on more than 12 Jap warships, but have mentioned none of them as sunk. The Japanese claims of losses inflicted on American naval units have not been confirmed by Washington.]

SEES AUSTRALIA SELF-SUPPORTING AFTER THE WAR

Australia will be a self-supporting country after the war, Miss Constance Neville-Johns, lecturer and voice teacher who was born and educated there, told members of the Central Lions Club of Chicago yesterday in Hotel Sherman.

"When Australia went to war in 1939, it was simply a producing country whose main exports were wool, meat, and gold," she explained. "There was little manufacturing and machinery parts were imported from the United States and England. When it became necessary to send men to the far east, it also became necessary to equip them. The country's manufacturing system had to start from scratch, but early in 1941 it was producing planes to send to Britain."

American boys in Australia are receiving warm receptions from the natives and their behavior is exemplary, Miss Neville-Johns said.

TRAINING SCHOOL PAIR CAPTURED IN STOLEN CAR

Russell Squires, 16 years old, of Winslow, and John Garner, 15, of Trowbridge, who fled from the Illinois State Training School for Boys, near St. Charles, Aug. 20, while on an outing for good behavior, were captured yesterday, riding in a stolen automobile at Portage, Wis.

Lloyd Pruitt, 13, of Hoopeston, escaped from the school yesterday, was apprehended three hours later at Geneva.

NATIVES HELP YANKS BUT NOT JAPS, FLYER FROM LEXINGTON SAYS

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 27 (AP).—A meeting on a South Pacific island with 16 navy and army pilots and 17 other white persons who had been helped by friendly natives to escape from the Japanese was described by Lieut. Harry Wood of Noble, Ill., a dive bomber pilot off the sunken carrier Lexington.

With his radioman gunner, Cyril Huvar of Corpus Christi, Tex., Lieut. Wood said on an NBC radio broadcast, he was forced down at sea near the New Guinea Islands when their plane ran short of fuel. They were reported missing for a month before reëstablishing contact with the navy.

"If any more of our men are forced down in the vicinity of the Solomon Islands, or have found their way ashore from damaged ships, just what do you think their chances are of returning?" the radio announcer asked Lieut. Wood.

"If they are Americans, a very good chance," he replied. "If they are Japanese, I would not want to be in their shoes."

Lieutenant 24 Years Old.

Noble, Ill., Aug. 27 [Special].—Relatives of Lieut. Harry Wood tonight said that he is 24 years old and enlisted in the navy in June, 1941. He attended the high school at Noble and the Eastern State Teachers' college at Charleston.

THREE M'ARTHUR FLYERS HAILED; ALL ALABAMANS

GEN. MacARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, Australia, Aug. 27 (AP).—Gen. Douglas MacArthur awarded the distinguished service cross today to Capt. William F. Coleman of Panama City, Fla., [born in Dothan, Ala.]; First Lieut. Hoyt A. Jolly Jr. of Gadsden, Ala., and Second Lieut. Frank H. Beeson of Tuscaloosa, Ala., all of the United States army air force, "for extraordinary heroism in action."

Awards of the purple heart were made to First Lieut. Frederic D. Standon [address unknown] and Maj. William A. Fairfield of San Francisco for wounds received in action Dec. 8 at Clark field in the Philippines.

Capt. Coleman led raids over New Britain and New Guinea in April and May which resulted in heavy destruction of grounded Japanese planes at Gasmata and of shipping at Rabaul. Lieut. Jolly led raids in April and May over New Britain, destroying grounded aircraft and causing panic and many casualties.

Lieut. Beeson was flying over New Guinea in May when he intercepted an enemy formation of 16 bombers and pressed home his attack single handed in an attempt to disrupt the Japanese bombing. He was severely injured by a cannon shell but, tho weakened by loss of blood, made a successful landing and saved his plane.

PREDICTS JAPAN WILL TRY A NEW SOLOMONS DRIVE

LONDON, Aug. 28 [Friday] (AP).—A Reuters New Zealand correspondent said today that a further Japanese assault on the Solomons "seems inevitable."

The dispatch, from Auckland, said: "Japanese wounds in the week's affray, severe and annoying as they are to the enemy, do not probably more than touch the main strength of the Japanese naval force which can be brought to bear if Japan decides to pledge it.

"Japanese losses in the Coral sea, at Midway Island, and in two actions off the Solomons, are not sufficient to justify wishful thinking along the lines that Japanese naval power is not longer to be feared."

BATTLESHIP IOWA LAUNCHED, FIRST OF 45,000 TONS

Greatest in Fire Power; Ahead of Schedule.

New York, Aug. 27 (AP).—The 45,000 ton U. S. S. Iowa, largest battleship this nation ever built, slid down the ways of the Brooklyn navy yard today.

The vessel was "launched months ahead of schedule" and is ready to "fire faster and farther than any other ship afloat," declared Ralph A. Bard, assistant secretary of the navy, who addressed the launching witnesses.

"One of her predecessors helped blast the Spanish fleet at Santiago bay," he said. "Another was scrapped in 1923 in the name of peace—a peace that existed only in the minds and hopes of honorable men."

Bests Enemies' Efforts.

Since then, he continued, the Japanese and the Germans had built stealthily and well, "but I guarantee they have never fashioned such a weapon as this ship."

The assistant secretary declared that the new man-of-war was "a weapon that is far advanced over the battleships that were sunk at Pearl Harbor."

This Iowa, he said, definitely would not be scrapped. She would take her place "in America's mighty seven ocean postwar navy to help insure—as long as her guns will fire—a lasting and honorable peace with freedom and decency for all."

Fourth battleship in United States naval history to bear the name of Iowa, the 880 foot craft was launched at exactly 9:36 a. m. [Chicago time] when Mrs. Ilo Browne Wallace, wife of the Vice President, smashed a bottle of champaign on the ship's prow.

Sponsor Native Iowan.

Mrs. Wallace, a native Iowan like her husband, dressed in black silk poplin and wearing orchids, said as she shattered the bottle:

"I christen thee Iowa. May God guard the Iowa and all who sail in her."

Standing beside Mrs. Wallace were Mrs. James C. Le Cron, Washington, D. C., matron of honor, and Miss Jean B. Wallace, daughter of the Vice President, acting as maid of honor.

The new Iowa is the first of six vessels of the same class, including the New Jersey, Missouri, Wisconsin, Illinois, and Kentucky, which are now under construction at various yards thruout the country.

Altho many of the specifications of the new and powerful ship are military secrets, the navy revealed that her main battery will consist of 16 inch guns. Her length of 880 feet is 200 feet shorter than the largest ocean liner.

ENLISTMENT AGE LIMIT FOR ARMY IS RAISED TO 50

Students Warned

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27 (AP).—America's college students were told flatly today that they were destined for definite rôles in the nation's war effort — the able bodied males in the armed forces and others, men and women, in "appropriate war service." The announcement came from Paul V. McNutt, chairman of the War Man Power commission, who listed a 10 point program emphasizing that "all students, men and women, must be preparing themselves for active and competent participation in the war effort and supporting civilian activities."

McNutt pointed out that "any plan for student war training must take into consideration the possibility that the selective service act may be amended so as to lower the age of liability for service to 18 years."

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27.—The war department today raised the enlistment age to 50 years as a step to increase the size of the army.

Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson announced that men between the ages of 45 and 50 who have character, skills, or aptitudes which make their enlistment desirable and who are otherwise qualified may now enlist in the army.

"It indicates we are trying to raise a big army," Stimson said. "There has been a great wastage of man power and our own high standards have kept many men out, but the history of war shows that these standards are generally relaxed as the war goes on."

45 Previous Limit.

Heretofore, enlistment has been confined to men between the ages of 18 and 45. Under the new order men who have reached their 45th birthday prior to Feb. 16, 1942, and who at the time of application have not reached their 50th birthday may now be accepted for enlistment.

The new order may make some inroads on the man power available for the army specialist corps, which is designed to release officers and enlisted men for combat duty by replacing them with men of noncombatant ages.

The men enlisted between 45 and 50 years old are to be assigned to service command or war department overhead units or installations where they will release enlisted men for general military service.

May See Combat Duty.

Those who would have taken specialist posts, will now seek to enlist it is believed because the specialists will not share in benefits which accrue to members of the regular army such as insurance, bonus, and burial privileges.

Some of the above age recruits will be used on combat service, Stimson said, if they are of exceptional physical vigor. As they grow older, however, they will release younger men for combat duty.

No estimate was made as to how many additional men the raising of the age limit will give the army.

Along this line, it is expected that congress soon will be asked to enact legislation permitting the drafting of 18 and 19 year olds. Chairman Adolph T. Sabath [D., Ill.] of the house rules committee said he believed such a measure would be passed.

Russian Sniper

Junior Lieut. Liudmila Pavlichenko in Washington, D. C., yesterday.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27 (AP).—Junior Lieut. Liudmila Pavlichenko, attired in full regimentals of the special Red Russian army corps and wearing two medals on each breast as awards for his deeds as a Russian sniper, arrived here today as a delegate to the International Student assembly. The young woman is credited officially with having shot and killed 309 German officers and men and trained 80 other snipers who killed some 2,500 axis invaders in the Sevastopol sector. She speaks no English, but talked to interviewers thru an interpreter. After the war is won, she said, she expects to go back into history research, in which she was engaged at the University of Kiev before the war.

PREDICT CALLING OF MARRIED MEN EARLY NEXT YEAR

Amendment of the selective service law to provide for drafting of youths 18 and 19 years old, a move being considered by congress, would delay conscription of married men only a few months, Chicago selective service officials predicted yesterday. Even if such an amendment is passed, they said, Chicago boards probably would be forced to begin calling married men early next year. They explained that of 68,251 in the younger age group who registered last June, a considerable number already are in service and physical defects would disqualify many others.

ARMY JAUNDICE EPIDEMIC OVER, STIMSON FINDS

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27.—Secretary of War Henry Stimson today announced the outbreak of jaundice in the army, occasioned by the use of faulty yellow fever vaccine, has been brought under control.

During the height of the outbreak 2,997 cases of jaundice were admitted to army hospitals during the week of June 14-20. During the week of Aug. 9-15 there were only 166 admissions, Stimson reported.

Since Jan. 1 more than 30,000 cases of jaundice were admitted to army hospitals. More than 60 deaths were attributed to the disease. From Jan. 1 to July 4 admission totaled 28,585 cases. Since that date there has been a marked drop in hospital admissions for this cause.

The drop was attributed to a change in the vaccine used by the army for yellow fever innoculations. The army had obtained its vaccine from the Rockefeller institute at New York City. The navy, which did not have a jaundice outbreak, got its vaccine from the United States Public Health service. It was reported the army is now using the same formula as the navy.

The army had difficulty in tracing the outbreak of jaundice to the yellow fever vaccine because the disease did not appear until five or six weeks after the injection. Further, the vaccine was not suspected because there was a slight rise in jaundice among men who had not received innoculations.

Maj. Gen. James C. Magee, surgeon general of the army, who reportedly had opposed the yellow fever vaccination but was overruled, directed the investigation. The report of his investigation has not been made public and will probably not be available until after the war ,it was said.

Gen. Magee ordered the change in the formula and predicted the change would eliminate the trouble.

Demand for a congressional investigation of the jaundice outbreak has been voiced on Capitol hill, but thus far no inquiry has materialized.

Radio stations, which will give free time for the announcements, will be furnished with 43 brief transscriptions.

OWI said the campaign was "the most important ever attempted" by the government thru the radio. The list of commentators includes William Shirer, Raymond Clapper, Raymond Gram Swing, H. V. Kaltenborn, John Gunther, Pearl Buck, and others.

Francis B. Sayre's Son Enters Navy as Chaplain

Boston, Mass., Aug. 27 (AP).—Francis B. Sayre Jr., son of the former commissioner of the Philippines and grandson of the late President Woodrow Wilson, was sworn in today as a lieutenant, junior grade, in the navy chaplain's corps. Lieut. Sayre, a native of Cambridge, was ordained an Episcopal minister a year ago. He is a graduate of Williams college.

YANKEE BOMBERS RAID ROTTERDAM; BLAST SHIPYARDS

BULLETIN.

BERLIN, Aug. 28 [Friday]—[From German broadcasts] — (AP). — Enemy bombers attacked west, central, and northeast Germany during the night, DNB reported today. The news agency said first reports indicated that six British planes had been brought down.

[The reference to attacks on northeast Germany indicated that Russian bombers also might have been active again last night].

LONDON, Aug. 27 (AP).—The Russians, British, and Americans are engaged in a whipsaw aerial pounding against German occupied Europe, it became apparent tonight, with soviet raids on Berlin and east German towns to which Ruhr and Rhineland industries have been moved and continued attacks launched from England.

In their sixth big foray against the enemy in Europe, American Flying Fortresses bombed shipyards at Rotterdam and again all returned home this afternoon, a joint United States-British announcement said.

This raid came within a few hours after Russian planes fanned out over eastern Germany in raids on at least eight cities and towns. The Red flyers penetrated as far west as Berlin, where they said they left fires blazing.

Cities Raided by Russians.

The Russians announced their planes hit Berlin, especially its Treptow suburb; Danzig, Koenigsberg, Tilsit, Stettin, Stargard, Fuerstenwalde, and Schneidemuehl in raids last night despite bad weather.

All these towns have been reported receiving some arms industries moved out of the Ruhr-Rhineland section.

The Russians reported nine large fires were counted in Berlin and Danzig and 10 in Königsberg, East Prussia. Explosions were observed in Königsberg, the Russians added.

The Americans and British proudly announced that once more the Flying Fortresses had carried out their mission without loss. Since entering the European theater in force this summer the Americans have not lost a Flying Fortress.

Fortresses Bomb 2 Ships.

The Flying Fortresses in the Rotterdam raid today scored hits on the center of the target and on two ships in the dock basin. Spitfires of the RAF protected the Fortresses.

While the Flying Fortresses were out, large formations of Spitfires, some piloted by American Eagle flyers, raided the German fighter plane base at Abbeville, swept the air over the French invasion coast and helped Hurricane bombers hit four German ships off Dieppe.

This evening a few enemy planes bombed a place on the southeast English coast, causing some damage and casualties.

6 SHIPS HONORING LABOR HEROES TO HIT WATER SEPT. 7

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27 (AP).—Six Liberty ships, named for heroes of American organized labor, will be launched on Labor day, Sept. 7, the maritime commission announced today.

Rear Adm. Howard L. Vickery, vice chairman of the commission, said all shipyards working on the vast merchant ship program will be open for work Labor day. A brief ceremony will be held in each yard. The 1942-'43 construction program calls for 2,300 merchant ships of 23,000,000 deadweight tons.

The names of the vessels and the yards at which they will be launched:

Samuel Gompers, California Shipbuilding company, Wilmington, Cal.

Andrew Furuseth, Richmond yard No. 1, and Peter J. McGuire, Richmond yard No. 2, Richmond, Cal.

James Duncan, Oregon Shipbuilding corporation, Portland, Ore.

GERMANS SENTENCE FIVE NORWEGIANS TO DEATH AS TERRORISTS

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Aug. 27.—Five Norwegians were sentenced to death today by the German military court at Oslo, and three others to five, three and two years' imprisonment, respectively, because they allegedly were members of British inspired terrorist organizations.

The main accusation was that last Friday the men organized a bombing attack on Premier Vidkun Quisling's police headquarters in Oslo, during which one Quisling policeman was killed. One of the accused was said also to have killed a policeman at Aarnes, and the eight were also stated to be responsible for last February's bombing attempt on railway stations in Oslo.

The fact that the men, who have obviously been under arrest for a long time, are now accused of having taken part in the six day old bombing attempt on the Oslo police station has provoked widespread skepticism in Norway.

TELL WHY YANKS IN EGYPT PAID FOR FREE SMOKES

CAIRO, Egypt, Aug. 27 (AP).—Officials explained the United States army's cigaret mystery today. Soldiers had been asking why they had to pay 22 cents a package in some post exchanges for cigarets stamped "Compliments of 'Smokes for Yanks'," and why, even if they were not gift cigarets, the price should be so high on a duty free article.

The explanation given was this:

In getting a better selection of brands for the post exchanges, some one traded a quantity of a salable brand for an equal quantity of another brand stamped for free distribution. As for price, the authorities had agreed with the Egyptians not to undersell the public wholesale market, which averages about 22 cents per pack.

[The Chicago Tribune was one of a group of newspapers which organized the "Smokes for Yanks" campaign, which was aimed at distributing free cigarets to members of the American armed forces.]

IT'S BOOM TIME FOR INDIA TOWNS AS YANKS ARRIVE

[By wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

KARACHI, India, Aug. 24 [Delayed].—Another group of American pilots and their crews flew into Karachi tonight, swelling the ever growing air strength of the united nations in India.

There is one field alone, whose name must not be mentioned, which has become the aerial crossroads of the world, and at obscure native villages big military camps have sprung up.

These odd places in the heart of India are having booms that enrich native and foreigner alike. American soldiers have more money to spend than in the last World war and they spend it. The natives offer their wares—ivory and ebony, leather and silver, daggers and fly swishers—and the foreigners snap them up at prices which must make natives believe in miracles.

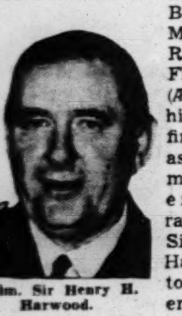
TELLS HOW AXIS PLANES PERIL SEA ROUTE TO EGYPT

Geography Aids Enemy, British Admiral Says.

BY LARRY ALLEN.



Adm. Sir Henry H. Harwood.

AT HEADQUARTERS OF THE COMMANDER IN CHIEF OF THE BRITISH MEDITERRANEAN FLEET, Aug. 27 (AP). — Breaking his silence for the first time since assuming command of the eastern Mediterranean fleet, Adm. Sir Henry H. Harwood declared today he has two enemies to whip in the Mediterranean—the axis and geography.

Harwood was handed one of the toughest naval commands in this war as successor to Adm. Sir Andrew Browne Cunningham, now on duty in Washington, D. C.

"Geography is the essence of the whole naval problem out here—geography and air power," he said.

He pointed out on big charts in his office the axis air bases in Crete, Sicily, Greece, Dodecanese Islands, Pantelleria, and Libya and the ease with which enemy bombers can swoop upon the fleet within a few hours after it puts out to sea.

Air Aid Essential.

He emphasized that adequate air protection was essential to any successful normal operation.

Too busy to see newsmen until now because of the press of work connected with assuming command from Cunningham, the stockily-built, blue eyed admiral, 54 years old, received correspondents for nearly an hour in the top story of an old chateaulike building along the Mediterranean waterfront.

The admiral, who looks and talks like the movie actor, Edward Arnold, declared "there is no way of knowing how much or what types" of reënforcements the axis has been able to get across the Mediterranean from Italy and Sicily to bolster the forces at El Alamein, Egypt. But he said he believed the Nazis had used air transports extensively as well as ships to pour fresh man power into the axis fighting reservoir.

The admiral did say that British submarines were doing excellent work destroying Libya bound convoys while surface craft were not overlooking any chance to send an Italian warship or supply ship to the bottom.

Pound Axis Bases.

Along with harrying the enemy's lines of communications, the admiral disclosed warships were kept busy bombarding axis coastal positions and bases such as Matruh, Egypt, with occasional excursions to the north to the Dodecanese Islands. British destroyers shelled axis bases along the Egyptian coast line again last night.

Adm. Harwood said that when and if the British army succeeds in pushing the Nazis back to Bengazi the British then would be in position to afford adequate fighter protection for warships which automatically would permit bigger and more extended operations.

The admiral said that as far as he knew there were no American warships in the Mediterranean.

REPORT RED SUBS CURB SHIPMENT OF ORE TO NAZIS

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Aug. 27.—Shortage of labor, royal air force attacks, and the activity of Russian submarines in the Baltic are mainly responsible for a considerable decrease in German-Swedish commercial exchanges, the Aftonbladet said today. The quantity of German coal and coke delivered to Sweden during July was 500,000 tons less than that for the corresponding period of last year.

The same newspaper said also that despite their promises the Germans were still unable to deliver 1,700,000 tons of coal and coke overdue from last year, altho exports from Hamburg and Rotterdam are expected to increase.

The Aftonbladet said further that there is still a great shortage of tonnage in exports of Swedish iron ore to German ports. This is mainly due to recent sinkings by Russian submarines of Swedish ships, which has made shipping companies reluctant to carry iron ore.

BRITISH JURIST FINDS AMERICA 'LIKE FRESH AIR'

Sir Walter Monckton.

America is like a "breath of fresh air" to an Englishman who has seen the war from London, Moscow, and Cairo and has never visited here before. So said Sir Walter Monckton, director general of the British ministry of information in 1940 and 1941, who arrived in Chicago yesterday on a swift tour of the middle west.

Sir Walter said his eyes are continually glued on shop windows plentifully stocked with food and clothing and observed that in general Americans live "about 10 per cent quicker" than the British.

In an interview over W-G-N yesterday Sir Walter asserted that Sir Stafford Cripps, lord privy seal and leader of the house of commons, whom he regards as his closest friend, did not believe his mission to India had failed because he knew he had gone as far as he could go in attempting to pacify the Indian Nationalists. It would not be fair to American and British soldiers fighting in India to grant self-rule now, said Sir Walter.

One of Britain's leading jurists, Sir Walter is a king's counsel and has been attorney general for the duchy of Cornwall since 1932 and deputy undersecretary of state for foreign affairs since 1940.

SEIZE NAZI NAVY MAN IN BRAZIL AS U-BOAT TIPSTER

BAHIA, Brazil, Aug. 27 (AP).—Police seeking persons who may have given information to axis submarines when Brazilian vessels were sunk off the coast staged a big roundup today in which they seized a German they identified as Herbert Steinck, a naval officer. In his possession, they said, were found charts of all coastal routes and ports in this section of Brazil.

Another German, Dr. Karl Justus Benderoth, was detained and police said they found in his possession Nazi propaganda and a photograph showing him talking with Adolf Hitler.

Argentine Ponders Break.

Cuba Backs Up Brazil.

HAVANA, Cuba, Aug. 27.—President Fulgencio Batista tonight signed a decree formalizing Cuba's alliance with Brazil in the war against the axis, in accordance with the agreement of Pan-American countries at the Havana conference. Brazil was provoked into a state of belligerence by acts of war, the decree said.

MICHIGAN'S GOVERNOR REFUTES BANNED LIFE ARTICLE TO ROOSEVELT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27. — Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner of Michigan called at the White House today to offset the effects of an article in Life magazine stressing alleged labor and racial unrest in Detroit, one of the vital war production centers.

The governor said there has been "wonderful coöperation" between labor and industry in Michigan, and that losses in production on account of strikes have been less than 1 per cent in that state and that all war schedules have been met or exceeded.

The issue of Life magazine carrying the article on Detroit was denied an export license. Customs officials at all borders were ordered to stop movement of the publication on the ground that it tended to give comfort to the enemy by presenting a picture of unrest in a key production center.

ARMY TO FORM NEW DIVISION OF NEGRO INFANTRY

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27 (AP).—The army will organize two new infantry divisions in October, one composed of Negro troops.

The 84th division, of white troops, will be formed at Camp Howze, Tex., under the command of Brig. Gen. John H. Hilldring, former assistant chief of staff for personnel, Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson said today.

Brig. Gen. Edward M. Almond will command the Negro 92d division, to be formed at Fort McClellan, Ala. This will be the army's second division of Negro troops, with both white and Negro officers.

The army contains a number of smaller units of Negro troops, and the secretary told his press conference that one of these, an aviation engineer battalion stationed in New Caledonia, had been commended by Maj. Gen. Alexander M. Patch, commanding in New Caledonia, for exceptionally meritorious service.

Reds Name Gen. Zhukov Deputy Chief of Defense

MOSCOW, Aug. 28 [Friday]—(AP).—Gen. Gregory Zhukov, Red army commander on the central front, today was named first deputy of the people's commissar for defense.

BRITISH IN EGYPT STRIKE AS MAJOR CONFLICT LOOMS

Raid Enemy Base; Attacks by U. S. Flyers Told.

CAIRO, Egypt, Aug. 27 (AP).—While rested and reënforced armies on both sides of the El Alamein front awaited the start of what observers expect may be a supreme battle of the war, British patrols struck out into the desert Tuesday night and made a successful raid on an enemy base in the El Mireir area, British headquarters announced today.

Casualties were inflicted and prisoners were taken, a communique said.

However, little action was reported from the western desert yesterday except for patrol activity, aerial forays over the battle area, and a regular force attack on enemy supply vehicles on the coastal road.

[Both Germany and Italy reported lively patrol and artillery activity on both sides of the battle lines in Egypt yesterday. Italy also said the RAF "bombed several localities in Sicily" and started a large fire in an attack on Tobruk.]

American Airmen Busy.

That the United States airmen on the Egyptian front are taking an increasing part in the air assaults on the axis was indicated by reports that American army flyers have participated in attacks ranging from Tobruk and other German occupied desert posts to shipping in Suda Bay, Crete, and the Corinth canal, in Greece, in the last 48 hours. The Americans were said to have caused considerable damage in coöperation with RAF flyers in these attacks.

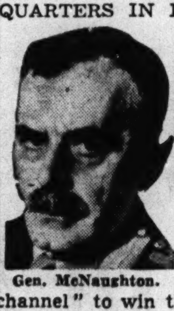
Military observers here expect that the two month lull in land fighting may erupt into another major struggle soon.

But whenever it comes, the British are sure of three things—it won't be long, they and their American allies are ready, and Prime Minister Winston Churchill has promised them every aid possible to put up a fight as tho it were for England's own soil.

SEE DRIVE BY ROMMEL.

Well placed informants in London said that considerable movement behind Nazi Marshal Erwin Rommel's lines in Egypt indicated he was about ready to try to drive the last 80 miles from El Alamein to Alexandria.

CANADIAN CHIEF PREDICTS SECOND FRONT IN EUROPE



Gen. McNaughton.

A CANADIAN MILITARY HEADQUARTERS IN BRITAIN, Aug. 27 (AP).—Lieut. Gen. Andrew G. L. McNaughton, commander in chief of Canadian forces, today predicted the opening of a western European front, declaring powerful allied armies "will have to cross the English channel" to win the war.

Gen. McNaughton is among the several generals mentioned as a possible allied commander in chief.

"You've only to look at a geography," Gen. McNaughton said. "There are powerful British and Canadian armies in the United Kingdom. Our great ally [America] also has a powerful army here.

"Any one who thinks we are going to sit here in back of that ditch [the English channel] has another think coming."

Case Set for Dec. 22, 1943, as Defendant Joins Navy

Reckless driving charges against Robert Borst, 18 years old, 644 East 112th street, were continued to Dec. 22, 1943, yesterday by Judge Oscar S. Caplan of Boys' court. The lengthy delay was granted when Borst's father, Leo, appeared with a letter certifying that the boy had joined the navy.

EVEN AMERICAN MECHANICS MOVE UP TO FIGHT AXIS

Reach Egypt to Keep U.S. Bombers Flying.

BY HARRY CROCKETT.

WITH THE UNITED STATES AIR FORCE IN THE SUEZ CANAL AREA, Aug. 27 (AP).—The Stars and Stripes waved smartly in front of a tent here today as the latest arrivals from the United States completed their first flag raising ceremony.

The colors were hoisted as hundreds of American soldiers, most of them air force mechanics and ground crews, stood at attention.

These men have been here only a few days. This is a transit camp, and all the men soon will go on to air fields from which American crews already are operating.

Believe They Sank U-Boat.

This group, along with many pilots, navigators, bombardiers, and radio men, formed part of a complement of soldiers which made a remarkably fast trip on a British troop ship.

They saw, and believe they destroyed, at least one enemy submarine off South America, and made the whole trip without a single casualty.

The only near casualty came at an East African port. There the soldiers had their first shore leave. When it was over, one lad arrived at the dock just as the ship was pulling away.

He thumbed a ride in a launch. He nearly caught the ship several times, and finally boarded it far down the bay after the speedy vessel stopped.

He was a sergeant then, but he is a buck private now.

One mystery baffled the soldiers on the whole trip. They were told that all the food aboard had been purchased in the United States, but they found everything bore South African stamps and labels.

They Didn't Like the Mutton.

"I guess our biggest complaint was that we had mutton day after day," one man said.

All were surprised by the Egyptian climate. They had expected to be blistered by heat, but they remarked that the weather was not so tough as at the Louisiana training field where most of them had been stationed.

At a nearby airfield I was shown the newest type of a medium bomber flown here. This field is an All-American show from start to finish, and planes jumping off from here already have damaged Tobruk, Matruh, and El Daba.

DUKE'S KIN SAY: OMIT FUNERAL FLOWERS; GIVE SUM TO CHARITY

LONDON, Aug. 27 (AP).—Instead of sending flowers to the funeral of the duke of Kent, the British were told officially tonight that donations to the navy, army and air force charity funds "would be very much appreciated."

King George VI., in naval uniform, and Queen Elizabeth, in black, returned to London for the funeral of the king's youngest brother, who was killed Tuesday in an air crash. Another brother, the duke of Gloucester, arrived on a special train with his duchess.

The funeral probably will be held at Windsor.

Senate Votes 15 Millions to Aid Militia of 150,000

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27 (AP).—Legislation authorizing the war department to equip state and territorial home guards with clothing, arms, and ammunition at a cost not exceeding $15,000,000 was paseed today by the senate and sent to the house. Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson said it would provide for a present strength of active state military forces of 150,000 men.

TEACH NAVY PIER SAILORS HOW TO SWIM UNDER FIRE

Instructors Jump Thru Burning Oil.

George C. Murphy Jr. and Dan Kiefaber calmly looked on yesterday as a section of Lake Michigan, about 30 feet in diameter, was converted into a roaring furnace of burning gasoline and oil. Then, as the flames shot 4 to 6 feet in the air, they just as calmly jumped in the center of the inferno, feet first, and swam away under water to safety.

It was all part of the day's work to the pair, who with Lieut. John D. Murphy, assistant athletic director at the pier, head the work of teaching sailors how to take care of themselves if their ship goes down.

Risky Business for Novice.

The sailors who are student swimmers don't have to jump into the burning oil, for it's risky business to the novice. But each man watches it done before he leaves the pier so he'll know what to do in case it's necessary. Both George Murphy, chief specialist, and Kiefaber, specialist first class, came out of the water with a few hairs singed and remarked that it becomes pretty warm on the way down.

The sailors also are taught how to slide down a 65 foot rope into the sea without burning hands or legs. The legs, protected by socks and trousers, take most of the punishment. And when the ropes of a sinking ship all are in use, the sailor knows how to make the long jump into the water. He must go in feet first unless he's an excellent swimmer. His hands must be held closely to his sides, for landing with arms outstretched might dislocate a shoulder.

Protect Selves Against Fish.

Sailors are taught how to protect themselves from dangerous fish, such as sharks and barracuda. When these fish aren't near, the instructor explains, it is best to be as quiet in the water as possible. When the fish approach, the men are instructed to stay close together and splash as much water as possible. The aim is to frighten the fish away.

Lieut. Murphy said all newcomers at the pier are classified as beginners, intermediate, or advanced swimmers. All must be rated "intermediate" before they are sent to ships.

"Our chief aim is remove fear of water from the minds of the men," Lieut. Murphy said. "Thousands of lives will be saved if they know how to swim and take care of themselves in the water."

In the Square of the Invalides the French flag was raised for the first time since the armistice.

Army officials said that the "provisional task force" had completed its program of appearances in Omaha, Neb., last night and started at once to load its mechanized equipment. The unloading of trains will begin on the Illinois Central tracks near Randolph street at 7 a. m. tomorrow and will continue thru the day.

Officers' quarters will be established north of 16th street, in Burnham park, between Leif Eriksen drive and the south lagoon. The enlisted personnel will bivouac between 16th and 23d streets.

Expect 80,000 at Each Show.

The 80,000 who are expected at each performance will be able to see everything on the field and will have no difficulty in hearing explanations of the action. The amplifying system set up by THE TRIBUNE for the Chicagoland Music Festival will be used.

The Army War show headquarters has suggested that persons who wish to do something for soldiers may buy tickets at 55 cents each to make possible the attendance of the thousands of army air force cadets now stationed in the city. Checks may be mailed to the show headquarters at 22 East Randolph street and the soldiers who use the tickets will make an acknowledgement of the gift.

All participants in the show carry full field equipment. Army officials said the soldiers could be ready to start for any port, to be embarked for foreign service, on a day's notice. The show appearances are additional chores for the men.

Groups Aid Ticket Sales.

Community organizations in Chicago have offered their aid in selling tickets. Division 2 of the Chicago Office of Civilian Defense, which includes all the city south of 75th street, has pledged to send 12,500 persons to Soldiers' field Saturday, Sept. 5.

All proceeds of the show are to be given to the Army Emergency Relief organization. Other objects of the exhibition are to let the public see how the army lives, works and fights, to strengthen civilian morale and to promote sales of War Savings bonds.

BABY GIRL SUFFOCATED.

Two year old Carol Ann Rose, colored, of 3335 South Park way, was found entangled in her bed clothing last night and pronounced dead after a fire department rescue squad had worked over her vainly for 20 minutes.

Briton Urges Fleet of 5,000 Planes for Atlantic Line

LONDON, Aug. 27 (AP).—Establishment of a civil fleet of 5,000 cargo planes to make Britain "the hub of the world's merchant services" was proposed today by E. C. Gordon England, chairman of the Engineering Industries association. CARIBBEAN SUB SINKS U. S. SHIP; THIRD IN NIGHT

Greek Merchantman Also Victim of U-Boat.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27 [Special].—The sinking of two more ships early this month was announced today by the navy. One was the Caribbean sea sinking of a medium sized United States merchantman, survivors of which said she was the third ship to go down in that area in a single night.

The other victim was a medium sized Greek merchant ship which was torpedoed and sunk by an enemy submarine in the Atlantic off the northern coast of South America. Survivors were landed at a United States east coast port.

The sinkings raised to 444 the Associated Press tabulation of announced united nations and neutral ship losses in the western Atlantic since Pearl Harbor. In these attacks 2,392 persons have been reported killed, 1,664 missing, and 13,283 rescued.

Three Passengers Are Lost.

The sinking of three ships in one night was the first announced wholesale assault in the West Indian area since June, when marauding U-boats took a heavy toll of unprotected shipping. Torpedoings fell off sharply in July when the navy assigned warcraft to shepherd freighters and tankers thru the danger zone.

One woman and two men passengers were believed lost in the latest sinking, the merchantman going to the bottom within four minutes after a single torpedo struck.

Four in Crew Also Missing.

H. P. Smith, captain of the stricken ship, died in a Cuban hospital of pneumonia brought on by exposure and injuries, survivors said. Four crewmen also were listed as missing.

Five passengers, five navy armed guards and 36 crewmen were picked up by a British warship 90 minutes after the attack which came at 4 a. m.

Radio Operator Theodore Hergenrader said he was awakened early in the morning by the torpedoing of another ship about a quarter of a mile away. He said he was standing on the bridge watching the smoke billow up from the other ship when a torpedo struck the vessel he was on.

Swedish Ship Sunk.

New York, Aug. 27 (AP).—The Swedish freight motorship Suecia, 3,730 gross tons, was sunk Aug. 16, the American-Swedish news exchange said today it had been informed by cable from Stockholm. The cable added that all the crew were saved but gave no location of the sinking.

Five Adrift 15 Days in Boats.

A New England Port, Aug. 27 (AP).—After drifting 15 days without food or water, five survivors of a crew of 41 from a torpedoed British merchantman have been landed here. Four others died shortly before a coast guard ship picked up four of them from a raft and a fifth from a water filled lifeboat 35 miles away. All the rescued suffered exposure and were near delirium.

The men said that their small vessel had been badly crippled the day before the attack by a collision with another vessel in fog, and they declared the ship sank in about three minutes after the torpedo struck. They said they believed most of the men were trapped below decks and went down with the vessel. No one saw the submarine.

Nazis Admit Trouble.

New York, Aug. 27 (AP).—The German radio acknowledged today that U-boats were encountering "vicissitudes" in their campaign against shipping off the American east coast, but contended their troubles were due to a reduction in shipping rather than to improved anti-submarine defenses.

The German broadcast quoted Nazi "military quarters" as saying that American conclusions concerning better means of combating submarines were "premature."

It declared a considerable portion of American coastal trade now was going by rail, so that there were fewer ships offshore.

REPORT 25,000 ALIEN JEWS ARE SEIZED IN FRANCE

BERNE, Switzerland, Aug. 27 (AP).—Twenty-five thousand alien Jews have been arrested in the provinces of Dauphine, Savoie and Haut Savoie in unoccupied France for deportation to German territory in the east, it was reported today.

Most of these already have been concentrated at Lyons, and since Aug. 7 Jewish men have been sent to Germany every three days in cattle cars for forced labor, the reports from France said. Women and children left behind are sent to special camps.

The German controled newspaper Petit Parisien in Paris said that all foreign Jews who have entered France since 1936 will have been rounded up by today. These arrests are continuing despite appears to Chief of State Marshal Petain, Chief of Government Pierre Laval, and Fernand de Brinon, Vichy ambassador to Paris, by leading Catholic clergymen with the support of the pope. De Brinon is said to have made it clear in discussions with the protesting clergymen that the anti-Semitic program was a definite part of the present government policy.

JAPS RETREATING FROM AIR BASE, CHINESE REPORT

Chuhsien Afire; Yank Flyers Hit Burma.

CHUNGKING, China, Aug. 27 (AP).—The Japanese are in general retreat from Chuhsien, where China's greatest airfield lies within bomber range of Japan, while their rearguards try to stem a Chinese assault which has penetrated the outskirts of the burning city, military dispatches said tonight.

United States army air forces in China, which some day may use Chuhsien's air base to attack the great Japanese industrial district of Kiushiu, 800 miles away, turned their attention meanwhile to the Japanese air base at Lashio, Burma.

Destroy Two Enemy Fighters.

Communique from Lieut. Gen. Joseph Stilwell's headquarters said fires were started in the center of Lashio, which is near the southwest border of China, that the airdrome runway was hit and that two enemy fighters were destroyed and two probably wrecked. No American plane was lost.

Chinese columns driving westward along the Chekiang-Kiangsi railway gained control of another 25 miles of the road by recapturing Tsinsien, only 35 miles southeast of Nanchang, Japan's chief base in Kiangsi province, Chinese dispatches reported. The Chinese now hold nearly 200 miles of the railroad, all of which was in Japanese hands six weeks ago.

Retreating Japs Fire Towns.

At Chuhsien and in a 200 mile belt from which they are in general retreat eastward, the Japanese were firing every town and village in what the Chinese Central News agency called a campaign of "willful destruction and incendiarism."

Two Chinese armies advancing from west and southwest met in Chuhsien's outskirts and were pressing a hard assault on the enemy still within the city.

The Japanese also were about to abandon other cities in Chekiang and in neighboring Kiangsi province, notably Sungyang and Lishui, the Chinese reported. Fighting was reported in the outskirts of the latter place, also an important air base.

SAW INJURIES PROVE FATAL.

James Favia, 62 years old, who was cut on his arms Aug. 13 when he fell against a saw at his home in route No. 2, Bensenville, died last night in Mother Cabrini hospital.

ALBANIAN PATRIOTS CLASH WITH ITALIANS, SAY MOSCOW RADIO

LONDON, Aug. 27 (AP). — Reuters News agency today said it had recorded a Moscow broadcast which reported, via Geneva, a large scale clash between Albanian patriots and Italian troops 12 miles from Tirana, capital of Italian-occupied Albania. This account said the Italians lost 200 men killed or wounded and finally had to bring up artillery to end the fight after several days.

It said the Albanians had cut telegraph lines between Tirana and Durazzo, and blown up an important bridge near Elbassan.

The Italians have increased the occupation forces from five to eight divisions, the report continued.

ACTION TO END OIL CONFUSION ASKED IN HOUSE

Ickes, Henderson Would Be Stripped of Power.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27.—Assailing the "intolerable situation" which exists as a result of conflicting statements and actions on the gasoline and fuel oil problem by Price Administrator Leon Henderson and Petroleum Coördinator Harold L. Ickes, Rep. Edith N. Rogers [R., Mass.] today put before the house a bill intended to strip both officials of their powers over petroleum.

Rep. Edith Rogers.

The Rogers bill would create the Office of Administrator of Petroleum and Petroleum Products whose duty would be to institute a program relating to the production, transport, distribution, sale or price of petroleum. The agency would expire Jan. 1, 1944. The President is authorized in the measure to transfer all powers over petroleum now held by other agencies to the new administrator.

"Let's get rid of the confusion about gas and oil and coal which exists as a result of conflicting statements every day by those supposed to be in charge of the situation," Mrs. Rogers told the house.

Public Hopelessly Confused.

Ickes and Henderson have been cracking back and forth at each other for weeks, apparently in a state of official jealousy over their divided authority. Despite repeated appeals in congress, the President has done nothing to clear up the situation. The public, threatened one day with heatless homes this winter and assured the following day that such a gloomy forecast is ridiculous, has become hopelessly confused, Mrs. Rogers remarked.

Rep. Fred A. Hartley [R., N. J.] also attacked the failure of those in charge of the petroleum program to investigate means of solving the oil shortage on the eastern seaboard.

Hartley revealed that a house committee which has been trying to ascertain facts on the shortage heard yesterday from Vincent Shinkle, a consulting engineer of nine years' experience. The witness called attention to the fact that there are today in the anthracite fields of the east some 50,000 tons of pulverized coal, hitherto regarded as waste product, lying on the ground.

Suitable for Heavy Industry.

"He told us," said Hartley, "that this pulverized coal can be mixed with heavy fuel oils and used in heavy industries and that thereby over 2 million barrels of petroleum now used in the heavy industries can be replaced. The pulverizing equipment is available. Tank cars would not be necessary to transport it to the east and no strategic materials would be needed.

"I would like to know why those in charge of the petroleum program have not given consideration to this process which is not anything new. It was not commercially feasible previously because of the cheapness of fuel oil, but it certainly should be considered now in view of transportation difficulties."

"It is incredible to me," interjected Mrs. Rogers, "that nothing has been done thus far."

"This is the only time in the history of our country when one section of the country only has been rationed or restricted. It seems manifestly unfair. We should ration all other sections of the country."

Hartley read a telegram from a New Jersey oil distributor who said his storage tanks were filled to capacity and tank cars of oil were lined up with no place to store their contents. Under official orders, however, he is not allowed to sell this oil.

"We can't determine," the sender of the telegram stated, "what is the greater crime—dumping oil into the streets or filling the tanks of householders?"

BANDIT LOCKS DRIVER IN TRUCK; TAKES BAG OF REGISTERED MAIL

Blake Page.

The driver was rescued after a passer-by reported to the main postoffice that he had seen a mail truck parked in an alley near Hubbard and Des Plaines streets.

"The robber stopped me as I was driving away from the Haymarket branch at 120 North Union avenue," Page said. "He told me to drive down the street; that I was wanted for hitting a pedestrian. He climbed in, and when I argued with him he put a gun on me and forced me into the back. He then took my pistol and the sack and drove to the alley. He seemed to know just where the registered mail was."

King George VI.'s Nephew Is Engaged to Commoner

LONDON, Aug. 28 [Friday]—(AP).—The London tabloid Daily Mirror carried in its first edition today a long story reporting that Gerald Lascelles, 18 year old nephew of King George VI., had become engaged to June Morris, described as a slim, dark-eyed Jewess, also 18, of Leeds. The story was dropped completely from later editions without explanation.

Gerald Lascelles.

The Mirror's story as it appeared in the early edition said that Gerald's father, the earl of Harewood, had written to the girl's father opposing the immediate marriage. The girl and young Lascelles were quoted at length.

Must Get King's Consent.

"It will be necessary to get the king's consent," Miss Morris was quoted, "but if that is not possible we shall have to wait until after the war and then get married abroad the same as the duke of Windsor did."

Gerald Lascelles is the youngest son of the princess royal, Mary, only sister of King George. She was married Feb. 28, 1922, to the earl of Harewood, at that time Viscount Lascelles. Her other son, George, is 19.

June's parents, both Londoners, were married at a London registry office when Mrs. Morris was 18. Her father, aged 50, is a lieutenant in the army pay corps.

Gerald Lascelles, who was 18 only last Friday, is now working in a factory in northwest England and will join the army soon. Gerald is tenth in line for the British throne. His brother George is ninth.

Youth Confirms Engagement.

During the lunch hour in the factory's canteen, the Daily Mirror correspondent wrote, Gerald told him: "Yes, we are engaged all right as far as we are concerned, but it is not official. Families can be very difficult. I don't think there will be any wedding until after the war."

The Mirror quoted her as follows: "Gerald and I are crazy about each other. It doesn't matter to me who he is. I can't help him being the son of an earl. We are just two young people in love.

"I fell in love with Gerald before I knew who he was when I met him on the bus."

CIVILIANS 'KIDNAP' SOLDIERS, ASSAULT GIRLS, SAYS SHERIFF

Washington, Ind., Aug. 27 (AP).—Sheriff Jesse Alberty of Daviess county said tonight that two girls, hitch-hiking from their home in Sumner, Ill., to Lawrenceville, Ill., had been picked up by five men, two of them soldiers, and assaulted by two of the civilians.

Sheriff Alberty said the two soldiers had taken an army car from Louisville, Ky., and had picked up the three civilians, one of whom was armed. He ordered the soldiers to drive them thru Knox county. The sheriff said he was told the armed man also ordered the soldiers to pick up the girls, then commanded them to drive three miles north of Vincennes, where the attacks occurred.

The girls were released along a road south of Washington and were picked up by a passing truck driver.

SIX ARMY FLYERS, TWO WOMEN DIE IN BOMBER CRASH

Mulberry, Fla., Aug. 27 (AP).—Six army airmen lost their lives late today when an army medium bomber crashed into a house about a mile from here, killing two Negro women.

The public relations officer at Drane field, Lakeland, Fla., where the plane was stationed, said the following flyers were killed:

Second Lieut. Augustus A. Trulove, Madison, Fla.; Sergt. Kenneth D. Parker, Canadian, Tex.; Corp. John C. Larkin, Guilford, Conn.; Pvt. Maurice Brady, Richmond, Cal.; Pvt. William B. Bloxom, Wetumpka, Ala.; Pvt. Herman Ashner, Detroit, Mich. The pilot, Second Lieut. Claude Jackson of Akron, O., was seriously injured. The bomber dipped and hit a garage, sliced an automobile in two and then ploughed into the home of the Negro family, Capt. J. C. Mayo reported. The house was demolished and the two women were crushed. Flames from the wreckage spread to an adjoining house which also was destroyed.

BODY RECOVERED FROM LAKE.

Police last night were seeking to identify the body of a man about 35 years old which was recovered yesterday from Lake Michigan 11 eleven miles east of Glencoe and taken by police to the county morgue.

ANIMAL WARDENS TRAINED TO HELP AIR RAID VICTIMS

Dr. W. A. Young, managing director of the Anti-Cruelty society, yesterday outlined the work his organization is doing in training animal wardens who will care for injured pets in the event of an air raid on Chicago. He spoke before the 79th annual meeting of the American Veterinary Medical association, which concluded its convention in the Palmer House.

Dr. Young said 100 volunteers have completed a four week animal first aid course at the society's headquarters at 157 West Grand avenue. These persons, he said, later will be assigned to veterinarians thruout the metropolitan area to help train other groups. It is expected that several thousand animal wardens will have completed their training by the end of the year.

BLACK-OUT TEST REPORTS REVEAL TRAINING NEEDED

Many Pedestrians Fail to Take Shelter.

One out of every four pedestrians in the Chicago metropolitan area was "rubbernecking" during the black-out Aug. 12, in violation of city and county ordinances, Ralph H. Burke, deputy coördinator of the Office of Civilian Defense for the area, reported yesterday.

Burke, who is in charge of protective services, made public a summary of the reports on the trial black-out submitted by 21,442 ground and aerial observers.

More Training Needed.

"The observers' reports are being analyzed to help perfect our air raid defense organization," Burke said. "We still need a great deal of training because there may be no previous notice of the next black-out test."

Burke reiterated his advice that civilians make preparations now for safeguards against air raids. He said pedestrians must obey the rule to get off the streets within 5 minutes after the siren warning. He urged merchants, building operators, and owners of illuminated signs to adopt some method of extinguishing lights which could be operated quickly by a master switch or by an air raid warden.

Burke also advised that households set aside a refuge room equipped with black-out materials, entertainment equipment and fire fighting tools.

Analysis of Reports Made.

The black-out observers' reports were analyzed by Otto K. Jelinek, chief of techniques for the OCD office. The reports disclosed the following results:

Between 9:45 p. m. and 10 p. m., 84.5 per cent of the lights in the 1,171 square miles of the metropolitan area were extinguished. At 10 p. m., when the black-out started officially, an additional 8.4 per cent of the lights went out. From 10:03 to 10:10 p. m., an additional 2.3 per cent were extinguished. Violations represented 0.5 of 1 per cent and authorized exemptions 4.3 per cent.

There were 3,281 lights showing, including exempted lights in war plants and along railroad tracks.

There were 9 minor accidents.

20% Fail to Hear Sirens.

Twenty per cent of the observers reported that they did not hear the sirens. [Burke said 43 special sirens will be installed shortly.]

Motorist compliance was 96.6 per cent.

Widener Art Acceptance Bill Sent to President

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27 (AP).—Legislation authorizing government acceptance of the Joseph E. Widener art collection completed its congressional course today and went to the White House. The house approved the senate measure authorizing appropriation of sufficient funds to pay the state of Pennsylvania any tax required under state law because of transfer of the collection from Philadelphia to the National Gallery of Art here. The President estimated the tax would be $195,000.

And ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free.

THE CONGRESS STREET LAND BOOM.

That the Congress street superhighway project is primarily a means of lining the pockets of real estate speculators with the taxpayers' money is amply demonstrated by the admission that more than half of the estimated total cost will be consumed in the acquisition of rights of way. Philip Harrington, city commissioner of subways and superhighways, has estimated that $21,915,000 of the total cost of $41,815,000 will be spent on land acquisitions.

The city has already agreed to buy nine parcels of real estate at a cost of $570,500, and is negotiating for other parcels which will cost more than 5 million dollars. The county, which is not even attempting to live within its income, is being urged to give free rein to its Good Time Charlie proclivities by appropriating a total of 5 million more to help along the Congress street land boom. The county commissioners, who badly need the protection of a spendthrift trust, have not needed too much urging. They have already set aside $3,200,000.

This waste of the taxpayers' money would be less shocking if there were any indications that Congress street would prove a serviceable traffic artery, that it could be constructed within the predictable future, and that the huge amount of money required will be forthcoming. But there are no reasonable grounds for believing that any of these conditions will be satisfied.

The route was condemned by many traffic experts because it was not strategically located. As now planned it ends abruptly at the western city limit at Austin boulevard and has inadequate connection with thru county roads. The city, while embarking on land buying, has still to clear up the objection of the postmaster general that the route will interfere with access to the Chicago postoffice, which stands in its direct line.

As to construction, the demands of the war effort on materials and labor make it impossible to get the project under way until the war is over. Mr. Harrington defends the acquisition of land rights now on the ground that the superhighway will provide a public works backlog when peace frees labor and materials. If the project is to be considered a boondoggle, perhaps the money might be thrown away on the superhighway as well as on something else, but the people are a little tired of boondoggles and would like to get something useful for their money for a change.

The clamor raised by proponents of the project that the right of way had to be acquired at once to permit immediate construction of the Dearborn street subway extension under Congress street to the river is demonstrably false. Mr. Harrington concedes that materials and labor shortages make it impossible to proceed on the subway spur for many months and probably not until the war is ended.

The most curious aspect of the whole business is that nobody knows where the money is coming from. The financing of the project is on a purely conditional basis, compounded of ifs and hopes. The state of Illinois and the federal government are asked to provide $20,592,000, almost half of the total cost, but there is no final commitment from either of them to put up a dollar. State gasoline tax collections have fallen off sharply, and the Federal Roads administration has appropriated only $4,600,000 for Illinois thru next July, with the prospect that there will be no further allotments during the war.

The county, which has long since exhausted its credit, is asked to put up not only 5 million dollars for land rights, but an additional $5,465,000 toward construction costs. Having forked over the first $3,200,000, the commissioners are now inspecting the horse's teeth and have come to the decision that they won't undertake further commitments until the state and federal governments declare themselves in.

The whole project is as nice an example as will be found of what happens when politicians submit to pressure groups and make the taxpayers the sucker.

DOWNSTATE REGISTRATION.

Attorney General Barrett's formal opinion that it is legal for deputies of the clerks of downstate counties to enroll voters under the new state-wide permanent registration law at branches outside the clerk's regular office should greatly facilitate the task of registering the vote for the Nov. 3 general election. A number of county clerks already were operating branch offices, but doubt had been cast upon the legality of the practice.

The attorney general recognized that it is a considerable hardship upon a large number of downstate citizens to come a long distance to the county seat and consume time awaiting their turn to be registered. Those who could not take time off to do so had the opportunity, of course, of registering in their precinct polling places on two days, Sept. 19 and Oct. 6, but a large number undoubtedly would have found this opportunity hardly more convenient than making a special trip to the county seat.

The branch office registration will now present every voter with the means of appearing at his convenience and qualifying to vote. Clerks of the numerous counties which as yet have not sent deputies into the field to open branches for this purpose should lose no time in doing so. The party organization should also acquaint the voters with the necessity of registering as a safeguard against the possibility of losing their votes. The registration campaign should be pressed most vigorously in the rural areas which will benefit most from Mr. Barrett's ruling.

BUY A BOND TODAY.

It takes vast amounts of money to fight this war. The government is spending at the rate of 5 billion dollars a month and taxes are bringing in an average of less than 2 billion dollars a month. Congress is about to raise taxes to provide another half billion dollars a year, but outgo will increase much faster than that. The excess of spending over income will be about 50 billion dollars in the accounting year which ends June 30, 1943.

This is a financial operation the like of which has never been seen. The government cannot raise enough money to arm our men with the equipment to defeat Hitler and Hirohito except by borrowing vast sums every month. The insurance companies buy huge amounts of bonds every time the secretary offers an issue of bonds. The banks are acquiring even greater quantities. Other big institutions and wealthy individuals are providing money for the government at a rate heretofore regarded as impossible.

But all the money the insurance companies, the banks, the institutions, and the rich can dig up to lend to the government is not enough. Some of every one's money is needed. With the nation in deadly peril, don't count upon somebody else to supply your share in addition to theirs.

The job of raising the money has been divided up among the states. The people of Illinois have been given an amount to raise in August and we are not raising it. Our state director of war bond sales reports that we in Illinois are falling down—failing to do our fair share. We have today and Saturday in which to redeem ourselves. A large force of workers is out making calls upon large buyers who may not yet have purchased the full amount of war bonds permitted to be held by one individual. But it is the small buyers from whom most is expected. Last month Illinois failed by 18 per cent to do its share of bond buying. Let us not fail again.

OUR STAKE IN INDIA.

American concern for India is primarily military. We have sent armed forces there to fight the Japs, to give aid and encouragement to China and possibly to help retake Burma and reopen the road to Mandalay, Singapore and the East Indies. Wherever there is a Jap there is an enemy of the United States, an enemy who has been calculating for 20 or 30 years with a vindictive long term policy. This has become one of the bitterest of all wars, one of racial hatreds, deeper than the color of the skin, and it is the American purpose to put the Japs back where we found them.

Of recent years we may have seemed to ask for some of this trouble, but allowing for that it nevertheless was invited over the long term of years by double dealing Japanese treaty makers, two-faced men with hidden knives. The American force, principally air, was sent into a country supposed to be a dependable base against an enemy which thus far has been more destructive than any other to the British empire. It is of concern to the United States that these American forces and whatever reënforcements they need should not be caught in empire revolution, civil war, dangerous disorders or an internal weakness which lets in the Japs. This is our primary concern and because the whole military situation in Asia may be affected by the handling of the Indian problem our voice in the affair is not that of an intruder.

Americans cannot deny that their idea of a free people includes India. It has been Great Britain's problem and a tough one. But didn't Mr. Churchill for the British government and people accept and sign the charter of freedoms? He may not have examined Mr. Roosevelt's altruisms attentively or have been awake when they were read. At the most he may have had only a practical politician's idea that one of the party's orators had a good rostrum composition which would sound well.

Any number of people must think that some of the freedoms, such as freedom from want and fear everywhere in the world, are idealities beyond the power of any charter signers to achieve. The wisdom of such platforms is questioned. If they fool aspiring people they are bad. If they fool only their authors they are bad. India is one of the bad consequences right now. Other countries than India are asking whether they are being fooled or not being fooled.

The British may see no way of making the political and property readjustments in wartime and they may feel that they cannot expose their flank to the unpredictable consequences of turning India loose unconditionally. Indian factions might tear the land apart. The discords arise from religious, racial, social, and economic differences, from conflicting superstitions and rituals, from poverty, illiteracy, and intolerance. This is not to say that Indian independence is impossible. It is possible but difficult. Our own republic had its difficulties and still has them. We are taunted with the fact that we have not yet brought our cherished rights within reach of all our citizens.

Gandhi says that independence must be won and not come as a gift. Otherwise it will lack the spiritual lamp. He is right. What the Indian leaders of all sects must do, now or some time, is form a government which will endure, which will have the consent of the people, which will protect minorities. That will be winning independence. That is India's own problem. If India can solve it, liberty will not come as a gift. It will be won the hard way. Great Britain need not delay until the end of the war. India can be asked to form its government now. That will satisfy the dictates of the charter of freedoms. And it will give India something to do which may require longer than the duration. Such a government will not be conjured out of a jar or found on a magic carpet.

TRACING DOWN "APATHY."

[Monroe County News, Albia, Ia.]

Eastern states were tireless in their efforts to get the United States into war in 1917. These same states appeared determined to get this nation into the present war.

In each case grave concern was expressed by the eastern states about the complacency of the midwest in regard to the war situation.

Cries of "Get into the war spirit," "Wake up, midwest," "Join the war enthusiasm," "Rouse the west," "Why wait?" have echoed from coast to coast in both wars.

But let us bring the matter closer home.

Monroe county, located in the southern portion of Iowa—right in the heart of the midwest—was the first county in Iowa and perhaps in the entire United States to exceed its quota in the retail merchants' war stamp drive.

Does that sound as tho we are asleep?

If you want more indication of the "apathy" of the midwest, turn to the record of voluntary enlistments in eastern and western states for the first three weeks after the United States entered the war in 1917.

Enlistments in New York during that period totaled 2,177, and in New England, 1,417. On the other hand, figures from Illinois showed 3,192 voluntary enlistments in the same period while Indiana had 2,463.

And now let's bring things up to date.

In May, 41 states did their full duty in buying war bonds. Those which failed to meet their quotas were New York, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, New Jersey, Rhode Island, Delaware, and Montana.

During June only six states went over the top. These were Iowa, Indiana, Michigan, Delaware, Alabama, and South Carolina.

IN THE SHADOW OF TRAGEDY.

The first member of an English royal family to bear the title of duke of Kent was Edmund Plantagenet, youngest brother of Edward II., born in 1301. The king was deposed, imprisoned, and secretly murdered. Edmund was persuaded to enter into a conspiracy based on a rumor that the king was still alive; was charged with treason and beheaded.

* * *

The Kent titles, more frequently earl and marquess than duke, then passed into other families—the Holands until 1408, the Nevilles until 1463, and the Greys until 1740. The latter had much the longest run in Kentish honors. Henry Grey, the 12th earl, became a duke, but the titles ran out at his death.

* * *

In 1799 another royal duke of Kent joined the cavalcade of English history by proclamation. He was Edward Augustus, fourth son of George III. He served with the British army in Canada and became a field marshal in 1805. Tourists to the city of Quebec can cross his trail in Kent House, a hotel at the Falls of Montmorency, and the Duke of Kent House [lodgings when we were there in 1936], which is in town close to the Château Frontenac. He was the father of one child, whose possible succession to the throne was an exceedingly long shot when she was born. She became Queen Victoria.

* * *

The most famous literary character to bear a Kent title—he is called an earl—may be found in Shakespeare's "King Lear." He is the fine fellow who spoke up in favor of Cordelia when Lear committed his first act of foolishness, and he runs thru the drama as a loyal and courageous nobleman in adversity, faithful to his demented sovereign. . . . We would have said offhand that Shakespeare's historical plays were full of Kents, but such is not the case. A hasty scanning of the lists of characters does not reveal a single one in the "histories," and Kent of "King Lear," the story of which is mythical, seems to have the Shakespearean field to himself.

AT THE SOURCE.

The man thought, here it began,
Back in the brush where a sweet spring ran;
Part the dead leaves and cup your hands—
The coldest water on any man's lands.
Green ferns dabble over the ledge
And violets carpet the shelving edge;
This is a secret and hidden ground,
Where all day long you may hear the sound
Of water dripping over the shelf
And a man may sit and take stock of himself.
Boy and man he has loved this creek,
And a sightlier water were hard to seek.
He thinks of the bridge by Matthew's place,
Where the teams rumble over with slackened trace,
And the willows growing on either side
Screen the waters where minnows dart and hide;
And then there's the pool of the swimming hole,
With the grapevine swung from the sycamore's bole;
Wild columbine lights the hog's back's shade
With the fairest lanterns ever made;
This is Jim's woodlot, this is mine,
And the line fence carries a bittersweet vine.

Only a creek? But still, you see,
What it means to Jim, and Matt, and me,
And men will die to keep such streams

Young Roscius Joins His Rivals.

An impressive group of old-time troupers scanned the call board in the green room of the Great Beyond, which announced the coming of Walker Whiteside. Lawrence Barrett, the tragedian, asked the privilege of leading the reception committee.

"Gentlemen," he said, "I believe I have known Walker longer than any one present. I was booked at McVicker's theater in Chicago in 'Yorick's Love,' opening on Nov. 17, 1884. I was informed of a new rival who would make his first appearance at the Grand Opera house that very night as Richard III. He modestly advertised himself as Master Whiteside, the Young Roscius, and that is all any of us knew of him. Louis James, co-starred with me, knew him not. Nat Goodwin, playing in 'Hobbies' at the Standard, on Halsted street near Jackson, knew him not.

"A critic in THE TRIBUNE on Nov. 19 tried to discourage this aspirant. 'This debut,' he wrote, 'is well enough as a novelty, but the thing should stop here, both in justice to the boy and in deference to public opinion.' . . . But a few years later, Master Whiteside electrified New York with his Hamlet.

NACIONES UNIDAS.

Our sister nation to the south, across
The sub-infested sea, has heard the call
To join with those who fight against the loss
Of rights and values prized by one and all
The freedom-loving nations. Long we've sung
Of "Rolling Down to Rio." Now we hear
Come rolling up from Rio, southern tongue
To lend the cause a Latin note of cheer.

"United States" has been our chosen name;
"United States" she also chose to be.
"United Nations" welcome now her fame
And aid in making struggling peoples free.
United states have proved in hemisphere their worth;

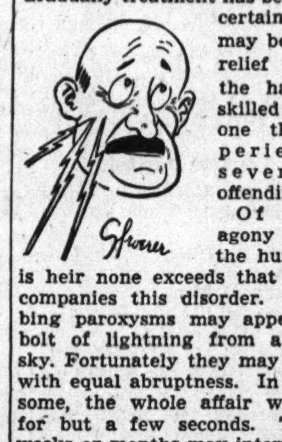
THE SURGICAL RELIEF OF FACIAL NEURALGIA.

OUR modern attack upon tic douloureux [trigeminal neuralgia] dates from the historical description by John Fothergill which was published in 1776. Gradually treatment has become more certain until it may be said that relief is safe in the hands of a skilled surgeon—one thoroly experienced in severing the offending nerve.



Of all the agony to which the human frame is heir none exceeds that which accompanies this disorder. The stabbing paroxysms may appear like a bolt of lightning from a cloudless sky. Fortunately they may terminate with equal abruptness. In fact, with some, the whole affair will persist for but a few seconds. Thereafter weeks or months may intervene without the slightest discomfort. But when the seizures occur frequently and continue for some time there seems to be no alternative other than to advise the knife.

While most of these sufferers are perfectly well between periods, after an attack is over the afflicted one may complain of numbness, a dull ache, or the fact that the skin is tender. Some are able to name a definite starting region which seems to set off a bout. For example, the angle of the mouth or the wing of a nostril may be blamed. The very act of talking, chewing, coughing, or sneezing may initiate a tornadolike response. In some instances, after a time, the "trigger" zone apparently loses its sensitivity.

Just why the fifth [trigeminal] nerve cuts up such unpleasant didos is unknown. Collections of cases show that the malady is more common in women and that it is more prevalent on the right side of the face. As a rule the ailment appears between the ages of 40 and 60. Younger individuals, however, are not exempt. Curiously enough there is a definite seasonal trend. Early in the spring and again in late summer an increase in the number of bouts will be observed.

Altho remedies are legion, about the simplest and best known drug is trichlorethylene. A handkerchief is moistened with 10 or 15 drops and the vapor inhaled. The most that can be accomplished is a reduction in the intensity of the pain.

Food enthusiasts have claimed that we are dealing with a true deficiency. Thus our old friend vitamin B is summoned to the rescue. Generous doses of thiamin have been beneficial in some cases.

Alcohol injections are still employed. If the fluid is introduced so that contact is made with the troublesome branch as it emerges from its bony cavity, relief may endure for one to two years. Cutting the nerve in front of the ear—the fashion of a few generations ago—is but a temporary measure. The structure will regenerate and the storm return in full force.

Permanent cure then may be secured by removing a small segment of the sensory root. The motor portion which supplies the muscles of the lower jaw is not disturbed. In fact, great care must be taken not to destroy the figurative wires which lead to the cornea of the eye.

To the question—is the operation safe?—the answer is yes, 99 times out of 100. It is assumed, however, that the patient is in skilled hands and under expert supervision. Approximately 2,000 victims are benefited by this procedure each year and the ensuing total of human happiness cannot be estimated.

•

IT'S THE HUMIDITY.

L. B. H. writes: Why does one have such a smothered feeling when the humidity and the temperature are high, even when one is perfectly quiet?

REPLY.

The body has difficulty in getting rid of internal heat, particularly when the thermometer hovers in the 90s. If the air is saturated with moisture, little evaporation — which is cooling — will occur from the skin. This is the reason we seek cool spots, the shade, etc.

•

A QUICK JOB.

J. K. writes: How can I gain five pounds in a week to get into the navy?

REPLY.

Why not use the old cattle drover's formula—heavy doses of salt and water? You can't put on five pounds of real flesh in that period. On the other hand, if you go to bed and eat five meals a day you will soon pass the weight test.

INFLATIONARY FACTORS.

Port Washington, N. Y., Aug. 23.—There are elements of three kinds of inflation in the United States. First: From demand for goods and for services exceeding supply. The M day, or industrial mobilization, in case of war, was planned more than 10 years ago, to meet such inflation and to insure the supply of munitions. It embodied lessons from the experiences of the first World war. A universal price ceiling was recommended to prevent inflation. No ceiling has been placed on wages, but many have been raised with the consent of government agencies, and prices of some agricultural products entering foods are maintained or favored. Partial regulation of prices is not a square deal; it is confiscatory and ought to be unconstitutional.

Second: Fiat money inflation. The dollar is 15 5-21 grains of gold as "fixed" by the proclamation of Jan. 31, 1934. The dollars promised by the currency will not be paid but are hoarded at Fort Knox and at other depositories.

Third: Credit inflation. The second war powers act of last March 27 amended the federal reserve act, section 14 [b], by striking out the words "but only in the open market," thereby empowering the federal reserve banks to buy government securities directly from the treasury. A similar power was one of the principal causes of the fiat money inflation in Germany in 1923.

Congress can spend and spend, borrow and borrow, and the treasury issue checks and checks on the federal reserve banks which will not be paid because they are payable in dollars, but will be discharged with other promises to pay dollars which will be met by other promises, etc., etc. In the natural course of events, and unless we stop and reform, we shall have check money like confetti at a mardi gras.

Any one alone of the three factors is bad enough; but the injurious effects of each must be increased by each being combined with the others.

EDWARD HENRY NEARY.

EVICTION OF RENTERS.

Chicago, Aug. 20.—The chief condition of rent freezing should be elimination of eviction. A married man with children encounters great difficulties in finding an apartment for lease. He must rent a house. Here he has new disappointments: He and his family may be evicted on short notice under various pretexts that the house is sold, or needed for the owner, etc. A racket develops and house owners sell their houses at exhorbitant prices, evicting the unfortunate tenants. The whole meaning of rent control is lost under these circumstances.

If the rent director and the courts would adhere to the definite policy of forbidding eviction of decent tenants renting houses or apartments, they would achieve the real aim of the rent ceiling, namely, the elimination of speculation in rented houses and apartments for the duration.

A TENANT.

WAITING FOR A STREET CAR.

Chicago, Aug. 13.—When the 8 cent fare was put into effect, the Surface Lines lightly tossed off promises of "better service, equipment, etc." However, deterioration progresses as usual. Today I waited 35 minutes for a street car at the corner of Touhy and Western avenues.

L. E. COLVIN.

IN DEFENSE OF FLAGPOLES.

Chicago, Aug. 24.—"C. A. L." complains of iron flagpoles in the neighborhood of 71st street and Indiana avenue which he says would be better used as scrap. A young sailor from the block who raised the flag on the pole at this corner told me that it was his greatest thrill to honor the other young men of the block who are serving their country. We used 60 feet of 1½ inch pipe which would never have seen a scrap pile during this war, because people do not sell good pipe for scrap but save it, and junk men who do get pipe store it away to sell as pipe. Only articles in bad condition reach the junk pile, so we can use our flagpole for water pipe again after the war.

ROBERT E. RYAN.

Chicago, Aug. 24.—I think I have the answer for the two articles in the Voice of Aug. 24 criticizing south side residents for erecting iron flagpoles. Up to a month ago I, too, had the impression that the metal used in corner flagpoles should be used to better advantage. But a flag raising ceremony provides the ideal means for bringing neighbors together in friendly association and of honoring the mothers of our fighting men. When all the 30,000 blocks in this metropolitan area have put up their flagpoles and have held their ceremonies, just think of all the tons of metal that will be in sight and how simple it will then be for the fire department, within a few hours, by the use of the acetylene torch, to dismantle the metal so that it may be readily hauled away for whatever use the government may wish. You can be sure that if it were not for the flagpoles three-fourths of this metal would never have been unearthed.

DANIEL A. CUMMINGS.

RIDES FOR SERVICE MEN.

Chicago, Aug. 24.—Service men are always anxious to get home on furloughs as quickly and cheaply as possible. I suggest that the USO or Chicago Service Men's center set up a department where citizens, who are taking business or vacation trips outside the city and would like to share their cars with some of our service men going in the same direction, may leave their names and date of departure so the boys can make arrangements to go with them if possible. I think the boys would really appreciate this service and it would give those of us who enjoy helping them in any way we can an opportunity to do our bit.

EVELYN S. NISH.

FAITH RESTORED.

Chicago, Aug. 14.—Just as I was about to lose faith in people because of the loss of my golf clubs at one of our older and more prominent clubs, it was restored when I carelessly left an unstamped letter addressed to my flying son at Pensacola somewhere in the loop. Some fine, conscientious person found the letter, stamped it, and dropped it in the mail.

W. M. SLENGER.

POLITICS AND THE WAR.

Niagara, Wis., Aug. 13.—The placing of votes in the coming election ahead of lives is something that the average citizen will consider as nothing short of outrageous.

E. W. STRIDDE.

THE FIGHT AGAINST INFLATION.

Chicago, Aug. 18.—Several agencies are advocating a federal sales tax to prevent inflation. The moment it goes in effect big labor unions will demand and receive an increase in addition to the many increases already received to meet the high cost of living. The sales tax will not affect them in the least. But how about the millions whose income is the same as three years ago, such as pensioners, widows with families, and salaried employés, all of whom will be obliged to pay the same price for eatables as those receiving exorbitant wages? The only way to stop inflation is to forget politics and put a ceiling on wages and necessities of life and a tax on luxuries. There would be no necessity then for asking higher wages and no necessity for a labor board. It is fruitless to use the wornout advice to tighten our belts. We are already at the last notch.

LOW INCOME.

TAXING LABOR UNIONS.

West Haven, Conn., Aug. 15.—I suggest that the first $2,000 of taxable income from whatever source be taxed at a normal rate of 10 per cent and no more, and that the earned income credit be eliminated. To make up for part of the loss by this change, I suggest that the income of labor unions be taxed at the same rate as individuals. It is surely time that labor unions were shown that they are not above the law, that they have no special privileges, and that they should pay taxes on their income the same as the rest of us. No one has profited more from the war than they, so why should the people pay an income tax and they remain free? Let them be made to share in the tax burden.

HAROLD E. BRADLEY.

PROGRESSIVE TAXATION.

Chicago, Aug. 14.—I see now where the city fathers have passed an ordinance to charge my son, age 10, 50 cents to operate his bicycle, under the pretext that it will help prevent bicycle thefts. I have a son, age 5, who has a scooter. Why not impose a tax on him? Also, the baby, who has a buggy? They're already catching me for $23.50 on my car. J. C.

WARRANTY DEED.

Polo, Ill., Aug. 19.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Will you please explain the difference between a [1] warranty deed and a [2] special warranty deed? In case a special warranty deed is issued [3] is there any method to secure a warranty deed in the future? E. R.

1. The grantor makes general warranties that the title is good.

2. The grantor merely warrants that he has done nothing to cloud the title. Special warranty deeds are ordinarily used by trustees.

3. If you see any advantage to it, you can convey to a friend and have him reconvey to you by a warranty deed but we do not understand what you wish to accomplish. The title that you receive under the original conveyance depends on the title that the grantor had more than on the kind of deed that he uses. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

2 COUNTY BOARD MEMBERS RESIST DREAM HIGHWAY

Oppose Spending Funds to Purchase Land.

County Commissioners William N. Erickson and William Busse yesterday voiced opposition to spending any county funds for rights of way along the route of the proposed 42 million dollar Congress street superhighway, on the ground that money to complete the project is not even in sight and construction work cannot be started until after the war.

The City of Chicago, has urged the county to start spending $5,000,000 for part of the Congress street right of way which will cost an estimated total of $21,915,000, or more than the actual construction cost. In spite of uncertainties that the project will be put thru, the city has already started pouring more than 5½ million dollars into land purchases. This money is being taken from the city's share of state motor fuel taxes.

Pledges of Funds Lacking.

These property purchases by the city are in the face of the refusal so far of the state and federal governments to contribute funds toward the highway project. The city's theoretical plans call for the spending by state and federal agencies of $20,592,000, or nearly half the total cost.

Mayor Kelly said yesterday that he opposed the plan for a Congress street highway several years ago, but was convinced after engineering surveys that it was the best place to start a superhighway system.

"It is important to have post war projects ready for employment of men and it is important to speed in every way the opening of a highway thru the west side," the mayor said. "The west side bottleneck must be broken."

$3,200,000 Set Aside.

Commissioner Erickson said the county board has set aside $3,200,000 of the county's share of motor fuel taxes for Congress street, but that there is no sense in buying land with this money unless the other governments agree to put up funds and unless materials can be obtained soon to start construction.

Commissioner Busse explained that the city and county could not possibly finance the entire highway project alone and hence no money shoul be spent unless the other governments make a commitment. He also asserted that the proposed highway would only run to the city limits and would not serve Cook county residents outside Chicago altho their gasoline taxes are to be used under the city's plan.

Civic Leaders Oppose Plan.

At the same time, civic leaders on the northwest side charged that the Congress street land purchases by the city are bailing out real estate owners on the west side at huge expense to residents of other sections where superhighways are badly needed and could be built without buying a costly right of way.

"If the city wants to help out real estate interests on the west side, the Congress street program certainly does it," said George J. Eckhoff, former president of the Norwood Park Citizens' association.

Edward F. Boyle, chairman of the highway committee of the Northwest Improvement association, said the city is showing unfair discrimination by using available gasoline taxes from residents thruout the city to benefit only the west side.

LAWYER SEIZED AFTER 2 CHARGE THREAT WITH GUN

Julius Reznik, 40 years old, 4711 North Monticello avenue, an attorney with offices at 1018 North Dearborn street and 105 West Madison street, was arrested by police last night after an altercation with two Negroes in the hallway of the Dearborn street building. Reznik was booked on two charges of disorderly conduct and one charge of carrying concealed weapons.

He was released on bonds signed by Municipal Judge George L. Quilici, who called at the East Chicago avenue police station and insisted that Reznik be booked at once, to permit his release on bond, declaring, "That man is a lawyer and should not be made to undergo the humiliation of a showup."

Police said the two Negroes, Joseph Haynes, houseman for the Palette and Chisel club of 1012 North Dearborn street, and his assistant, Cleveland Washington of 2507 Michigan avenue, accused Reznik of threatening them with a loaded .38 caliber revolver. Both Negroes signed complaints against Reznik and Detective Philip Shore signed the concealed weapon complaint.

ALL PASSENGERS ON GRIPSHOLM LEAVE VESSEL

Jersey City, N. J., Aug. 27 (AP).—The last of 1,451 passengers disembarked tonight from the diplomat exchange liner Gripsholm which brought them here Tuesday from the Orient.

About 175 government officials had worked intensely since the big white ship docked, examining the repatriates before allowing them to set foot on United States soil.

Jesse E. Saugstad, state department representative, said 161 of the passengers had been taken to Ellis Island, where enemy alien cases are investigated, for further examination. An official said these included several American born Japanese who served in the American embassy in Japan.

About 16,000 pieces of baggage were inspected at the pier.

THE QUESTION.

Did you ever overestimate your ability as an amateur plumber or electrician?

WHERE ASKED.

THE ANSWERS.

Hugo C. Greco, insurance broker, 747 South Kenneth avenue—It didn't seem worth while to drive to a repair shop and ask them to fix the cigaret lighter in the car. I tried to find the trouble myself and mixed up some important wires. Then nothing worked and I had a good excuse to take it to the shop.

Donald Ruby, elevator operator, 2836 Rose street, Franklin Park—The drain in the kitchen sink wasn't working. I disconnected the large pipe underneath and then couldn't put things back where they belonged. The sink was completely out of order and couldn't be used until after the plumber fixed it the next day.

August Chibucos, bartender, 1628 Warren avenue—I had done a few odd jobs of repairing the plumbing around the house so I had just enough confidence to install a shower in the bathroom. Everything went well and the job seemed simple. I even put up the shower curtain. When I turned on the water it squirted in every direction except down.

Alan Rice, radio singer, 4000 Washington boulevard—The electric fan stopped working on one of the hottest nights. I thought I would fix it. While I was working on the motor I picked up two wires. Two deep burns on the palm of my hand only added to the discomfort of the night.

Roslyn Sussman, student, 4000 Washington boulevard—The men remarked about how handy my mother was in repairing the iron cords and other small things. When the iron cord didn't work I tried to fix it. I blew out a fuse and was left in the dark. That was my last attempt at electrical work.

G. H. Kurtz, director industrial clinic, 4000 West Washington boulevard—Every job I've done as a plumber has turned out all right. I thought I'd see if I wasn't a good amateur electrician. I had watched an electrician work and had seen him stick his finger in an open socket to see if it was "alive." I made one test like that and decided I wasn't any kind of an electrician.

Hundreds of Tons attended the 47th annual reunion of the Ton Family, Inc., yesterday in the Thornton forest preserve. The unit numbers 1,472 members and is the largest incorporated family in the United States.

"We ran races and played ball just as in the past," read a letter, a copy of which was sent by the Ton family to each of the 34 members serving in the armed forces, "but somehow it wasn't quite the same without you." The letters were signed by all reunion guests.

Cynthia Rae Hosking was the smallest Ton at the fête. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Hosking, 1706 Sunnyside aveneu, she was one month old yesterday. John Koster, 84 year old resident of South Holland, was the oldest Ton present. He is the second oldest of the clan. The oldest, Mrs. George Eenigenburg of Lansing is 85, and automatically became the corporation's new honorary president.

A message from Queen Wilhemina of the Netherlands was conveyed to the clan thru her majesty's principal secretary, Van Tets Van Goudriaan. She thanked the Tons for their greeting to her on her birthday, which their festivities celebrate.

CHICAGO BOARD ASKS 4½% BOOST IN RENT CEILING

Petition Directed to OPA Cites Higher Costs.

An allowance of at least 4½ per cent above the March 1, 1942, rent ceiling in the Chicago area to cover reported increases in operating costs and taxes was requested by the Chicago Real Estate board in a petition mailed last night to Price Administrator Leon Henderson.

The formal petition follows an informal request made last May after the Office of Price Administration designated Cook, Kane, Du Page, and Lake counties as an area where rents were rising under the stimulus of the war program.

Ronald J. Chinnock, president of the real estate board, asserted that the OPA is required to respond to the petition in 30 days. He said OPA field analysts have studied the trend of operating costs of Chicago rental properties for several weeks.

Statistics Are Presented.

The petition, containing 50 pages of text, statistics and exhibits, was drawn by Attorneys Vernon M. Walsh and Andrew C. Hamilton of the firm of Kirkland, Fleming, Green, Martin, & Ellis.

The realty board bases its request for an "adjustment factor" on the contention that most of the March 1, 1942, rent ceilings were negotiated in February and March, 1941, when May 1, 1941, leases were being signed. Welsh said 60 per cent of the more than 600,000 dwellings in Chicago are subject to May leases.

Welsh said the rent ceilings actually froze rents at May 1, 1941, levels for about 60 per cent of the dwellings and at Oct. 1, 1941, levels for the remainder subject to leases.

Point to Operating Costs.

Between May 1, 1941, and March 1, 1942, landlord operating costs have risen substantially, Welsh explained. He said the petition cites such increased costs as a $1.25 to $1.50 a ton rise in some grades of coal, a 15 to 30 per cent increase in carpeting prices, and a 25 per cent rise in decorating costs. He said this year for the first time janitors were given a two week paid vacation, which resulted in higher janitor costs.

Chinnock asserted that landlords in the Chicago area have not been reported attempting to violate rent control by the pretended sale of property to prospective tenants as has been reported in some other cities.

He returned this week from Washington, D. C., where he protested against a proposed OPA regulation to require a minimum 30 per cent down payment in the sale of rental properties. OPA was considering such a step to curb property owners who were evading rent ceilings by requiring tenants to enter a sales contract which provided for a monthly payment higher than the rent ceiling.

BRITISH SERVICE MAN'S PAY EQUALS THE $12 A WEEK OF CIVILIAN LIFE

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, Aug. 27.—A government white paper issued today attempted to give some idea of the real value of pay allowances, both cash and in kind, received by the British service man compared with earnings of the civilian worker. Taking the value of board, lodging, and clothing at $7 weekly, unmarried service men on minimum pay of $3.50 weekly receive food, clothing, and lodging valued at $10.50 weekly in civil life. The latter sum represents approximately the net income after payment of income tax from gross earnings of $12 weekly in civil life.

With payments such as proficiency pay and other increments which are payable after certain periods of service, amounting to a further $1.75 weekly, the unmarried private after three years receives the equivalent to taxable earnings of $15.60 weekly.

As ranks go up earnings become higher.

CITY DWELLERS DEMAND LITTLE CANNING SUGAR

Consumption Much Below That of Rural Areas.

The city housewife still likes to buy her canned fruits and preserves at the grocery instead of working over a hot stove during the summer.

This was made apparent yesterday in a report by John C. Weigel, regional administrator of the Office of Price administration, on the consumption of sugar for home canning. The OPA allows local war price and rationing boards to realese, in addition to the regular ½ pound a week sugar ration, one pound of sugar for each four quarts of finished fruits to be packed and one pound per person for preserves, jams, jellies, and fruit butters.

July Consumption Light.

Thru an analysis of the tabulation of requests of extra sugar for home canning, Weigel learned that in July only 1.6 per cent of the 4,363,112 persons in the Chicago metropolitan area who registered for sugar rationing requested extra sugar allotments for canning. The average per capita allotment of the extra rations was 0.26 of a pound of sugar.

In a predominantly agricultural state such as North Dakota, for example, Weigel discovered that 10.1 per cent of the 594,710 registered sugar users asked for home canning rations and the per capita allotment for the state was 3.3 pounds of sugar in July.

Consumption for Region.

	Total Sugar Allowed [lbs.]	Per Capita [lb.]
Rest of Illinois	8,226,884	2.3
Iowa	3,956,386	1.6
Minnesota	5,751,001	2.1
Nebraska	2,297,350	1.8
North Dakota	1,978,923	3.3
South Dakota	947,936	1.6
Wisconsin	6,180,784	2.0
Region	30,468,013	1.6

Iowa	15,850,818	6.5
Minnesota	17,087,401	6.4
Nebraska	5,698,582	4.6
North Dakota	3,398,057	5.7
South Dakota	3,119,806	5.3
Wisconsin	16,178,737	5.3
Region, total	92,706,847	5.0

Weigel noted that the allotment of extra rations of sugar for home canning in the region average 26.5 pounds per family. North Dakota families received the largest average allotment—32 pounds and Chicago families the lowest, 16.7 pounds.

GIRLS TAKE OVER RADIO CONTROLS, BRITON REPORTS

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Scores of girls from 18 to 20 years old are serving the British Broadcasting corporation as engineers, Maurice Gorham, director of the North American service for the BBC, said in Chicago yesterday. Gorham is studying the reaction of Americans to the BBC beamings to the United States and Canada.

It was startling at first, said Gorham, to see young girls, trained to take the places of men, handling studio controls, but now the personnel is accustomed to it. Gorham said BBC overseas transmissions now emanate from a new building, constructed with deep underground studios in Oxford circus. Broadcasting House, the home of the BBC, which was heavily bombed two years ago, is still used for the domestic service.

Tells of Programs.

Gorham provided some background information on two BBC programs, which W-G-N and Mutual rebroadcast, featuring messages from American soldiers in the British Isles. These are the American Eagle club, aired on W-G-N at 10:30 a. m., and the Stars and Stripes in Britain at 6:30 p. m. Sundays.

The morning program comes from the American Eagle club at Charing Cross road near Trafalgar square, he said. A microphone is taken there and the master of ceremonies interviews any soldier or sailor on hand.

Stars Interview Men.

The Stars and Stripes show is broadcast from the Oxford circus building with Ben Lyon and Bebe Daniels, former American film stars, conducting the interviews.

Interviews with men in North Ireland are transcribed, sent to England, and cut into this Sunday evening show.

Gorham yesterday regretted having converted his pounds into dollars. As he slept a burglar entered his suite in Hotel Sherman and took his billfold, which contained $100.

"If the money had been in pounds," observed Gorham, "the thief might have had trouble getting rid of it."

MAYOR REPORTS CALUMET CITY IS QUIET AS TOMB

Mayor John Jaranowski of Calumet City and his chief of police, Henry Wleklinski, reported to Assistant State's Attorney Samuel Friedman yesterday that vice and gambling which reportedly came under grand jury scrutiny two weeks ago now have been eliminated.

Jaranowski said that Calumet City, said to have more taverns in proportion to population than any other city in the United States, now is as quiet as a tomb. Six of the suburb's 138 taverns have closed, the mayor said, and all of the hostesses have been driven out. Tavern loudspeakers have been outlawed and couples who used to make love on the side streets have stopped after being threatened with arrest, Jaranowski reported.

Friedman, who said the report would be made to the grand jury when it reconvenes next week, said his investigators had verified Jaranowski's statements.

TEA TO FEATURE CEREMONY FOR 166 AT ILLINOIS TECH

The tea will be served to 18 women graduates in ordnance inspection when they receive their certificates at ceremonies in the home economics department whose micrometers have superseded sewing baskets.

The women have spent 10 weeks studying precision inspection, a course also taken by the 125 men who will hold graduation exercises an hour after the women have had their tea. Dean C. L. Clarke of the Lewis division of the institute will preside. Twenty-three naval ordnance inspection students, part of Illinois Tech's program to adapt 4-F men to war production work, will also be graduated.

Mayor Names September as 'Constitution Month'

Mayor Kelly yesterday designated September "Constitution month" in Chicago, in commemoration of significant events in the history of the United States. The treaty of peace officially ending the Revolutionary war with England was signed Sept. 3, 1783; Francis Scott Key wrote the national anthem, "The Star Spangled Banner," in September, 1814; Lincoln issued the Emancipation Proclamation Sept. 22, 1862, and Constitution day long has been observed on Sept. 17.

THOMAS FULTON SAVAGE JR.

Cadet Thomas Fulton Savage Jr., 705 Custer avenue, Evanston, got his pork chop training at Evanston Township High school and Monmouth college. Officers at University of Iowa preflight school were reported surprised when Savage, 22 years old, devoured 14 pork chops and all the trimmings recently during one dinner. They said they thought he'd gone hog wild. But young Savage was a football player and president of his class in high school as well as at college, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Savage, said yesterday, and his capacity for pork chops was developed on the gridiron.

CALLS SOLDIERS CRAZY; JAILED BY FATHER OF 3

Raymond Brandt, 25 years old, 1142 South St. Louis avenue, spent last night in a Sheffield avenue police cell because he contended any one, not excepting Policeman Francis J. Gallagher and his three sons, is crazy if he joins the army.

Brandt expressed his opinion of army service just as Policeman Gallagher was on the point of releasing him with a warning after questioning him on suspicion of selling flowers without a license. Gallagher asked, casually:

"Why aren't you in the army at your age?"

Brandt replied, not so casually: "Do you think I'm crazy?"

Policeman Gallagher wanted to know what's crazy about being in the army. He remarked that he had three sons in the army, one a lieutenant in the air corps, and that he himself is planning to enlist this fall.

"If you're all that crazy," Brandt declared, "then you all ought to be in the army."

The policeman's answer was a call for a patrol wagon. Today Brandt will appear in Town Hall court on a charge of peddling merchandise without a city license.

DE PAUL REOPENS JOB CLINICS FOR COLLEGE GRADS

De Paul university's "man-marketing" clinic will resume its activities Wednesday evening at 64 East Lake street, but this fall the employment problems of women may claim the major share of the attention of clinic advisors.

Open to graduates of all universities, the clinic was organized four years ago primarily for men. At the last meeting in July, however, 75 per cent of those in attendance were women, and with the increasing importance of women in business and industry because of the war it is expected that the men again will be outnumbered in the coming months.

Robert Burhams of Montgomery Ward & Co. will be chairman of next week's clinic. Volunteer counselors will be M. R. Zelder, personnel director, Edison General Electric Appliance company, and Harry Wylie, budget director, Pure Oil company. Part of the program will be devoted to a discussion of the war time need for women in civil service, the army and the navy, as well as in private industry.

Purpose of the clinic, which will be repeated monthly, is to assist job-seekers in obtaining positions for which they are best fitted.

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 27 (AP).—Sixty thousand downstate Illinois residents evaded the hygienic marriage law last year by going outside of the state for weddings, the state health department estimated today. The estimate was based on reports that only 23,822 marriage licenses were issued in downstate Illinois last year, compared with 54,545 issued in 1936, the last year before enactment of the state law requiring blood tests.

Reason: Less Driving, More Caution.

A 30 per cent reduction in traffic fatalities in the nation in July, 1942, compared with July, 1941, was reported by the National Safety council yesterday.

The council's monthly statement said that 2,300 persons lost their lives in automobile accidents last month and 3,290 were killed in the same period last year. The toll was said to be the lowest July total since 1926.

Auto Travel Decreases.

Releasing statistics showing a 9 per cent decrease in mileage figures for the nation's traveling in the first six months of this year, the council declared the 30 per cent reduction in deaths was due to a decrease in miles driven and more careful operation.

For the first seven months of 1942 there were 16,870 auto accident deaths, the council reported. It predicted that continuation of the present rate would mean about 30,000 would be killed in the entire year. This would represent a 10,000 decrease under 1941.

Illinois Rate 33%.

Regional figures showed the north central states, including Illinois, posted a 33 per cent reduction in July, 1942, under July of 1941 and were exceeded only by the south Atlantic and south central states where a 35 per cent slash was recorded.

Cities of over 500,000 population had an average death rate of 14.3 per 100,000 population for the first seven months. Milwaukee, with only 4 deaths in July, was the safest city, with an average rate of 7.9. Chicago was tenth of these cities, with 40 deaths in July and an average rate of 14.3.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 460 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of this number 355 were killed in Chicago, where 13,393 were injured in the same period.

2 TRIPLE YOLKED EGGS FOUND BY PRODUCE FIRM

Within an hour yesterday two eggs with three yolks each were discovered by Waukegan candlers.

Richard Kessler, head of the Badger Produce company, 1307 Belvidere street, Waukegan, while candling eggs, discovered an oversized one, examined it and found it contained three yolks.

A few minutes later, Joseph Morabito, regular candler for the firm, discovered another.

"In our 25 years in business we've handled more than four million dozen eggs and never before found an egg with more than two yolks," said Kessler.

CORONER'S JURY CLEARS POLICE IN DODGE DEATH

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 27 (AP).—A coroner's jury reported today that John Duval Dodge, son of the late multimillionaire automobile manufacturer, came to his death on Aug. 13 by accidental means and that no crime was involved.

For six days the jury heard testimony from police officers and acquaintances of Dodge, who died more than 24 hours after he was arrested and taken to a local precinct police station following a disturbance in an east side residential area. An autopsy showed that Dodge had suffered a 10 inch fracture of the skull.

100 ALIENS SEIZED IN FBI RAIDS IN 9 JERSEY COUNTIES

Newark, N. J., Aug. 27 (AP).—Approximately 100 aliens were arrested by special agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation in sweeping raids which started at 6:30 a. m. today in nine northern New Jersey counties, E. E. Conroy, assistant director of the FBI, announced.

The raids, with more than 200 local police officers participating, were directed against members of the Nazi party in this country, aliens who had stated they will not fight for the United States and want to return to Germany, and members and supporters of the defunct German-American bund, Conroy said.

Also arrested were purchasers of Rueckwanderer marks—known as "return to Germany marks"—by which buyers accumulate credits in Germany and must go there to spend the marks, Conroy said. The arrests were made on Presidential warrants issued by the attorney general after an extensive FBI probe, Conroy said.

BARRETT URGES INJUNCTIONS IN FIGHT ON VICE

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 27 (AP).—Attorney General George F. Barrett recommended to all state's attorneys and sheriffs today that court injunctions be obtained to suppress houses of prostitution.

The recommendation, asked by State's Attorney Joseph J. Tolson of Kankakee, said that such vice resorts are recognized as public nuisances and can be enjoined against operating if more than one act of prostitution is proven.

A copy of the opinion was sent to United States Attorney General Francis Biddle with a letter from Barrett which said that "the officers of the armed forces and the civilian officials charged with procurement of war materials can be assured of the full and complete coöperation of the state's attorneys and sheriffs of Illinois in the abatement of the prostitution evil."

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

POLICEMEN TURN COWBOYS IN VAIN INDIANA ROUNDUP

In Wyoming or Texas the sight would have created no talk. But down among the Indiana sand dunes some four miles west of Michigan City there was astonishment and consternation yesterday afternoon when state policemen hastily traded their motorcycles for horses and, with improvised lariats, tried to run down and capture 12 extremely active longhorn steers.

The animals had been loosed when a truck driven by A. C. Schaik, of Aurora, toppled over in route 12 when one of its wheels rolled off. Bawling their dismay, the steers dashed for the dunes. It was then that State Policemen James McKee, Robert Downs, and Charles Sutherland borrowed some cow ponies and went on a roundup.

Admittedly they had poor success. If the steers didn't outdistance them, they proved too agile to be roped Indiana style. At last reports the policemen were waiting for some trained cowboys to come from the Chicago stockyards, to which the animals were consigned.

HELICOPTER AGE TO FOLLOW WAR, SAYS SIKORSKY

Stratford, Conn., Aug. 27 [Special].—A new air age in which thousands of Americans will fly about their business and pleasure after the war in their own helicopters was predicted today by Igor Sikorsky, Russian born aeronautical engineer.

His statement was made at a demonstration here of the Vought-Sikorsky experimental helicopter. Charles L. Morris, engineering test pilot, took up the float equipped aircraft and held it motionless above the Housatonic river for the benefit of photographers.

Sikorsky expressed a conviction that the manufacture, sale, and upkeep of the direct lift machine will become a billion dollar industry within 10 years after the war. He said the aircraft will be foolproof and that any one who can operate a motor car, young or middle aged, can pilot it easily.

PROBE PETRILLO MUSIC 'TYRANNY,' CONGRESS ASKED

Clark and Vandenberg Hit Ban on Recordings.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Sen. D. W. Clark.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27.—A far reaching congressional investigation of the American Federation of Musicians and its president, James C. Petrillo, was asked in the senate today as a result of Petrillo's recent ban on musical recordings by federation members.

The chamber also heard a blistering denunciation of the union czar's "gangster tactics" and charges that his "tyrannical order" would jeopardize the national morale during the war emergency by depriving millions of Americans of the opportunity to enjoy recordings and imperil the existence of hundreds of small radio stations which depend largely upon canned music for their programs.

Soldiers and sailors in camp and at outposts or afloat would be deprived of recreation by means of radios and phonographs, it was said, and thousands of persons employed in the recording industry would be thrown out of work.

"Strong Leadership" Needed.

Coupled with the attack upon Petrillo's union leadership was the solemn warning that "strong, competent labor leadership" will be necessary in the postwar readjustment period. Sen. D. Worth Clark [D., Ida.] praised the wartime activities of organized labor on the whole but asserted that "an ugly note has reared its head, causing great disunity in the war effort."

"That ugly note is a gentleman by the name of James Caesar Petrillo," he told his colleagues. "By virtue of his power, by virtue of his gangster acts, if you please, he undertakes to put out of business a whole industry and prevent working people in that industry from making a livelihood."

Petrillo's decree against mechanical music reproductions came shortly after he ruled that the famed high school music festival at Interlochen, Mich., could not be broadcast because the participants were not members of his union.

Setback for Education.

The resolution introduced by Sen. Clark asserted that the young students were thus deprived of their freedom to make known their musical talents while the entire national musical education program suffered a serious setback.

The department of justice has, since these occurrences, filed suit against Petrillo and the federation, charging numerous violations of the Sherman anti-trust law. The complaint is awaiting a hearing in the federal District court in Chicago.

The resolution would empower the interstate commerce committee to make a full inquiry into the effects upon the national welfare and public morale resulting from the order banning recordings.

The committee would consider restraints on trade in the manufacture of musical reproductions and in the control of music in this country, it was explained. According to the resolution, it would also concern itself with the various financial arrangements, including salaries, bonuses, and other honorariums, affecting the manufacture of recordings.

JURY TO HEAR 20 MORE WITNESSES IN HAUPT INQUIRY

United States Attorney J. Albert Woll said yesterday that he expected to conclude early next week the grand jury investigation involving six Chicagoans accused of aiding Herbert Hans Haupt, executed Nazi spy. Woll said he expected to call about 20 more witnesses.

The defendants are Haupt's parents, Max and Erna Haupt, 2234 Fremont street; Kate and Otto Wergin, 5416 South Wood street, Haupt's friends; and Walter and Lucille Froehling, 3643 North Whipple street, his uncle and aunt.

Friends and acquaintances of the six suspects were reported to have testified yesterday. They are Ray Zacharski, 3643 North Whipple; Mrs. Clarea Vogelsang, 2323 Montrose avenue; Mrs. Dora Eggert, 3438 North Seeley avenue; Mrs. Harriet Polanski, 3643 Whipple, and Mrs. Effie Kibar, 11927 Lowe avenue.

Playful Goats Lassoed by Pekin Inn Policemen

The Pekin Inn police station last night resounded to the bleating of two imprisoned goats, lassoed by Policeman Dan Jackson and his squad. The goats were captured after they had ambled along South Wabash avenue poking wet noses against store windows and playfully threatening to butt people. While the goats baaa'd their defiance thru the cell bars Desk Sergt. William J. Hoffman called the stockyards and detailed patrolmen in all directions to find the animals' owner.

Art for a Campaign

An original painting was presented yesterday by Edgar Aberman, 17 years old, 1617 Granville avenue, to the United States Maritime commission for use in its campaign to obtain 10,000 recruits in Illinois, Wisconsin, and Indiana by Jan. 1.

The painting, entitled "Deliver the Goods," and depicting a young sailor at the wheel of a ship, may be reproduced in poster form for use in the drive, the office said. Its acceptance was the last official act here of Warrant Officer P. A. Williamson, who left later in the day for other duty. He was replaced as head of the office by Chief Warrant Officer Robert T. Sexton.

Held to Jury on Vending Machine Slug Charges

Harry R. Harris, 32 years old, operator of a novelty store at 519 Madison street, waived examination before United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker yesterday and was held to the grand jury on a charge of possession of metal slugs intended for use as money in vending machines. Bond was set at $500. Benjamin Glaser, 45, of 501 Madison street, who is accused of buying slugs from Harris, was held to the grand jury Tuesday on the same charge.

SEDITION JURORS PETITION IN VAIN TO BE EXCUSED

Reappointed to Serve for Another Month.

The special federal grand jury investigating seditious activities, at the request of Attorney General Francis Biddle, went back into session for at least another month yesterday after five members had petitioned in vain to be relieved of further service.

Judge Philip L. Sullivan turned down the jurors' pleas after William J. Connors, first assistant United States attorney, told him the whole investigation, in progress since last April 1, might collapse if the five were discharged. Connors admitted the jurors' excuses were valid, but said the five months' work so far accomplished would be endangered if their petitions were granted.

Work Started April 1.

The group was impaneled as a regular grand jury on April 1, but on April 23 was ordered by the attorney general to sit as a special body to investigate sedition in the Chicago area. Since then its members have been reappointed from month to month.

Charles F. Lasch, 1447 Norwood avenue, asked to be relieved because he has lost a partner and an important clerk in his insurance business and is needed there. Mrs. Marion Wagstaff of La Grange sought to be excused because her husband has been employed in Washington for the last year and she wants to move there in time to place a child in school on Sept. 10.

Scores of Witnesses Heard.

W. F. Wagner of Morris, pleaded illness. He said he is more than 65 years old and it is a hardship for him to continue serving. Louis Berta of Oglesby, said he is employed in an advisory capacity in a defense plant. John Mack cited an automobile accident injury which has kept him away from service for two weeks already. Wagner and Berta said they also have been absent much of the time.

Judge Sullivan said an amendment to the federal grand jury statute passed on April 17, 1940 gives judges the power to discharge any federal grand juror and appoint another in his place. He said he was doubtful of the amendment's constitutionality, however, and feared any indictments returned by the grand jury might be invalidated if he relieved the present members and appointed others.

Connors told the court the jury has investigated 15 organizations and 14 publications, and has heard scores of witnesses. He said several organizations remain to be looked into and that there is ahead at least two weeks' if not a month's work.

COURT REVIVES SUSPENDED FINE OF SEX OFFENDER

A fine of $100 imposed Aug. 18 on Ernest Andreas, 31 years old, for indecent exposure but suspended for a year on the condition there be no further violations, was revived by Judge Oscar S. Caplan in South State street court yesterday when Andreas was brought in on a new offense.

Andreas was assused in the new charge of exposing himself Aug. 17 to a young woman residing on the northwest side. She wrote the license number of his car with lipstick on the palm of her hand and police seized him two days later.

The $100 fine was revived when Judge Caplan recognized Andreas as the latter pleaded for and was granted a jury trial in the new case.

SEEKS DIVORCE FROM MATE HELD IN BABY'S DEATH

Mrs. Linda H. Clayton, 806 14th street, North Chicago, yesterday filed in the Lake county Circuit court suit for divorce from her husband, Joseph, charging adultery. Clayton is in jail in Waukegan in lieu of $1,500 bond. He is charged with accessory before the fact in concealing the death of a child, in connection with the disposal of the body of a baby born to Mrs. Betty Jane Sheehan.

Mrs. Clayton asked support for herself and their two children, Theodore, 10 years old, and Marilyn, 5. She listed last Jan. 15 as one date on which her husband committed adultery, and said there were several other dates.

Clayton admitted to authorities that he threw the body of a baby born to Mrs. Sheehan into the Des Plaines river July 5. Mrs. Sheehan is to go on trial today on charges of concealing the death of her child. His trial is scheduled next Tuesday.

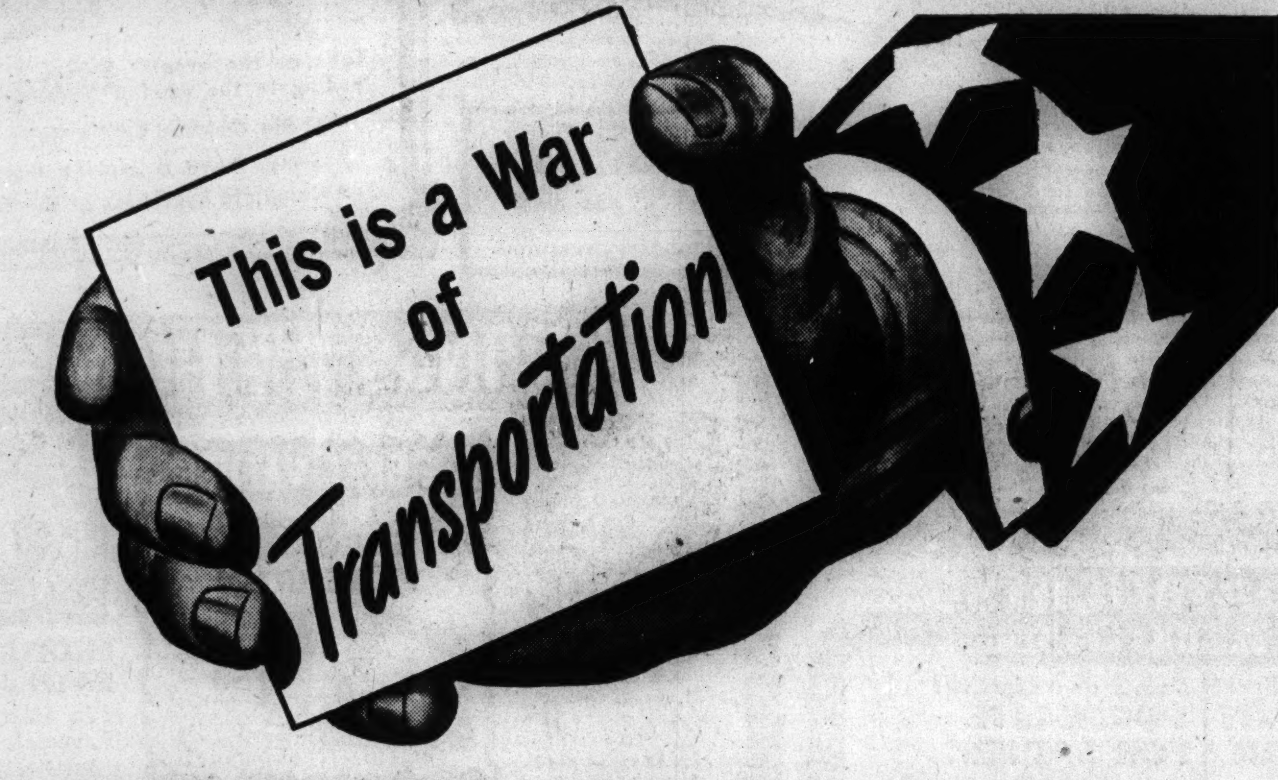
3 FINED IN DRAFT DEFERMENT BRIBE EXCHANGE CASE

Danville, Ill., Aug. 27 (AP).—Two former members of a Clinton county selective service board at Carlyle and a Carlyle merchant were fined and sentenced in federal court today in connection with a bribe to defer a draftee six months.

Joseph Schuette, the merchant charged with giving the bribe, was fined a total of $1,930 on two charges and given a suspended sentence of six months. The board members, George Kahlert and Oscar Spaeth, were fined $300 each and given a six months' suspended sentence. All were put on three years' probation.

2 BANDITS ROB SCHOOLBOY, BUT HE FLOORS ONE

Two bandits took $38 from William Cusser, 18 years old, a Harper High school pupil, yesterday—but not before he had knocked one of them to the ground and had torn a coat sleeve from the other. Cusser, who is 6 feet 3 inches tall and weighs 240 pounds, told Chicago Lawn police that the two accosted him near his home at 6618 South Oakley avenue. He hit one of the men, he said, but the other leaped on his back and held him while the first struggled to his feet and began beating him.



This is a War of Transportation

So if you plan a trip over Labor Day

Please remember

WAR TRAVEL COMES FIRST!

TROOPS must move. Raw materials must go through. War supplies must roll. Government and important war business traffic must have cars.

Labor Day as well as any other day the war effort has first call. So please keep this in mind if you plan to go away by train over the three-day holiday.

To the best of our ability, we shall endeavor to accommodate you but should you be inconvenienced we ask your patience and understanding.

If You Plan to Travel by Train Here are Helpful Suggestions

1 Try to leave Wednesday or Thursday preceding Labor Day, thus avoiding heavy week-end travel. Return after Labor Day, if possible.

2 Buy your Tickets well in advance. And buy round-trip tickets. You save time at ticket windows—and money also.

3 Please try to stop in at the station or city ticket office to secure information or make reservations. If you phone you may encounter delay as telephone facilities are sometimes overloaded.

4 Travel "light". Take as little luggage as possible. That makes for more comfort all 'round.

5 If you're going Pullman, please accept whatever accommodations are available. And if you decide to postpone your trip, please cancel your space at once so that it can be assigned to others.

Warns Farm Income Must Be Controled, Too.

BY JOHN FISHER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27.—Both American and Canadian efforts to control inflation will fail unless the United States imposes ceilings on wages and farm prices, the price fixers for both countries agreed today. They are Leon Henderson, price administrator for the United States, and Donald Gordon, chairman of Canada's Wartime Prices and Trade board, who held a joint press conference in Henderson's headquarters.

Donald Gordon.

The conference demonstrated that Canada is leading the way in price controls and anti-inflation steps on this continent. The two administrators of price and rationing policies told a press conference that they have been collaborating and have agreed that strict wage and farm price controls are needed urgently in the United States.

President Promises Action.

The Roosevelt administration so far has exempted wages and farm commodities from the stringent controls exercised over other segments of the national economy, in deference to the organized labor and farm vote, but the President has announced that he will make recommendations for restrictions on these two groups in a message to congress and a "fireside chat" probably on Labor day, Sept. 7.

"If the United States doesn't go as far as we do, it's going to make the pressure on our ceilings pretty hard to handle," Gordon explained. "If your price level here gives way, it obviously intensifies our difficulties. I'm afraid we won't be able to control the situation indefinitely if the United States doesn't do likewise."

Wages Linked to Prices.

In Canada wages have been frozen since last fall, with periodic adjustments made on the basis of changes in living costs as reflected in an index. Prices of farm commodities also are strictly controled.

Asked about the importance of fixing limits on wage boosts, Gordon replied that "in my judgment a price ceiling cannot be fully effective without a wage ceiling."

Henderson admitted that he had reached that conclusion and that he and Gordon have been discussing the imposition of such controls in the United States.

Henderson said that Canada is far ahead of this country in its anti-inflation program, citing its wage and farm price restrictions, enforced savings, and more stringent fiscal controls generally.

The United States and Canada have tried to keep abreast on the degree of sacrifices requested of civilians thru rationing of commodities, Henderson asserted.

Sacrifices About Even.

So far in Canada rationing has been extended to sugar, coffee, tea, tires, automobiles, gasoline, and typewriters, Gordon said.

Canada has been paying subsidies to encourage production in essentials or to relieve difficulties suffered thru price and rationing squeezes in essential industries. So far the country has paid out between 10 and 12 million dollars. The recent subsidy of 25 cents a hundred pounds on fluid milk may mean an outlay of 15 millions annually, according to Gordon.

The dominion is facing difficulties thru higher price levels for cattle and dairy products in the United States, said Gordon. On cattle, prices in the United States run about $1.50 per hundred pounds higher than in Canada, he asserted.

Friend of the Yanks' Kin

BY SALLY JOY BROWN

[This department will answer questions covering problems related to the social welfare of relatives of service men, both in the column and by mail, if stamped, addressed envelopes are sent with inquiries.]

Mrs. E. W. writes: "I am the wife of a soldier and we have a child, 5 years old. I wonder if you can tell me the address in Washington where I may write for papers to apply for the allotment provided for soldiers' wives and children?"

ANSWER: It is important that all dependents refrain from making applications for benefits under the service men's dependents law unless they are positive the soldier has not submitted one. Application forms have been distributed to service men everywhere. Duplicate applications, filed by both a soldier and his dependents, will only cause confusion and delay approval of the allowance. If you are certain your husband has not already made an application for benefits for you and your child, it will not be necessary for you to write to Washington. Go to the nearest chapter of the American Red Cross. Many chapters have the official application blanks on hand, and those which do not can tell you where they may be obtained. Official forms must be used; letters or other informal applications will not be accepted.

From Mrs. C. A.: "My only son has been reported missing by the navy. I try to cheer myself by thinking of many cases which occurred during the last war, when boys who were reported missing turned up, alive and well. I understand that the lists of men taken prisoner by the Japs are not yet complete. If my son is discovered to be a prisoner of war will the navy notify me?"

ANSWER: Just as soon as any information comes thru, the relatives of men who are prisoners of war are notified. However, it is seldom possible to have complete information about all our service men who are in enemy hands during war time, and you are wise not to give up hope.

Mrs. L. B. writes: "My husband is in the army. In his letters he informed me that he is overseas, but he doesn't say where. I have only an army postoffice number to write to, while many of my friends know where their husbands are located. Can I get more information by writing to the war department in Washington?"

ANSWER: The station and location of many soldiers who are outside the United States are military secrets upon which the lives of those men may depend. The exact sites of their camps are never disclosed, even tho men may be permitted to name the country they are in. It would be useless to write to the war department, and relatives are requested not to do so.

Mrs. C. H. asks: "Will you tell me if there is a fund which takes care of dependents of men in the service? I am pregnant and without any income. I am living with my husband's relatives, who are not able to take care of my hospital and doctor bills."

ANSWER: There are several agencies equipped to assist women with problems such as yours, but if you had stated which branch of the service your husband is in it would be easier to advise you. Both the army and navy have relief funds, and the American Red Cross is set up to arrange hospitalization for needy mothers. I suggest you go to your local Red Cross chapter and explain your situation. It will assist you with plans for medical care and for your future maintenance.

SENATORS DROP TAX ON FREIGHT FROM NEW BILL

Approve 5% Levy on Pari-Mutuel Bets.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27 (AP).—The senate finance committee today eliminated from the new tax bill a proposed freight excise tax which the treasury said would have brought in $171,000,000 a year, and approved four other changes which may reduce the bill's total still further.

On the other side of the ledger, the committee stamped its approval on a 5 per cent tax on pari-mutuel wagering, previously voted by the house. Treasury experts estimated that levy would bring in $23,500,000 annually.

Earlier, the group had reaffirmed its approval of a withholding tax on wages and dividends, rejecting a move to cut it out of the bill.

Opposed by Henderson.

The freight tax would have amounted to 5 per cent on all freight charges except on coal, where the rate would have been 5 cents per long ton. Price Administrator Leon Henderson urged its removal, contending it would seriously interfere with the price control program.

The committee voted to authorize railroads and other corporations to purchase their own securities below par, without counting as profit for tax purposes the difference between the price paid and par, and also without declaring the corporation to be in unsound financial condition—a present requirement.

In a further concession railroads which have been reorganized under the bankruptcy act or which gone thru equity receiverships would be allowed to use as their tax base the tax base of the predecessor corporation.

Restore Nonresident Exemption.

The committee voted to restore a provision which the house had eliminated, giving bona fide nonresident citizens of the United States full tax exemption on the income they earn in the foreign country where they live more than 10 months of the taxable year.

Chairman Walter F. George [D., Ga.] said the provision was intended to help American corporations build up high class staffs of commercial representatives abroad. He explained that while the Americans might not have to pay income taxes to the countries of their residence, they would be subject to numerous local taxes and to extraordinary expenses caused by their foreign residence.

The committee restored another provision which had been deleted by the house, to give a similar income tax exemption to Americans living in United States possessions, such as the Canal Zone, even if their income is derived directly or indirectly from the United States government. George said the provision was needed to facilitate employment of skilled help by contractors, especially in the Canal Zone.

Retain Travel Increase.

The committee made no move to change the house increase in the tax on transportation of persons. The present 5 per cent tax on tickets will be raised to 10 per cent under the house bill, adding an estimated $33,900,000 annually in revenue.

The withholding levy on wages and dividends, previously recommended by the treasury and approved by the house as well as the senate committee, would amount to 5 per cent of net taxable income in 1943 and would apply toward income taxes due in March, 1944. In 1944 the levy would rise to 10 per cent.

The committee tentatively approved the levy yesterday, and affirmed its action today by rejecting, 13 to 7, a motion by Sen. Robert A. Taft [R., O.] to delete the provision from the bill.

Taft for Ruml Plan.

Taft told reporters he thought the withholding levy, by itself, would prove "inconvenient and expensive." However, he reiterated his determination to couple it with the "pay-as-you-go" income tax collection plan put forward by Beardsley Ruml, chairman of the New York Federal Reserve bank.

The Ruml plan, tentatively rejected by the committee yesterday, calls for a bookkeeping operation by which taxes on 1941 income would be forgiven and the amounts paid this year would be credited against the tax on 1942 income.

The committee today approved a provision which would grant tax relief to individuals and corporations whose property had been seized or destroyed by enemy nations.

SEES EXPANSION OF GOVERNMENT RULE AFTER WAR

The influence of government and of business will emerge stronger than ever after the war, and that of the family group, religion, and small civic spheres will be weakened, predicts Prof. William F. Ogburn, head of the department of sociology at the University of Chicago.

Prof. Ogburn addressed a public gathering yesterday at the social sciences building on the university campus, declaring that the strengthening of governmental and business influence after the war will be a heightened continuation of the sociological trend gaining impetus before war began.

Acting to slow down the process of an immediate return to the pre-war status quo, he said, will be several factors, chiefly the problems of demobilization, policing of conquered countries, and the lengthy armistice which the people will demand.

3 YEAR FIRE COST CALLED EQUAL TO NAZI BOMB TOLL

The United States loses as much property thru fires every three years as Britain has lost from bombings since the war began, civilian defense officials, fire department members, and army and navy representatives were told at a meeting called by Joel R. Wilson, chairman of the fire prevention committee of the Chicago Association of Commerce in the La Salle hotel yesterday to plan Fire Prevention week, Oct. 4 to 10.

Harry K. Rogers, insurance official, terming the present conflict one of fire, said, "We must prevent disasters like the burning of the Normandie and the Fall River, Mass., rubber plant fire that destroyed one-fifth of our rubber reserve. Unintentional sabotage must stop or victory will be delayed."

Anthony J. Mullaney, chief fire marshal, said altho fires increased 21 per cent in the nation during the first six months of this year, a 34 per cent reduction was recorded in Chicago.

William M. Collins, OCD director of civilian mobilization, announced plans for a drive to reduce home fire hazards by clearing débris from attics and cellars.

LIVING COST RISE IS LAID TO FOODS LACKING CEILINGS

Price Trends Shown in U. S. Bureau's Study.

The dwindling purchasing power of the Chicago housewife's food dollar in recent months results largely from the sharp increase in the price of foods not subject to controls of the Office of Price administration, a study by the federal bureau of labor statistics disclosed yesterday.

The monthly report by the bureau on the average prices of 65 important foods purchased by wage earners and low salaried workers in Chicago showed that the prices of foods covered by the OPA ceilings had been stabilized or had dropped slightly. However, the prices of some uncontroled foods such as chickens and head lettuce, rose.

Warning Given by Henderson.

Price Administrator Leon Henderson has noted the marked increase in the cost of the uncontroled foods and warned that a dangerous pattern is being set which would result in a 30 per cent rise in such foods in a year for the nation as a whole. He based this estimate on a 2.5 per cent rise in uncontroled food prices between June 15 and July 15.

Henderson has stressed the danger of the loopholes in price control which permit the price of apples, grapefruit, oranges, potatoes, sweet potatoes, cabbage, carrots, and lettuce to continue upward unchecked.

Bread Saving Problem Is Solved by U. S. Army

The army has solved the bread saving problem by baking two kinds of loaves—"Garrison bread" has a thin crust like the grocer sells. "Field bread" has a thick crust planned to keep the bread fresh from one to three weeks.

Freshening Vegetables.

Add a pinch of sugar to the cooking water when you're cooking a vegetable which isn't quite as fresh and crisp as it should be. The sugar restores some of the original flavor.

SCIENCE MUSEUM DISPLAY SHOWS DEFENSE IN HOME

'Homemaker and the War' Title of Exhibit.

Take a few tips on defense at the home front from the recently established homemaker's exhibit at the Museum of Science and Industry in Jackson park. This effective exhibit, entitled "The Homemaker and the War," represents the combined efforts of the museum and the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company experts to aid women in efficiently performing their numerous household duties which must be carried on for the duration of the war.

The display portrays the homemaker at her work of buying nutritious foods, planning balanced menus, cooking foods properly to preserve their nutrients, taking care of household equipment to make it last as long as possible, adjusting the budget to provide for the purchase of war bonds, and coöperating with the government in saving fats, rubber, metals, and other scraps of essential war materials.

Photographic murals depict the proper air raid precautions to be taken in the home, and directions are given for the construction of air raid shelters.

The largest single display in the exhibit is devoted to nutrition, where the maintenance of family health is upheld as the most important responsibility of the homemaker in providing for national defense. Miss Kathryn Jameson, home economist at the exhibit, will explain the displays, demonstrate the equipment, and give information to visitors.

Two motion pictures, one on nutrition and the other on the care and use of electrical equipment, will be shown three times daily during the week and continuously on Saturdays and Sundays.

Tips on Tasty Stew.

Plenty of salt and pepper, a little onion, and a few celery tops or parsley will make any meat stew taste good. Keep the meat tender with long, slow cooking.

TRICK TO MAKE CHEAPER BEEF STEAKS TENDER

The less tender cuts of beefsteak often require careful methods of preparation to make them appeal to the family. These skewered "beefsticks" are an excellent variation of the usual braised steak.

Beefsticks.
[Serves four.]

1 pound beefsteak [round, chuck, or flank]
⅓ cup flour
⅛ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
¼ teaspoon celery salt
3 tablespoons fat
3 tablespoons chopped onions
½ cup tomato juice

Cut meat into inch squares and string on four skewers. Mix flour and seasonings and sprinkle over beefsticks, covering thoroly. Brown quickly on all sides in hot fat. Add onions and cook for 3 minutes. Add tomato juice, cover and simmer for 30 minutes, turning occasionally. Serve immediately.

Takes The Place Of Any White Bread Deficient In Natural Flavor, Vitamins And Minerals Because It Contains More Natural Flavor, Wheat Vitamins And Minerals

ALL over town the good news has spread. About this amazing new kind of bread. The bread with "patented flavor," which already has taken the place of ordinary kinds in more than 540,000 American homes:

1. Because it brings more of the rich, natural flavor of wheat full-ripened in the sun than white bread robbed of Nature's bounty. Thus, is better for taste.
2. Because it contains more natural vitamins and minerals of wheat now than ever before thought possible.

You can see the difference at once. Gone is the chalk-white look of the ordinary baker's bread. Instead, this new "patented flavor" kind has the color of the cream on the top of the bottle of milk.

A Remarkable Discovery

Everybody knows the trouble with ordinary white bread. Made from flour bled white in refining to make a whiter loaf. Then Theodore Earle patented his discovery (U. S. Pat. Nos. 2143306, 2232697, 2155219, 2232696). And here is the secret of "patented flavor."

By removing the bad-tasting outer skin of the grain, you get this richer, better tasting loaf. A bread the color of cream; tender in texture and crust. And with more natural vitamins and minerals.

To obtain this amazing new "patented flavor" loaf—ask your grocer for the new Wonder Bread. And see for yourself why women everywhere are quitting ordinary white bread for this new kind at the rate of over 5,000 a week now.

A Great Thrill

Most people are astonished and thrilled by their first taste of this new "patented flavor" Wonder Bread. Not the flat, insipid flavor of the usual chalk-white kind. But refreshingly different! Like the taste of fresh fruit after canned. You'll say it's marvelous!

But discover how much better this new "patented flavor" Wonder Bread tastes. Mothers of growing children and wives of men who work should serve it instead of any ordinary vitamin-deficient kind.

Then, too, "patented flavor" Wonder Bread is doubly fresh—fresh when you buy it and fresh when you eat it. Because slo-baked for lasting freshness—baked 13% longer than many ordinary kinds.

Ask your grocer for the bread with "patented flavor"—the new Wonder Bread—today sure. You, too, will be surprised and thrilled with it.

Variety of Friendships Helps Adjustment of Teen-Age Child

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Boys and girls emerging from the in between ages, 6 to 12, into early adolescence find themselves at rather cross-purposes with life in general; or so it would seem from letters and conversations I've had lately. Of course, all children enter this period of their lives differently. Some adjust readily and others are like square pegs in round holes. It's difficult for both parents and children, and some of the problems that have to be solved are deep-seated and obscure and must be handled with the utmost tact.

Let me quote from a letter of a mother who is deeply interested in her young daughter's happiness.

"I am the mother of a 13 year old daughter, and for the first time in the 13 years, I find myself completely lost in a problem.

"My daughter is a good pupil with an average of honor recognition, and it has been proved that her intelligence is 16 months ahead of her years. She is depressed almost all the time. I find that she cannot make friends and have tried to help her by introducing her to a club of girls of her own age and had her join the Girl Scout troop, but she tells me that she finds no interest in either organization. Children's books hold no interest for her any more and she has started reading adult novels.

"She had one girl friend whom she liked very much and was with constantly, but this friend has moved away permanently, and that is the reason for my daughter's depression. Her problem is serious to her and naturally affects me deeply."

And my answer: "I can understand how troubled you are. And I think a more mature child sometimes has trouble finding congenial companionship. However, that is exactly what your daughter needs now. If I were you, I would explain to her that, thru life friendships cannot be centered on just one person because, if that friend goes away, it leaves one high and dry, just as she feels herself to be at the present time.

"If you can get her to force an interest and show herself friendly I believe she will find companions. Incidentally, it is quite normal for her to be interested in adult literature."

I was talking yesterday with another mother who was confronted with almost exactly the same kind of a knotty problem with her young daughter. She prevailed upon the child to join the "Victory Aids" in a local hospital during this summer, and has found already that the idea is bearing wonderful fruit, perhaps because it is a skilful blending of interesting work in helping others and the making of new acquaintances among girls of her own age and slightly older. Some of these contacts are blossoming into real friendships. The child is happier, eager to give of herself, and her mother thinks will find a more healthy adjustment to life and people from this time forward.

Front VIEWS and PROFILES

BY KATE MASSEE

Love and Reason.

Strollers in the vicinity of Dearborn and Oak streets one recent afternoon doubtless wondered at the conviviality in the verdant back yard of the sedate Newberry library. The occasion was a going-away party—not a farewell one, at his own request—for George B. Utley, who has reached the age of retirement after 43 years in library service, more than half of them as librarian at Newberry. There were no speeches by the 60 staff members present, with the exception of Mrs. Harriet S. Teter, who, as Mr. Utley's secretary, reserved the right to make a brief talk. The pièce de résistance was the presentation to their beloved boss of a gift that has been accumulated over the last several months—a blue leather, monogrammed box containing more than 350 letters from his friends and colleagues. The letters will go along with Mr. and Mrs. Utley when they leave tomorrow to spend two months at their summer home in Pleasant Valley, Conn., and will take their place later as a valued item in the library of their south side home.

Away from It All.

Mrs. C. L. Washburn received a letter from a friend who has a new summer home at Hubbard Lake, Mich. According to the letterhead, the home has been named "Bored of Education," which Mrs. Washburn considers highly appropriate, since the master of the house is a high school instructor.

Maine Topics.

"An adventurous two weeks at quaint Camden, where pines and birches filter sunlight and shade. The beauty of snow white houses with green shutters, the spacious shade of huge elms. . . . Aboard the fishing schooner, Annie, taut sails, two masts, and seagulls wheeling gracefully, escorting us out to sea. . . . It was like the early days of sailing—kerosene lamps, peeling potatoes, cold water for dishwashing, wind and sun, sea charts. . . . A gala luncheon for 11 people—32 pounds of pride of Maine lobsters and luscious blueberries from the hills.—Eve Jurgens."

Home Town Girl.

Sugarless, Too.

Newspaper and radio commentators have been saying for some time, writes Frances Mary Hughes, that Hitler apparently has looked upon South America as his preserve. Miss H. says it is beginning to look as tho it might be his jam instead.

Gift Canteen.

"Counters and cases of gifts for men in the armed forces. Bewildered, sweet faced women choosing warm woolens, identification tags, sewing kits, candy. . . . Searching in their purses for long, intricate addresses which they've copied off their boys' letters. . . . Standing in line, waiting to write cards to inclose. Only three words allowed, madam. . . . What shall I say? All my love, love from mother, God bless you? . . . No tax on gifts addressed to the A. P. O.? Then I'll take a couple of handkerchiefs, please. And a small box of candy. . . . Thanks for your help, miss. O, I love my job, madam. You see, my brother's in Ireland. —Shopper."

Sally's Summer Parties End at Thrilling Play

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

In spite of the heat, 100 boys and girls had a fine time watching the clever Charlie Chan find the guilty man yesterday afternoon. We saw "The House Without a Key" presented by the Jack and Jill players, a talented group of juvenile actors and actresses, under the direction of Marie Agnes Foley.

The group performed in its own little playhouse, a large, comfortable room, with a real stage, equipped with curtains and footlights, at one end. We had comfortable chairs and individual boxes of candy donated by Mrs. Snyder for our farewell party of the year.

Things became pretty tense just as soon as the play opened, with a stealthy figure visible on the darkened stage. The mystery was laid in Honolulu and involved a murder, a gem theft, a maiden lady from Boston, and, of course, the polite and clever Mr. Chan.

There were six whole acts of excitement and comedy, but the famous detective had little trouble and with the exception of the wicked murderer, every one, both on and off the stage, was happy as the curtain went down on the last scene.

Yesterday's party marked the end of our season of summer treats for boys and girls, so we all said "good-by and good luck" 'till next year.

Forget Your Age If You Want Youth

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Remember other people's birthdays and forget your own, if you want to keep young. In other words, don't talk about your age so constantly. It is a sign that you are looking back instead of enjoying the present. It is a symptom of the fact that you are in a rut, and ruts are ageing.

Take remarks such as these:

"I'm not as young as I used to be."

"I can't expect to do that at my age."

"I'm getting old."

They mean the speaker can't adapt herself readily. The years really are getting the best of her. Youth looks forward and believes in the impossible.

We know one woman of 87 who painted the ceiling of her living room the other day. She wouldn't admit she was too old for the job. She went ahead and did it. She has the attitude of youth.

"If I couldn't do this and couldn't do that, I'd feel only half alive," she protested. "I'm not going around half dead while I am still living."

In spite of her four score years and seven, the woman has normal blood pressure and a sound heart. It is her many interests, her enthusiasm, her activity that has kept her young. She always is busy. She does not sit around and mourn her advancing years.

Age, after all, is relative. A girl of 25 is just a child to a woman of 40. The 75 year old grandmother thinks the woman of 40 is a mere girl.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MACKAY

A Letter for Beginners.

They had a little spat in the office—not a serious quarrel to be sure, but one of those uncomfortable things which too often extend to the next day. As a consequence, one of the girls wrote the other a note. "I thought perhaps it would help others—beginners like me—to understand why it seems that some one picks on them," says the girl who received [and passes along] the admonishing letter:

"Dear Softie:

"Don't criticize this letter as I'm in a sort of a hurry. First of all, I don't hate you; I like you very much. If I seem critical at times it is only because I have to be severe with you for the reason that everything I say is just a joke to you . . . you think I'm not serious about it.

"If you look back, you will find that most of the times I was mean—as you call it—it was because I told you that you were pesty. You don't realize all the work I have to do. You bother me. Yesterday it was so uncalled for . . . if you hadn't done it everything would have been okay today.

"Fun is fun . . . but there is a time and place for everything. It's all right to kid at the office, but also there are times to be serious. You don't seem to realize that. But if I say something to you I don't intend it as a slam or to hurt your feelings. So, don't be so sensitive. It causes you too many heartaches.

"Meanie."

Identified.

The F. B. I. [Forever Buttin' In] Gal reports to headquarters: The white collar girl seen recently on and around La Salle street wearing a dilapidated rabbit's foot [claws and all] is Anne Basler . . . the reason as yet undetermined.

White Collar Gripes.

"The people who pass my desk dozens of times each day going from one studio to another feel called upon to say, 'Hello,' 'Hi,' ''Lo,' 'Howdy,' no matter how many times they've seen my face before that same day."—Jane, the radio receptionist.

"The dazzling creature who lopes toward me in the 'ready-to-wear,' assures me she is 'at laysure' and follows it with a double negative."—Mimi.

Problems of the Head Man.

War brings problems to the head man. It's not enough to untangle priorities . . . to try to stay in business . . . to cope with constant changes in his staff. He must, if he is a kind man, say "steady" to the employé with personal heartbreak.

"Grief is an emotion that flourishes on solitude. . . . Be receptive to those who are afflicted and be sincere in your sympathy. The fact that the boss seems to care is of greatest comfort. Find work for the employé in close proximity to others . . . turning the mind and will toward something constructive. Work is a great enemy of sorrow."—Erwin H. Schell in "The Technique of Executive Control."

N.U. Settlement Board Cancels 1942 Style Show

BY JUDITH CASS.

"BLACK-OUT for 1942," says a streamer across announcements mailed out by the Winnetka board of the Northwestern university settlement to tell of the latest wartime casualty, the board's 16th annual fashion show and tea. "Due to war conditions, the board considers it advisable to cancel the fashion show and tea for 1942," says a paragraph at the bottom of the folders summing up the Winnetka group's action. And so, for the first time in 16 years, Chicagoans and suburbanites won't have a fall afternoon reserved for the gay and popular show.

Nevertheless, the board has a budget to meet, and, in place of the large benefit, contributions are being sought thru the mail. Mrs. Neil B. Dawes is in charge of the letters.

The settlement, which functions in the heart of the northwest side's most crowded district, has been in operation for 51 years. At present it is serving its community as headquarters for the organization of civilian defense. Courses in Red Cross, first aid, home nursing, surgical dressings, knitting, sewing, and food conservation are offered regularly at the Augusta boulevard settlement house, and 200 children are enrolled in the junior armies. Under the assistant head resident, men of the district are training to be fire and air raid wardens.

Joanne Boynton Married in West to Naval Officer.

Because Miss Joanne Boynton's fiancé, Lieut. Edward Chrisman Jr., received a sudden leave from the navy, few of her friends knew of her departure for the west coast and her marriage on Aug. 11 in San Diego, Cal. Mrs. George E. Boynton and her daughter made the trip west together, and the wedding took place at 1 o'clock on the 11th in the Boyntons' suite in the U. S. Grant hotel in San Diego. The bride's father was unable to attend the ceremony, which was performed by the chaplain of Lieut. Chrisman's ship.

The bride, who attended the Sacred Heart convent, is a June graduate of the Girls' Latin school. Lieut. Chrisman, son of Mr. Chrisman and of Mrs. A. L. Roudebush of St. Louis, Mo., was graduated from St. Louis university and the naval reserve midshipmen's school at Northwestern university. He has been on duty in the Pacific, and he and his young bride are at home temporarily in San Diego.

This Young Mother Is Active in Civilian Defense Work

Mrs. Burnham M. Fisk has plenty to keep her busy at home with a 4 year old son, Dickie, and a 6 month old daughter, Louise, but she feels the responsibility of doing her part in civilian defense, so she is one of the most active young matrons in Oak Park in this line of work. She was largely responsible for the success of a drive to collect a contingency fund for the West Suburban Hospital Evacuation Unit No. 25. The members of this unit departed recently for Camp Custer, in Michigan. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

Women in War Work . . . .

By India Moffett

Today from 9 to 3:15 o'clock in Thorne Hall on the downtown campus of Northwestern university there is to be an education institute for school administrators that is of interest to all women concerned with consumer information, whether they be those who give out the information or those seeking it. The institute, however, is not open to the public, for the audience was invited by the consumer division of the Office of Price Administration, coöperating with the Chicago board of education, Northwestern university, the University of Chicago, and the University of Illinois.

"The Schools in a Wartime Economy" is the subject of the forum. James R. Hawkinson, regional consumer executive of the OPA, will open the discussion with "The Over-All Picture of the Office of Price Administration" as his subject. William Brown, consultant of the education relations branch of the consumer division of the OPA in Washington, D. C., will close the program. He will discuss "Services of the Washington Office of the Educational Relations Branch."

The Consumer Information service of the Chicago Office of Civilian Defense is headed by Mrs. William H. Stanley as chairman, with Mrs. L. Robert Mellin as co-chairman. These two women and a corps of other volunteers work steadily and faithfully at their headquarters at 228 North La Salle street to distribute all information available to the 65 centers now established in the Chicago metropolitan area. Eventually there will be 254 centers in the area, and as soon as the block captains complete the appointment of 20,000 consumer information wardens there will be that many persons from whom housewives can obtain information on this valuable war work for women.

The wardens will not be police women, Mrs. Stanley wants us to assure the public, for they will not do any snooping or price checking in neighborhood stores. As soon as the wardens are selected, the consumer information service will conduct 12 hour classes of instruction for them.

What is a consumer center, is a question often asked by women. The answer is simple: It is a clearing house for consumer defense activities and a distributing point for wartime information to consumers on how to take care of the things they have to make them last, stretch dollars to meet their family's needs, plan with neighbors for sharing the use of such things as automobiles and household equipment, do their part to check rising prices and thus guard against inflation, and help safeguard health and basic living standards during the war. All of us are consumers, and it is the opinion of the government that educated consumers make the best citizens. It is to provide this education that offices of civilian defense the country over are establishing consumer information services.

It was when this country started drafting young men for the army, and it was found an appalling number of them were underfed, that the government decided to do something about educating housewives [consumers] so that the great army behind the lines would be properly nourished. The armed forces are being fed properly, but it is equally important that the men and women manning the production lines of the war industries be in the same splendid physical condition as the men in uniform. That the younger generation, the men and women of tomorrow, will benefit by the knowledge of nutrition that their mothers are learning today, goes without saying. Some one has said that the women in the homes are helping to win the war "on the range," and this is literally true.

Mrs. Kenneth Barber is head librarian at the Consumer Information service and she is at the headquarters, distributing literature, five days a week. She has developed a sort of circulating library, for much of the printed matter that comes to her is not in sufficient quantity to permit it being sent to all the centers. Among other volunteers who work regularly at the office in North LaSalle street are Mrs. M. Edward Atkins, who is the efficient executive secretary; Dr. Bess Sondell, chief of the speakers' bureau and professor of speech at the University of Chicago; Mrs. Philip F. Ciral, in charge of the exhibit material; Mrs. Katherine Lewis of the Art Institute, and Mrs. Ruth Van Sickle Ford of the Academy of Fine Arts, who obtain posters for the service; Mrs. Floyd W. Beedy, chairman of the program committee; Mrs. Ralph Etlinger, chief of the field service staff; Mrs. John Sutphen, Mrs. Mayme Jones, and three young women who have been devoting many of their vacation hours to this work, Ann Barber, Patricia Ellis, and Nancy Liebman.

None of the workers in the CIS office is wearing a uniform now, but as soon as the cool weather starts all of the regular ones will be wearing the French blue OCD official garb.

Thru the coöperation of Ben Regan, executive secretary for the War Production board's general salvage operations in Illinois and the management of the Chicago Cubs, women will be admitted to the game between the Cubs and the New York Giants next Tuesday for the modest price of two pounds of scrap. This means iron, steel, copper, or rubber. Tin cans will not be accepted. Donors of more than two pounds may telephone State 8787 before midnight tonight and a collector will call. A dime for tax will be required.

All letters requesting interviews by would-be junior hostesses at the Chicago Service Men's center that are postmarked after midnight tonight will have to be thrown away, for more than 5,000 girls already have registered.

Concert in Rain Rewards Hardy Park Audience

BY EDWARD BARRY.

At Grant park last night the rain patriotically held off until "The Star Spangled Banner" had been sung and the colors posted. Then it came with a rush, and as Henry Weber and the W-G-N Symphony orchestra started the Sibelius first symphony they were treated to the spectacle of a portion of their audience scurrying off thru the downpour and another portion frantically breaking out umbrellas or manufacturing rain capes from newspapers.

But the musicians went doggedly on, and the fact that they had crowded toward the back of the shell to keep out of the wet unexpectedly resulted in a richer, better focused tone than usual. The strings sounded especially lovely in the gentle, lonesome themes of the Sibelius.

Following the symphony came the Grant park debut of Harriet O'Rourke, the 19 year old soprano who placed first this year in the women's solo contest of the Chicago Music Festival. With a fine disregard of the rain, which fell drearily into the puddles in front of the band shell, Miss O'Rourke gave a fresh voiced and well inflected performance of Rimsky-Korsakoff's "Hymn to the Sun" and followed it with a delightfully rhythmic presentation of Strauss' "Voices of Spring."

Many concertgoers blanch when they see the prelude and love death from "Tristan and Isolde" on a program, for at the hands of indifferent musicians these can be almost the dullest and most static pieces in the standard repertoire. However, Mr. Weber and his men managed, especially in the prelude, to catch the true ground swell of the music and to give it a natural forward motion and a cumulative feeling that kept interest alive from first to last. Their tone colorings, too, were potent emotionally.

The particular talent of Michael Wilkomirski, concertmaster of the W-G-N orchestra, is for the delicate and the songlike, but he proved at this concert that he can give a creditable performance even of so sustained and exalted a work as the Brahms violin concerto. He did not try to make it big. The first movement was more lyrical than usual and the finale was crisply rhythmic rather than feverish. The purity of his tone and the exquisite taste of his delivery [characteristics which were especially in evidence in the middle movement] helped make his performance one of the pleasantest that Grant park has heard this year.

Thru the Looking Glass

One preparation a great many of the off to school girls and boys might wisely tuck in their luggage is a skin cleanser that does more than a superficial job of removing dirt. During the teens most youngsters go thru a period when the oil simply oozes and gathers unto itself all the grime that is an invitation to infection.

The routine once or twice daily washing with soap and water isn't sufficient to keep this kind of a skin clean and free from eruptions. The daily washings should be supplemented by more exacting cleansing methods and by careful hygiene.

One of our favorite antiseptic cleansers for the skin that is oily and inclined to blackheads is an amber-colored, thin liquid with medicinal qualities. It's an excellent cleanser, used on cotton saturated in cold water, that proves how efficient it is by the dirt on the piece of cotton after it's drawn over the skin. Even after washing with soap and water the skin often is filmed with dirt that this lotion will rout! Because it cleanses so well it prevents the lodging of grime that leads to blackheads, and at the same time it is healing to sensitive skin. It's especially good for the adolescent who has eruptions on the back; the cause of these, nine times out of ten, is imperfect cleansing.

This is a good lotion for the adolescent to use either regularly or when the skin gets a spell of extreme oiliness as it frequently does during those whimsical years. It helps keep the skin perfectly cleansed—and that's the best preventive treatment for youthful skin disorders.

SYNOPSIS.

Covering the Spanish Civil war in Madrid, James Milcom, English journalist with Loyalist sympathies, meets Raquel, the Condesa de Verdura, seeking food for her sick child. Once wealthy, her beauty famous, her husband notorious for his infidelities, she now lives in a basement, while Pascual, her husband, is in prison. James befriends her, but the child dies. Then James helps Raquel escape into France to a frontier hotel, where her sister, the duquesa, who is under suspicion as a White spy, is staying. Rosemary Oldhead, a young English girl, is vacationing in the same hotel with her parents and has become intrigued by spies, particularly a famous White spy, No. 17. Rosemary has made friends with a number of newspaper men including Crumpaun, Hever, Crossman, and Carrow. Thru them she meets James and Raquel. When James is returning to Spain he and Raquel declare their love for each other. But Rosemary also finds herself falling in love with James. Raquel asks James to visit her husband in prison and to try to get news of her brother, Juanito. When James visits Pascual, he finds the man strangely changed. He seems to be a better man than James had expected. In the meantime, Rosemary's father has unwittingly taken snapshots of a pass used across the frontier by the White organization. Rosemary learns that the Whites have stolen copies of the pictures, and when she finally tells her father, who has Red sympathies, he reports the theft and the pass is closed. Rosemary and her parents visit a cave under the frontier and Rosemary notices steps worn on a rock leading to the Spanish side.

INSTALMENT XXIII.
ARISTOCRATIC PEASANT.

In that misty golden orchard, Rosemary gave herself up to dreaming of Milcom; without hope, but in a stillness that was like music. She was sitting so, gazing idly before her in the direction of the grotto, when she saw a man emerge from the depths of the cave and appear in the entrance.

He started to walk along the small path beside the pool till he came within sight of the car standing waiting on the parking place. She saw him check, hesitate, and then turn and go back into the cave. The oddity of this behavior roused her attention and brought her thoughts back to earth. It was not the sulky young guide—she had seen that much. But if there were another man in the cave, why had they not seen him? Before she had done more than ask herself this question, the man appeared again, this time to the left of the pool. He must have waded across, for the legs of his rough trousers were dripping. Glancing cautiously 'round, he nipped out of the cave and slipped in among the trees of the little orchard.

All Rosemary's faculties sprang to attention at once. He didn't want to be seen, that was clear. Perhaps he was a smuggler, and he had come in by the chimney! Then was that why the guide had been so cross when she had found the nail marks? Her mind leapt from point to point. The guide must be in league with him—perhaps had been expecting him today.

But if he were a smuggler, it must be currency, for he carried no bundle. While her thoughts raced, her eyes were watching the man as he moved thru the trees. He sat down on one of Loti's fungoid seats and wrung the water out of his trousers. He had not seen her. Then he walked a few steps forward again, stood, looked, and listened. He must be wondering where the people from the car had got to, she thought. He was still not near enough for her to see his face clearly, but in spite of his rough clothes he did not walk like a peasant. Now he moved forward again, in her direction—sitting quite still, half hidden by the tree, in that faint light she was practically invisible, till in a moment he stood before her.

Even then he did not actually start—it was more that every muscle in his body became almost visibly tense, and his right hand half moved toward his left arm in a gesture that American films have made familiar to the whole world; then dropped again. He was tall, slight, rather graceful, with black hair and gray eyes; the skin much tanned, but with an athlete's clear brown rather than the weathered roughened mahogany of the peasant. His hands were long and fine, she noticed, with beautiful altho grimed nails, narrow as filberts.

This was no peasant. His face was long, too, with a high bridged nose and a shapely, sensitive mouth; the forehead magnificent, and about the whole face an appearance of vigor, intelligence, and resolution, with just that touch of reserve, of withdrawness, that sculpture gives to a face—a look that Rosemary was coming to think of as typically Spanish. Beyond all doubt, as he stood there in his shabby jacket, rough shirt, and torn wet trousers, he was one of the most splendid human beings she had ever seen.

For a moment or two they remained staring at one another. Then Rosemary spoke—she had the advantage of him, she felt. He could not know how much she had seen.

"Bonjour, monsieur," she said civilly.

He bowed, but did not return her salutation. Then suddenly he smiled at her.

"Where did you come from, mademoiselle?" he asked in French.

"From the grotto. My friends have just gone up to look at the frontier," she answered. She felt a curious wish to put him at his ease.

"And you remained here?" he asked.

"I remained here," she said.

She saw him give a half glance over his shoulder, and knew that he was trying to see how much she could have seen of his movements. Then he turned back and studied her face.

"It is beautiful here," she said casually, still under that curious impulse to put him at ease, to make him relax that tenseness that she felt rather than saw. "Do you live here?"

That did it. His voice was quite different as he answered: "Near here—a little way down the road."

She didn't believe it for a moment, altho she was glad that he accepted her pretense.

"And you, mademoiselle?" he asked her then; "where do you live?"

"O, we are staying at Saint-Jean-de-Luz," she said.

"Tiens, Saint-Jean. In a hotel?"

"Yes—the Grande Bretagne."

He looked at her curiously.

"You find it comfortable?" he asked.

"O yes—perfectly. It's a little old-fashioned, but very nice."

"It is very full?" he asked.

"Fairly."

"There are any Spanish people there? Refugees?"

"One or two—ladies mostly," Rosemary said, a little surprised at these questions.

"And you know them?"

"One I do, quite well," she replied, her thoughts flying back to Milcom and the condesa.

"And they seem cheerful, well? One wonders if they are in good spirits, leaving the beloved hearts behind," he said thoughtfully.

"She is," the girl said, recalling the condesa's brilliant face of joy all the last week.

"It is well, that. The poor ones!" he said. Then he took his foot down off the chair, straightened up, and looked her full in the face.

"You are English, I suspect, mademoiselle. Ah, what good fortune you have in England, rich and at peace, compared with poor Spain!"

"But France is all right," the girl said, looking up straight at him.

"Ah, France!" the young man said with a shrug. "No one ever knows how it is with France, well or ill. Au revoir, mademoiselle."

"Au revoir," she said.

He walked out thru the trees, crossed behind the cottage, and disappeared. A moment later she saw him come out onto the road and walk down it till a bend hid his figure from view. There was something odd, something almost vaguely familiar about his walk, but she could not think of what it reminded her.

She was unusually silent on the drive home, her mother noticed. She was thinking intently about the man from the cave, going over all the facts, again and again, piecing them together as her habit was. He might, of course, have been in there all the time, lurking in some side gallery beyond the lights, and have come out when he expected them to be gone; or he might have come in down the stone ladder formed by the Arbre de Noel after they had left it. In either case, when he did come out, he had been checked by the sight of the car. That was certain.

And he was sufficently anxious to avoid being seen to wade across the pool, wetting himself to the knees. That closed all possibility of his being just a peasant, living close by, idling about the cave, for such would have no objection to meeting people. Then there was his brief gesture when he saw her. She was sure she was not mistaken about that. She did not imagine that he had meant to shoot her, at any point—but it was the instinctive movement of a man who goes armed, and is accustomed to use his weapon. Everything about him, bar his clothes, pointed to his being a man of education and of birth. Argue it as she would, minimize as she would, her mind could not resist the fantastic conclusion that she had probably seen and spoken to a real spy. Perhaps even the famous No. 17 himself! She remembered the journalists' talk of him that morning at the Bar Basque, after she had met the condesa in the flower market.

"One of their best men," some one pretty smart, who crossed the frontier of the Irun end and made direct for Biarritz. Well, if that glorious young man was not one of their best men, she would like to meet the ones who were, Rosemary thought. He was heavenly!

While Rosemary thus meditated, on the drive home, her elders discussed the nail marks on the Arbre de Noel and the behavior of the guide. It was all very peculiar, Crossman said.

"Very suspicious, if you ask me," Mr. Oldhead observed. Rosemary, catching the drift of these remarks, put in her oar.

"Silly bat-wit of a guide!" she said breezily. "Of course the smugglers use it. But if he had kept his stupid mouth shut we would never have paid any particular attention to it." She had already decided to keep her own mouth shut about the man from the cave for the present.

But Mr. Oldhead was not so easily satisfied. He was worried and anxious about the Republican cause at this time, and angry with the British government for closing its eyes to the frequent and flagrant German and Italian breaches of the nonintervention agreement. The sabotage stories were still upsetting him, and he was not blind to the other use to which that stone staircase could be put. Later that evening Rosemary heard him discussing the whole thing with Crumpaun, and found that he was meditating a second trip to Bayonne. This she determined to prevent, if she could. She said nothing to her father, but she sought out Crossman on her own account, and begged him not to encourage the idea.

"They'll really think him utterly petty if he goes on reporting every rabbit-run he sees near the frontier! There's no evidence this time, bar the nail marks—and those were probably smugglers, or even just 'boy meets girl.'"

Crossman laughed and agreed. He succeeded in persuading Mr. Oldhead to let well enough alone this time. Rosemary heard this with considerable relief. Spy or no spy, she felt that the world was a better place with that young man whom she had seen in Pierre Loti's orchard in it than out of it.

Foot fashions for fall and winter are in the shops now. There are shoes for every hour of the day and to complement every costume in your possession. Suede or smooth leathers, heels high, low, or medium, tailored or dressy styles, pumps or sandals—anything your little heart desires in the way of shoes.

First in the left column is a tailored daytime pump of smooth calf in brown or black. Snug against the instep and above the modified square toe is a flat leather buckle saddle stitched in a light thread. Under $5.

Directly below it is a medium heeled pump of stroller type. This model comes in black suede only. A large chunky clear plastic buckle is held firmly in place with loops of grosgrain to match the grosgrain trim around the instep. Small open toe. Plastics will be prominent this season to take the place of metal trim.

The sandal, lower left, is in black suede. To take the place and give the effect of nailheads which are reported increasingly hard to get, the straps and the low platform sole are perforated to allow gold kid to sparkle thru.

Dressy afternoon occasions require dressy footwear. The extremely high heel [higher than the ordinary French heel] is the principal feature. Black or brown suede with a ruffled rosette of grosgrain on the slender vamp.

Stitching again decorates the low strap heel pump. The stitching outlines the platform sole, the mocassin toe, the instep, and the square tailored buckle. An excellent shoe for office and street wear. Comes in black or brown suede and black leather. Under $5.

Extremely narrow braid of the same color as the shoe [black or brown] dresses up the toe of the sandal illustrated in the lower right corner. The slightly thicker heel is a modern feature.

It is strange that average players, who seem to dote on finesses, scrupulously avoid those very finesses which might insure their contracts. Today's deal is a striking illustration of this point.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 heart	4 spades	5 clubs	Pass
Pass	Pass

This identical bidding occurred at both tables of a recent team-of-four contest. The opening lead also was the same, the spade seven. At table 1, dummy's spade ace was promptly put up, a club was led to the closed hand, and a heart was returned with the laudable intention of setting up the heart suit for discards. Declarer hoped to pass the heart into East, who would be unable to open up the diamond suit, but this hope had a short life. West's heart holding being what it was, declarer could not establish hearts without giving West the lead, and a prompt diamond shift defeated the contract.

At table 2, the declarer used a far shrewder plan. Despite his singleton he finessed the opening lead! Naturally he did not expect the spade queen to hold; he was after a different prize, and he got it! For now, when East took his spade king and returned a spade [no other return would have been better] declarer discarded a heart, and promptly set up the heart suit without giving West any chance to get on lead. A heart ruff [after cashing the ace], a return to the club eight, a second heart ruff with a high trump, the cashing of the club ace, and a final return to the club nine put the contract "on ice."

The Housewife

You'll find the cotton yard goods departments in the stores often have charming and most inexpensive materials for curtains. The other day we came across some delightfully designed chintzes that any home seamstress could run up into kitchen or dinette curtains in a jiffy. They had yellow or white backgrounds and patterns of brightly colored fruit: apples, pears, grapes, and cherries. Another cotton was white with single rosebuds scattered over it. These fabrics is the civilian chief of the ordnance division of the United States army in the 6th service command, with headquarters in Chicago.

Miss O'Connell was graduated from St. Mary's college at Notre Dame. Her fiancé attended the University of Arizona.

Miss Anne Hooper, younger daughter of the Henry Hoopers of Lake Shore drive, is leaving today for a visit with friends in Wilmington, Del., before going on to school at Sault-au-Rocollet in Montreal, Canada. Her elder sister, Miss Alice, who attended the same school, is on the debut list for this season.

Frode Jensens Visit Her Father with New Baby.

Dr. and Mrs. Frode Jensen [Deborah Leonard] and their new daughter, Karen, have joined Mrs. Jensen's father, John R. Leonard of Winnetka, at his summer home in the Adirondacks, where Karen's young sister, Alexandria, has been visiting her grandfather. The Jensens' second daughter was born on July 31 in Syracuse, N. Y. Dr. Jensen will leave for the south next Tuesday as a captain with the University of Syracuse base hospital unit.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Palmer Lewis of Barrington announce the engagement of their daughter, Yvonne Margaret, to Ensign William S. Wright, United States naval reserve, son of Mrs. Florence Wright of Austin, Minn. After their marriage, which will take place on Sept. 19, Ensign Wright and his bride will live in Minneapolis, Minn. Both Miss Lewis and her fiancé attended Carleton college, and at present he is studying in the medical school at the University of Minnesota.

BY CECIL SMITH.

The newest "Maisie" picture isn't up to scratch. As one of the world's greatest Maisie enthusiasts, I entered the Roosevelt theater with buoyant steps, but I emerged stooped and heavy with disappointment. What has become of the slap-happy, take-it-on-the-chin bravado which made Ann Sothern so infectious in the early "Maisie" pictures? In "Maisie Gets Her Man," a peculiar languor seems to afflict her much of the time, and her acting no longer gives off sparks.

Could it be that she is getting tired of the character? Or could it be that Red Skelton, to my mind a labored and unfunny fellow, affects her as he does me? Or maybe the solution is simpler still. Perhaps even so talented an actress as Miss Sothern cannot fill dull and dopey lines with brightness, or achieve reasonableness in a story that falls to pieces from minute to minute.

Be that as it may, there is not enough to recommend this commonplace scenario, in which Maisie and Red fall into the clutches of a shyster promoter. The plot stops and starts a dozen times; the finish is needlessly deferred, and a general clumsiness of invention characterizes the whole thing.

At various moments the diverting contributions of Allen Jenkins and Donald Meek better the situation temporarily. But all in all, "Maisie Gets Her Man" is a letdown, and indicates that the "Maisie" series needs a hypodermic if it is to survive.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 27.—Just before Ginger Rogers left on her war bond selling tour, she told me she'd adopted a family of 16 husky men. They've named a Canadian sub chaser the Ginger Rogers. It's now plying its way thru the North Atlantic, and in the mess hall hangs an autographed picture of her, and each member of the crew has a personally signed one, too. She's now waiting for a picture of them. . . . Bing Crosby is trying to get Paramount to sign Dinah Shore for a picture with him. That should be easy. And they'd be right nice together. . . . When Al Jolson returns from England, he and Mae West are going to get together and co-star in a new musical revue at the Winter Garden, New York. . . . That slogan Loretta Young thought up—"110 per cent American"—is catching hold fast. Secretary of Treasury Henry Morgenthau has okayed it. Loretta tells me she gets a great thrill riding out Ventura boulevard and seeing it prominently displayed on a huge billboard. It's so good, Loretta—come on—give us more.

For Crying Out Loud.

If Greer Garson didn't want it printed that she was going to marry Richard Ney, she shouldn't have told friends at the Norma Shearer wedding about her plan. Guess she was just carried away by the enthusiasm of the romantic moment, but on sober consideration, decided it might not work out. After all, when Richard Ney was playing her son in "Mrs. Miniver," he gave his age as 23. . . . Bob Riskins' marriage to Fay Wray brought back something that's puzzled me for a long time. Bob was married before to Edith Fitzgerald, a fine writer. While they were together, he never did anything important. When they separated, he skyrocketed to the top, she dropped out, and I haven't heard of her since.

Right Way.

Gale Storm.

You've got to hand it to Henry Fonda for the way he enlisted in the navy. Even his wife didn't know. Most people think he's a rich man; he's not. His big house is for sale, along with two cars and his bicycle. Now that the studio's got him leave to play "Immortal Sergeant," he's going around getting more recruits for the navy. First one he signed up was Ray Sebastian, his makeup man. . . . Monogram is stepping up with a great big musical, and is taking over the entire N. T. G. [Nils Thor Granlund] show at the Florentine Gardens to produce a picture built around it. It's to be called "Bye-Bye, Baby"—I suppose because so many of N. T. G.'s "babies" have left him for matrimony. It will feature Gale Storm, Ted Fio-Rito and his band, Sugar Geise, Candy Candido, and, of course, N. T. G., who's trying her best to get Mrs. Franchot Tone to return and play herself.

Don't We Have Fun!

You try and figure it out. Twentieth Century has announced that Maureen O'Hara will play the lead opposite Walter Pidgeon in "Blind Man's House," which starts in September. RKO announces Maureen will play the lead opposite Charles Laughton in "This Land Is Mine," also in September. Maybe they mean a year hence. . . . Humorist Jack Douglas is co-writer with Lieut. K. R. Kralkow on "Bail Out at 9,000." Jack will donate the proceeds, if any, to Polish relief. . . . Clarence Brown told his actors and extras they'd have to start an hour early for the location of "The Human Comedy," because now they've got to catch street cars. . . . Paulette Goddard says her ideal leading man is a composite of Ray Milland, Fred MacMurray, Charles Boyer, Charlie Chaplin, Fred Astaire, Bob Hope, and Orson Welles. Hmmm! Sounds more like a second front to me!

Good, Too.

When Lieut. Comm. Corydon M. Wassel, war hero, shied away like a young deer at playing himself in his life story, Cecil De Mille asked permission to invite his 16 year old son, James Wassell, to come on from Little Rock, Ark., and play him as a boy. So the offer has been made, and we're awaiting results. Young Jimmy wants to be a doctor, too. . . . Elsa Lanchester prefers sexy rôles, but she won't turn down a mother rôle if it's good, so she'll mother Roddy McDowall in "Laddie, Come Home." . . . Roscoe Ates, now a captain in the army, was having lunch at Paramount and ran into Buddy De Sylva. "How do you like the uniform, Buddy?" he asked. "Fine," was the reply"—what picture have we got you in?" . . . Ran into Lee Patrick on the set of "The Frightened Stiff." There's a fine actress who should be working all the time.

ATTORNEY GROUP TO STUDY POLICE PROTECTION CASE

Mayor's Plan Assailed by Crime Commission.

Bertram J. Cahn.

Mayor Kelly announced yesterday that he intended to appoint an impartial committee of lawyers to review the decision in which the city civil service commission refused to place any blame on four policemen charged with protecting handbook gambling.

He added that he had submitted the proposal to several "civic groups" and that they had given tacit approval. He made it plain that the Chicago Crime commission, which protested the decision as a police whitewash, was not among these groups. Bertram J. Cahn, president of the crime commission, asserted that the mayor could handle the matter by replacing the three members of the civil service commission with nonpolitical appointees.

Denies Need for Lawyers.

"There is no good reason for Mayor Kelly to put off action this way," Cahn said. "He doesn't need any lawyers to tell him what to do."

The men placed on trial were Capt. Martin McCormick, Sergt. Tom Lee, and Patrolmen Fred L. Trauth and James E. Kehoe, former members of the morals, or anti-gambling squad. They were charged with inefficiency, neglect of duty, and making false reports about gambling houses.

Joseph B. Geary, Democratic politician, is chairman of the city civil service commission, but he attended few of the trial hearings. The hearings were presided over by Wendell E. Green colored lawyer who was appointed as a Republican but is now a Democratic nominee for the Municipal court bench. The third commission member is William P. Ronan, a Democrat, who attended the hearings but took no part. Under the law, one commission member must be a Republican.

Hold Evidence Contradictory.

The decision, handed down July 3, held that the evidence was contradictory and uncertain and the commission "did not order the discharge" of any of the defendants.

Mayor Kelly said that the "civic groups," which he did not name, had tacitly approved the names of 12 attorneys without political affiliations, and that he probably would appoint five of them some time next week to look into the trial proceedings.

"After this study is made," he said, "I want to go into some other things connected with civil service. But first I want to determine the legality of the Civil Service commission's acts."

14 APPEAL FINES AND JAIL IN 1941 INDIANA RIOTING

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 27 (AP).—Fourteen persons who received fines and jail sentences in connection with a riot at the Richmond International Harvester company plant in March, 1941, appealed to the Supreme court today to set aside the convictions.

The outbreak of violence at the Harvester plant, in which state police were called to restore order, followed an impasse in negotiations between the company and the Farm Equipment Workers' Organizing committee [CIO].

The defendants, Clifford Kerr, president of the Richmond union local; Clarence Mattix of Richmond, and 10 persons who gave Chicago addresses, were convicted of resisting officers with deadly weapons. Kerr was fined $100 and sentenced to 90 days' imprisonment. Mattix was fined $100 and the Chicago defendants were given varying penalties.

Leaps Into Shallow River at Elgin and Is Rescued

George Kramer, 73 years old, 21 South Aberdeen street, leaped into Fox river from the Chicago street bridge in Elgin yesterday, but landed in water only waist deep and was rescued by Archie V. Samuelson, a storekeeper, with the aid of passersby. Kramer told police he had fractured his hip some weeks ago and had become discouraged. At St. Joseph's hospital his condition was reported favorable for recovery.

TAVERN OWNERS CHART PROGRAM OF CO-OPERATION

A four point program for coöperation by tavern owners and other liquor interests with the army, navy, and local officials was discussed yesterday by the newly formed Amalgamated Alcoholic Beverage congress in the Hotel Sherman.

According to William A. Jackson, temporary secretary, the organization will urge:

1. That the army and navy issue special cards to service men showing their age, instead of date of birth, so bartenders can determine quickly whether the men are minors.
2. That the army and navy prohibit minors in service from entering taverns.
3. That a committee from the liquor industry coöperate with army, navy, and local officials to handle complaints involving taverns.
4. That the army and navy provide rules on the conduct of service men that conform with local laws.

Jackson said a committee representing the liquor industry soon will call on Mayor Kelly to discuss the ordinance prohibiting women from drinking at bars.

BARMEN'S UNION REJECTS 5 PCT. WAGE INCREASE

Members of the Bartenders union and the Miscellaneous Hotel Service Workers union yesterday voted down a 5 per cent wage increase offered by representatives of the city's larger hotels. Other unions affiliated with the Hotel and Restaurant Employés Local Joint Board and District Craft council [AFL] will vote on the offer today. The unions' demands were for increases of 10 per cent or more.

The 5 per cent offer was made by the hotel men after two months of negotiation for new contracts, covering more than 3,000 union members employed in the hotels. Thomas C. Rogan, president of the council and of the Waiters Alliance, said each union's vote on the offer would be reported back to the negotiating committee, which will meet again today.

Musician Injured, but She Saves Her $50,000 Violin

When Edith Lorand, concert violinist at the Bismarck hotel, tripped and fell from a photographer's stand yesterday, her sole concern was for the $50,000 Guarneries del Jesu violin she held in her hands. In her efforts to protect the instrument, Miss Lorand suffered injuries to her back and ankle. As a result she will appear tonight for a radio victory program in a wheel chair.

IT'S ALL-STAR NIGHT! 101,200 TO WATCH GAME

$60,000 WAR BOND TAKES VICTORY FOOTBALL

ALL-STAR OVAL BIDDING BRINGS U. S. $197,125

I. M. Bilderback of Champaign Is High.

BY ARCH WARD.

I. M. Bilderback of Champaign, Ill., yesterday obtained permanent possession of the football which will be used in tonight's game between the College All-Stars and Chicago Bears by purchasing war bonds with a maturity value of $60,000.

I. M. Bilderback.

Two weeks ago THE TRIBUNE announced that the ball and a lifetime pass to the home games of the Chicago Bears would be awarded to the person who purchased the greatest amount of war bonds at the Tribune Public Service office before noon yesterday. The competition produced sales totaling $197,125. Bilderback made his bid 20 seconds before the competition ended.

Competition Is Hot.

Sales yesterday morning amounted to $130,125. When the day's bidding began the total was $67,000. Chester Glover of Park Ridge, Ill., and William and David Bresler of Chicago were tied for first place with purchases of $20,000.

The Bresler brothers opened the final day's competition for the ball by increasing their purchase to $25,000. Glover moved up his offer to $25,025. Charles S. Kirkpatrick of Bloomington then bid $40,000. Bilderback, who had been standing in a corner of the Tribune Publice Service office at 1 South Dearborn street, stepped to the counter with a $50,000 purchase. Kirkpatrick regained first place with a bid of $50,010. Bilderback then offered $60,000 a few seconds before the deadline.

He'll See the Game.

Bilderback, who runs an automobile finance business in Champaign, will be among the 101,000 spectators at Soldiers' field tonight.

"The 1942 All-Star game really is a Champaign affair," he said after winning the Victory football. "Bob Zuppke gave 29 of the best years of his life to the University of Illinois. George Halas, owner-coach of the Bears, is a graduate of Illinois. We want that ball in Champaign and I would have offered $100,000 for it, if that had been necessary."

Bilderback has lived in Champaign since 1914, a year after Zuppke became head football coach at the university. He and his 43 year old son, Gordon, who is now an army officer serving overseas, have been stanch followers of Zuppke.

PACKERS VISIT CHICAGO ON WAY TO DODGER GAME

The Green Bay Packers football team passed thru Chicago yesterday en route to Brooklyn where they will meet the Dodgers in an exhibition game tomorrow night.

Back Field Coach Eddie Kotal will have charge of the team. Coach E. L. Curly Lambeau stayed in Chicago to attend the pro coaches' and owners' meeting yesterday. Lambeau and Don Hutson, veteran Packer end, will attend tonight's College All-Stars-Chicago Bears game in Soldiers' field where Hutson will be presented with the Joe Carr Memorial trophy as the player voted most valuable in the National Football league last fall. The presentation will take place before the game.

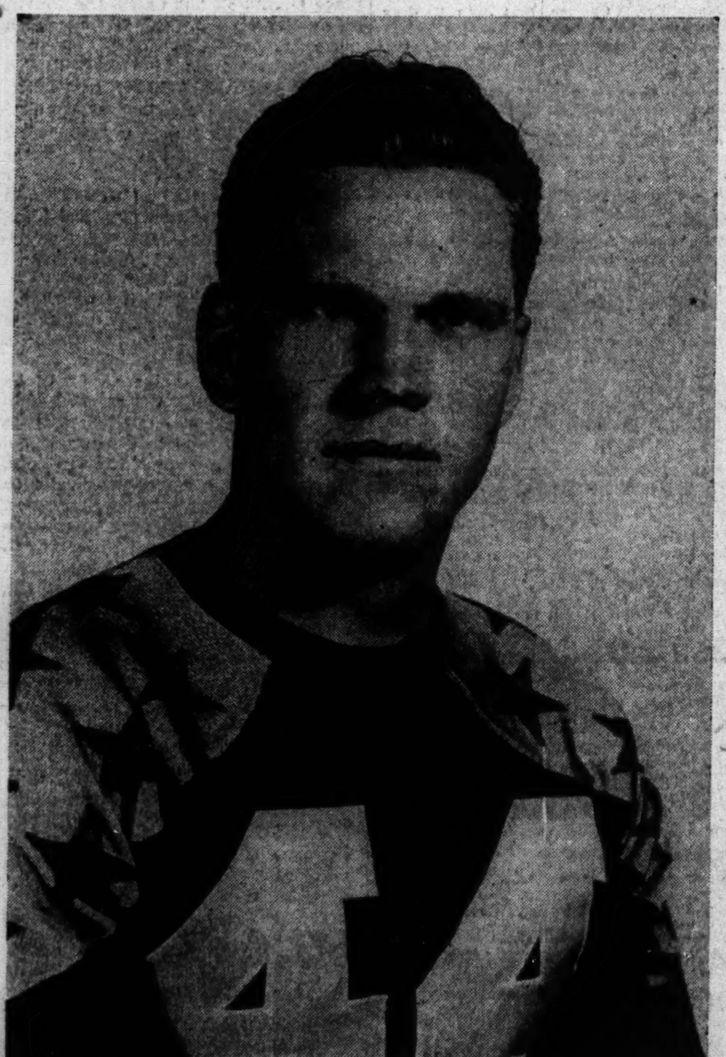
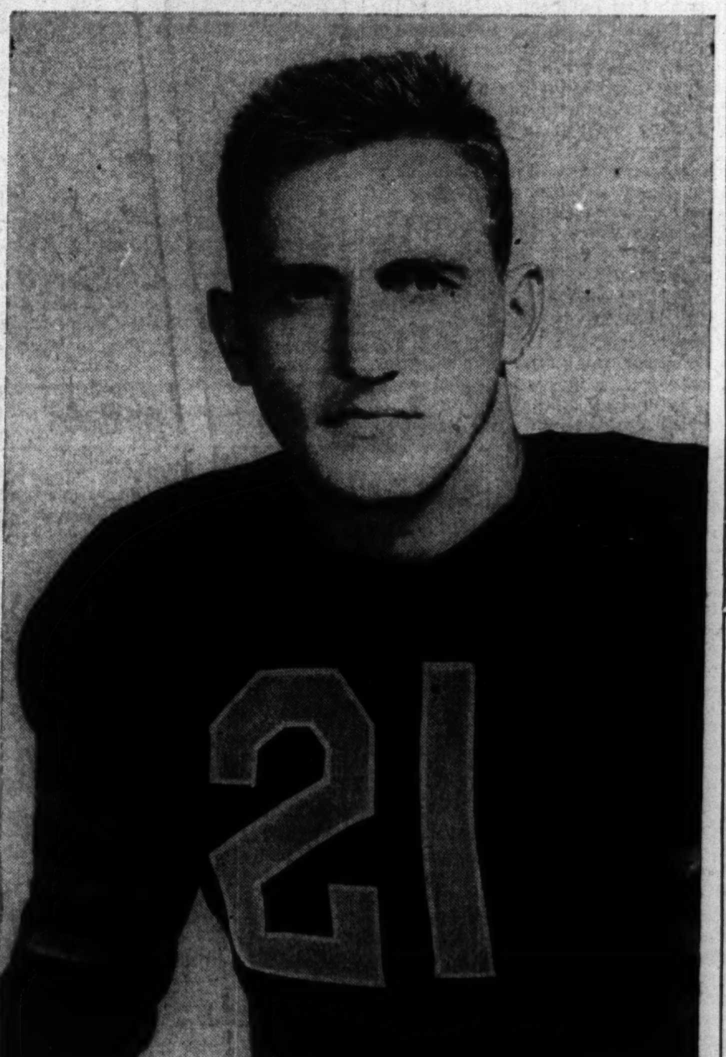
LET'S GO, CAPTAINS! 101,200 WILL BE WATCHING YOU



When the brilliant floodlights are turned on in Soldiers' field tonight for the ninth annual All-Star football game, this stalwart—Bernie Crimmins, former Notre Dame guard—will lead the College All-Americans into action against the Champion Chicago Bears. He was chosen by vote of his 63 teammates. [TRIBUNE Studio Photo.]



[TRIBUNE Studio Photo.]
The Bears have named Danny Fortmann, also a guard, as their captain for the start of the game. A record crowd for the series, 101,200 fans, will view the game, which will contribute $160,000 to Army and Navy relief. Opening ceremonies will start at 8:15 p. m.

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

CHICAGO TRIBUNE CHARITIES, INC., tonight presents the greatest of its sports promotions—the ninth annual All-Star football game between the College All-Americans and Chicago Bears, champions of the National Football league. . . . No other sports contest is more typically All-American. . . . The players are All-American. . . . The principles are All-American. . . . They represent fundamental precepts of democracy—freedom of expression in a nation-wide poll, freedom of assembly and the preservation of sporting ideals. . . . Thru the combined efforts of the army, the navy, and the sportsmen of the middle west, tonight's game will produce more money for Army Emergency Relief and Navy Relief than ever has been raised from an athletic event. . . . The total contributions to war charities from the All-Star game will approximate $160,000. . . . No single medium is responsible for the attainment of that goal. . . . It represents the united action of a section of the nation which never has hesitated in showing the way in war effort. . . . Unity is the keynote of the enterprise. . . . Soldiers, sailors, marines, and civilians are pulling together for one purpose—to make the evening memorable for you. . . .

Lieut. Comm. Tom Hamilton.

Maj. Gen. George Grunert.

THE TRIBUNE is grateful to the 200 other newspapers and radio stations which coöperated in the conduct of the All-Star poll. . . . Our thanks again to the owners and coaches of National Football league teams whose enthusiastic support thru the years has been the most important factor in the development of the All-Star game into America's foremost sports attraction. . . . We are appreciative of the willingness and eagerness of college players and coaches who came from all parts of the land to form a team capable of meeting the world's professional champions. . . . Most of all, our thanks to the football fans of the United States for their encouragement and patronage. . . . More than 1,100 donated $100 apiece to Army Emergency Relief for the privilege of watching the game from a 50 yard seat. . . . Among the crowd of 101,000 are fans from more than 30 states. . . . Ticket applications from California, Florida, Oregon, New York, Virginia, Utah, North Carolina, and Montana attest to the national interest in the game. . . .

The magnitude of the enterprise goes back fundamentally to the regard in which the game is held by the athletes themselves. . . . There isn't a player on an important college eleven who doesn't nourish the hope that he will climax his gridiron competition by participation in the All-Star game. . . . Election to the squad is official recognition of their standing in their various sections. . . . Of all forms of sports fame, that of football probably is less enduring. . . . But the identities of the heroes of the All-Star game persist. . . . Who has forgotten the exploits of Michigan's Chuck Bernard, Notre Dame's Ed Krause, and Oregon's Mike Mikulak in the original game in 1934? . . . Or the forward pass from Texas Christian's Sammy Baugh to Louisiana State's Gaynell Tinsley which gave the All-Stars a 6 to 0 victory over the Green Bay Packers in 1937? . . . The forward passing of Purdue's Cecil Isbell, which stunned the Washington Redskins, 28 to 16, in 1938, will live forever in football lore. . . . Southern California sent a half back, Ambrose Schindler, to the 1940 game whose performance earned him a place on Bob Zuppke's All-Time All-American eleven. . . .

So many have helped to make this ninth annual game the greatest of TRIBUNE promotions that it probably is unfair to single out individuals for our personal thanks. . . . Yet we want you to know that we couldn't have presented the event as you will see it tonight without the help of Maj. Gen. Alexander D. Surles, chief of the war department's public relations; Rear Adm. John Downes, commandant of the 9th naval district; Maj. Gen. George Grunert, commanddant of the 6th service command; Col. John T. Taylor, assistant to Gen. Surles; Commander Gene Tunney and Lieut. Comm. Thomas Hamilton of the navy's physical training programs; Lieut. Col. Walter Jeffrey of the 6th corps area Army Emergency Relief office, and last but by no means least—Lieut. Comm. Carl G. Olson, senior member of the naval aviation cadet selection board in this district. . . .

Adm. John Downes.

Maj. Gen. A. D. Surles.

This may be the last All-Star game for the duration, nobody knows. . . . If there is an All-Star game in 1943, it will be played in Chicago under the auspices of Chicago Tribune Charities between the two greatest teams possible to present. . . . No other attraction would be worthy of the support the All-Star series has received.

Ten Years Ago Today—The Cubs won their 10th straight game and led the league by eight games. . . . Ted Lyons' home run gave the White Sox a 5 to 2 victory over New York. . . . The Pittsburgh Pirates moved back into second place when Brooklyn lost a double header to St. Louis. . . . The Chicago Cardinals football team held its first practice.

World Series to Aid USO and Red Cross

Baseball yesterday cut in the Red Cross and the United Service organizations as partners in the 1942 world series.

Kenesaw M. Landis, baseball commissioner, after a conference with the presidents of the American and National leagues, Will Harridge and Ford Frick, respectively, announced the plan which would net the two organizations $679,006 if the series goes seven games, and provided it is between the Dodgers and Yankees. The figure was based on attendance in the 1941 series between these two clubs. The USO and Red Cross will be notified immediately, Landis said.

Players Lose Only Broadcast Share.

Included in the donation to the two services is the $100,000 obtained from the Gillette Razor company for exclusive broadcast of the games over W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcasting company. Last year, $42,000 of this went into the players' pool, with the remainder going to the two leagues and the clubs.

Except for giving up their part of the broadcast moneys, the players will get their customary share, which is approximately half of the receipts of the first four games. Landis explained this cannot be changed because of the players 'contracts.

Under the plan, the USO and Red Cross will divide approximately one-half of the receipts of the third and fourth series games. If the competition goes over five games, the services will get all the receipts of the sixth and seventh games.

It's a Lot, Either Way.

"There is just one thing I don't like about the plan," said the commissioner. "If the series ends after five games, baseball will get more out of it than the organizations. I checked over the past 20 world series and found that each has averaged 5.71 games. This gives us an expectancy of at least six games this fall."

Based on 1941 figures, the USO and

CURT DAVIS AND DODGERS WHIP CARDINALS, 4 TO 1

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 27 (AP).—The Brooklyn Dodgers, shocked into action by three straight defeats hung on them by a club which still entertained pennant hopes, pounced on St. Louis for a 4 to 1 triumph tonight in the final contest of the four game series. The victory stretched Brooklyn's league lead over the Cardinals to five and one-half games.

The Dodgers gathered all their runs in the fifth on five consecutive singles, an out and then another single. The rampage sent Southpaw Max Lanier, pitching after two days' rest, to the showers.

Davis' 14th Victory.

It was the veteran Curt Davis who gained the pitching laurels in this final game of the series. Altho he doled out eight hits, one more than the Dodgers collected, only in two innings did the Cards group as many as two. It was Davis' 14th triumph of the season, against five defeats.

The fifth inning opened with Dolph Camilli popping out. Mickey Owen started the deluge with a scratch single. That was the wedge. Arky Vaughan singled Owen to third, Vaughan taking second on the throw. Davis sent a sizzling one base hit to center, scoring both runners. Reese kept the rally going with another single which sent Davis to second and Herman stayed in line

RAY ROBINSON FLATTENS MOTISI IN FIRST ROUND

BY FRANK MASTRO.

Ray Robinson scored his 124th victory in a row by knocking out Tony Motisi, Catholic Youth Organization welterweight, in the first round of a scheduled 10 round bout in Comiskey park last night. The uncrowned 147 pound champion was expected to beat Motisi, but not so quickly. It was a surprise to the 8,666 spectators, who contributed to a gross gate of $19,239.39. The net was $15,731.00, which means the show cost Promoter William R. Rand about $7,000.

Robinson, who was making his Chicago debut as a professional, landed the first punch of the encounter, a left hook to the head. This blow stung the Chicago boxer, but he came back swinging both hands to the head and body.

This surprise counter attack caused Robinson to lift his brows. He returned with a series of punches to the face, one of which broke the skin over Tony's right eye. The wallop which did the business came shortly thereafter. It was an accurately delivered left hook to the temple and caught Motisi as he rushed in. The blow sent the CYO fighter to his knees in a neutral corner. As Referee Johnny Behr started his count, Motisi slowly slumped to a sitting position.

When the official finished the count, Tony was making a futile attempt to return to his feet. The time was 2 minutes, 41 seconds.

Only His Second Knockout.

It was only the second knockout Motisi has suffered in 38 bouts during a four year campaign.

Bears Attain Peak Form for All-Star Test

BY EDWARD PRELL.

Sun tanned and invigorated from almost three weeks of the simple and strenuous life in Wisconsin, the World Champion Bears came into the loop yesterday afternoon for tonight's assignment against the College All-Stars in Soldiers' field.

Last night, with the lake front stadium as it will be this evening, except for the 101,200 spectators, the Bears raced thru a workout. They were dressed in their flashing white satin pants and black jerseys with gold numbers. They practiced with a white ball, with two black stripes, the kind which will be used against the All-Americans.

There was a quiet confidence among the 35 players as they rested in their

BY WILFRID SMITH.

At 8:15 tonight the largest Chicago football crowd in more than a decade will jam every seat in Soldiers' field to see the battle between the Chicago Bears, champions of the National Football league, and the College All-Stars.

The attendance—101,200—is a record for the ninth annual game sponsored by The Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc. This throng is cosmopolitan. Fans have come from all sections of the nation to see the game that has been established as the greatest feature of the sport.

These fans have paid approximately $300,000 and from this will come $160,000 for the army and navy relief funds. This includes $111,600 that was raised by special contributions and which already has been presented to the army relief organization.

Get There Early!

Chicago is the capital of the football world for the day. Out of town visitors were arriving all day yesterday and by afternoon the loop will present an appearance only equaled at other All-Star games or in the halcyon days when Notre Dame and Southern California played in Soldiers' field. The throng presents a traffic problem that only can be solved by the coöperation of the fans. Police officials advise that it is physically impossible to handle 100,000 people in less than an hour. Gates will be opened at 6 p. m.

Ceremonies will start promptly at 8:15, when the lights will be turned out and spotlights will be focused on a huge American flag at the north end of the stadium. After the flag has been unfurled Elmer Layden, commissioner of professional football, will present the Joe Carr trophy to Don Hutson, Green Bay end, who was voted the league's most valuable player in 1941.

Stagg to Present Trophy.

A. A. Stagg, who coached the University of Chicago football teams for 41 years and who now, at 80 years of age, still is actively engaged in his profession at the College of the Pacific, then will present the All-Stars most valuable trophy to George Franck. The former Minnesota half back was voted this honor by newspaper men for his performance last August against the professional champions.

Immediately after the presentations and acceptances, spotlights will focus on the runway near the goal line at the west side of the stadium. The members of the Bears' starting eleven will be introduced one by one and after them will come the Bears' coaches, Luke Johnsos, Hunk Anderson, Paddy Driscoll, and George Halas.

Then for the Stars.

The spotlights will then shift to the east side of the field and Vince Banonis, University of Detroit center, will be the first of the All-American eleven to be introduced. One by one, these players, who were elected to start against the Bears by nearly five million fans, will take the field. More than 200 newspapers and radio stations, located in 38 states and the Dis-

There are still seats available for the greatest of all football games, the ninth annual All-Star contest at Soldiers' field tonight between the College All-Americans and Chicago Bears. There are a few at $3.30, and 5,000 at $1.10.

Tickets will be on sale until 6 p. m. at The Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn and in Tribune Tower, and at Soldiers' field after 10 a. m.

DYKES COUNTS NOSES; CAN PLAY RED SOX TODAY

Dispensary Is Filled and Wright Is Gone.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., Aug. 27.—James J. Dykes, the White Sox boss, checked over the list of able bodied men at his command today and made the pleasant discovery that, barring fresh complications, he'll have enough to go around tomorrow in the opener of a two game series with the Red Sox. The latter, incidentally, are busy again trying to revive the pennant bug and with the Yankees appearing a bit touchy it could be done, but so far as anybody knows, the champions still have that knack for bearing down when the pressure becomes uncomfortable.

Kennedy to Replace Wright.

What with Taft Wright gone away to the army and the dispensary filled with leg casualties, Dykes will have to devise a lineup without much regard for the positions to which some of the boys are accustomed. It was bad enough in New York where Second Baseman Don Kolloway had to play first base because of Joe Kuhel's ailment. Now with Wright gone Bob Kennedy will abandon third basing for a few lessons in left fielding.

Just how long this patchy arrangement will exist is a matter for the cripples to decide. Kuhel's groin injury was less painful today, but the veteran fears it will suffer a setback if he tries to run without adequate rest. Sammy West's jammed ankle won't permit him to indulge in fly chasing and Dario Lodigiani believes it will take a few more days at least to complete repairs in his recently spiked knee. Until he's ready, the third basing will be handled by Shortstop Leo Wells.

Loss of Wright a Blow.

Wright's going to the army put quite a dent in the Sox besides the fact that it created an outfield shortage, altho Bill Mueller, 21 year old outfielder from Waterloo of the Three Eye league, will report to the Sox here Saturday. He is batting .270. Wright was their most talented bat wielder, so it is a cinch they are going to have more trouble than ever in their daily efforts to collect some runs. However, their chances for finishing in the first division have become hopeless and there isn't much prospect that they can be shoved any lower than their present sixth position, so there's really no reason for them to become depressed. If they need cheering up they can be reminded that they'll probably have a chance a brush off the Cubs in another city series.

Lee Buck Ross will start against the Red Sox tomorrow and for the season's finale here Dykes will feed the locals a dose of Jake Wade's southpawing. If he can get by with these two men, he'll be in fair shape for pitchers in the two subsequent series. They have four games Sunday and Monday in Philadelphia and after resting on Tuesday will go to Washington for four battles in two afternoons.

That was the end of the road for Lanier. He was replaced by Southpaw Ernie White who forced Reiser to foul out. Brooklyn had only one more hit in its bag and it was supplied by Joe Medwick to score Reese.

An error enabled the Cardinals to score an unearned run in the third inning. Martin Marion opened with a single and, after Lanier was automatically out for bunting foul on the third strike, Marion was forced at second by Jimmy Brown.

Terry Moore bounded to Peewee Reese, who threw to second trying for a forceout, but Billy Herman missed the throw, Brown taking third and Moore reaching first. Enos Slaughter then doubled against the wall in right center, scoring Brown but Moore was out at the plate, Pete Reiser to Herman to Mickey Owen.

Coast Conference Bars Two Freshman Athletes

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 27 (AP).—Edwin N. Atherton, athletic commissioner of the Pacific Coast conference, said today two freshmen students at Pacific northwest schools had been ruled ineligible for football competition because of violations of the conference recruiting rules. He identified them as Robert Lee Keiser of Hoquiam, Wash., student at Oregon State college, and William L. Walsh, University of Washington student from Chicago. He said that in Keiser's case the recruiting was done by an Oregon State college student at the suggestion and with the guidance of football coach and in Walsh's case was done by a prominent Washington alumnus in Chicago.

Fitness to Be Wailing Wall Subject Today

Two former head coaches of All-Star football teams—A. N. [Bo] McMillin and Lieut. Col. Biernie Bierman—and a group of military physical training experts will headline the season's first luncheon meeting of the Wailing wall in the grand ballroom of the Sherman hotel at noon today.

McMillin, Indiana university coach, will be toastmaster for the meeting and will introduce a number of army and navy men, including Col. Bierman, recently of Minnesota, and now the athletic director and head football coach at the navy preflight school at Iowa City.

Bierman was All-Star boss in 1936, and McMillin directed the collegians in 1938, the year they defeated the Washington Redskins, 28 to 16.

Executives to Attend.

Members of the Wailing wall and their guests will be joined in the luncheon meeting by the members of the Executives' club and a number of football coaches and athletic directors who will be here for the evening's contest.

The biggest physical training job which the nation has ever undertaken will be discussed by the following officers:

Lieut. Comm. Tom Hamilton, chief, navy preflight schools; Col. Bierman, Lieut. Col. Theodore Bank, army athletic officer; James Pixlee, chief, physical training army air forces; Lieut. Comm. J. Russell Cook, athletic officer, Great Lakes; Lieut. Comm. Harvey J. Harman, athletic director, and Lieut. Comm. Jim Crowley, head football coach, both of the navy preflight school, Chapel Hill, N. C.; Lieut. Comm. Frank Wickhorst, assistant chief, navy preflight schools; Lieut. Comm. Sam Barry, athletic director, navy preflight school Moraga, Cal.; Lieut. Col. J. Henry Pool chief of special training, headquarters, army air forces, and Maj. Frank J. McCormick, army procurement officer.

A. A. Stagg, dean of American football coaches now at the College of the Pacific, and James Hagan, University of Pittsburgh, director of athletics, will be among the group sitting in on the discussion.

Question Period Is Planned.

McMillin will introduce each of the panel of officers. They will speak briefly on phases of the program. McMillin then will ask the group a series of questions, some submitted in advance by Wailing wall members and others, and some from the floor.

The discussion probably will center on the fact that a large part of America's military reserve man power is in high schools, colleges, and universities, and on what these and other civilian institutions can do to further the physical training program.

RHEINGOLDS WIN NO-HIT SOFTBALL GAME OVER GARY

Only four games were played in the Amateur Softball association tournament last night. In the girls' division, Marge Nicholls pitched a no hit no run game as the Rheingolds defeated Gary, 6 to 0, in Parichy stadium. In the men's division, American Steel of Waukegan defeated the Suburban Oils of Oak Park, 3 to 2, in 11 innings and the Phoenix club of Aurora scored its second shutout, beating the Oak Park Elks, 8 to 0, in Parichy stadium. In the only game played on Shewbridge field the Fiedler-Mohr men of Blue Island eliminated the Naborhood Taverns, 3 to 0. Tonight's schedule for the girls:

Giants Close Pre-Season Drill; Face Rams Sunday

Superior, Wis., Aug. 27 (AP).—The New York Giants closed their preseason training here with a light drill today and entrained for Akron, O., where they will play the Cleveland Rams on Sunday. The club worked out here for 22 days. Coach Steve Owen said he believed the Giants would be a strong offensive team despite the loss of 20 members of last year's squad to the armed forces.

PORTAGE BEATS COLUMBUS PARK FOR TITLE, 4 TO 3

Portage Park won the Liberty league baseball championship yesterday, but needed 10 innings to defeat Columbus Park, 4 to 3, in Wrigley field. The game, the second between the two teams, was the playoff of a title contest a week ago in which the 9 to 14 year old youngsters battled 12 innings to a 16-16 tie.

Wally Rasmussen was the victors' individual hero. He limited Columbus Park to nine hits and drove in the winning run in the 10th. Roy Giovanetti scored the deciding tally. He went to first on an error, was singled to third by Gene Stannenberg, and romped home on Rasmussen's single. Score:

Columbus Park....200 001 000 0—3 9 3
Portage Park......001 101 000 1—4 12 3

Batteries—Mikolas and James; Rasmussen and Stannenberg.

Indians Stop Red Sox After 9 in Row, 4 to 2

Boston, Mass., Aug. 27 (AP).—A revamped Cleveland lineup beat the Boston Red Sox, 4 to 2, today and burst two Boston bubbles—Pitcher Tex Hughson's run of 11 consecutive victories and the Red Sox's string of nine triumphs. A two run rally in the ninth gave Jim Bagby his 15th victory and the Indians the only triumph of the four game series.

Ted Williams' 27th homer in the first inning gave Boston its first run and the Sox's second tally was an unearned run in the fourth inning.

IT'S CUBS' TURN TO WORK OUT ON DODGERS TODAY

Passeau to Try for 18th Victory of Season.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Cubs really relaxed yesterday, for they are very, very anxious to defeat the somewhat bruised Brooklyn Dodgers in Wrigley field this afternoon and tomorrow afternoon. Knowing how they have almost choked to death in many previous matches with the champs this year, they realized they simply had to rest yesterday—a day off for the Cubs, but not the Dodgers, who still were in St. Louis.

Claude Passeau, who has defeated the Dodgers twice this year, the last time with the ninth inning aid of Lon Warneke, will try for his 18th victory of the season this afternoon. Tomorrow Warneke, who shut out the Cincinnati Reds Sunday on two hits [immediately after Passeau had blanked them, 3 to 0, on nine hits], will face Leo Durocher's slightly panicked protégés.

Face Series Bravely.

The Cubs will go into the two game series undaunted by a record that has been rather sour in Dodger competition this year. Thus far they have beaten the Dodgers four times in 19 tries. The only thing that makes this an overwhelmingly humiliating ratio is the realization that all the other teams in the National league have gulped just as hard in the presence of the Dodgers as have the Cubs.

The Dodgers have beaten the third place Giants 12 out of 18, the fourth place Reds 13 out of 18, the fifth place Pirates 11 out of 15, the seventh place Braves 13 out of 18, and the last place Phils 12 out of 15.

Dodgers Really Mad.

The Dodgers are said to be fighting mad as a result of having lost their big series in St. Louis, and thus far have had the better of the Cubs in rough stuff as well as practical baseball results. The Cubs are not exactly afraid of the Dodgers physically, however, and have promised to hold up their end if the scene becomes riotous, as it did in one of the games the last time the Dodgers were here.

The two game series here will be the last opportunity, excepting one game in Brooklyn on Sept. 10, that the Cubs will have to glean any degree of revenge against the Dodgers. They will have other opportunities to figure in the pennant race, however, for they still have four games to play against the second place Cardinals. Thus far they have been slightly more successful against the Cards than the Dodgers. They have defeated the St. Louisans five times in 18 tries.

WINKLERS, BOMBERS MEET.

Red Cross would get $357,544 and baseball, not including the players, $420,296 if the series goes five games. If the series ends after four games, the figure for the two organizations would be unchanged, while the leagues' and clubs' combined take would be only $157,496.

By getting all receipts from the sixth and seventh games, if played, the two beneficiaries' total would soar to $679,006. If it ended after the sixth game, the amount would be $518,275, according to the estimate.

Starts with National League.

Landis explained that a simpler plan would have been to divide equally the receipts between baseball and the two groups, but said this was not practicable because baseball would have had to pay income tax on the amount it gave away. He explained that it is planned to draw up contracts with the USO and Red Cross, with baseball as agents for these charities. What these two organizations are given will be placed in a separate fund.

Landis pointed out that the world series will start in a National league city and then shift to the larger Yankee stadium for games two, three, and four. The USO-Red Cross participation in the receipts does not start until the third game for the reason it will be higher, he said. Receipts at Brooklyn for each of the first two games last year were $160,731. For the games in Yankee stadium they were more than twice as much, $262,800.

USO Accepts Offer.

In New York, Paul Badger, administrative vice president of the USO, declared "the USO is extremely grateful at this gesture and will be glad to participate in the world series receipts." Comment in other USO quarters was equally warm.

YOUTH IS SERVED IN CASTING MEET; 10 YEAR OLD WINS

Miller Scores Double in National Event.

BY BEN MARKLAND.

One day last summer a 10 year old boy wandered into the grounds of the Lincoln Park Casting club to watch the club members toss white casting plugs into floating rings. He decided he would like this game, but didn't have the money to buy the necessary rod, reel, and line. A few days later he reappeared, this time with a rod bought from the dime store and a reel made from a wooden spool taken from his mother's sewing kit.

Yesterday this same boy, Paul Brewer Jr., 2530 North Orchard street, won the title of American juvenile casting champion in the national tournament being held at the Lincoln Park club.

Members Lend a Hand.

Business men members of the club who had watched him cast with his homemade outfit chipped in and bought him a set of regular casting equipment with all the trimmings. After receiving the new gear, he started practicing in earnest late last summer and began again this spring as soon as the ice was out of the Lincoln park lagoon. Yesterday this 84 pound youngster made a score of 96 in the juvenile event to defeat a field which included several boys of 15 and 16, and the men who had given him his equipment were his chief fans.

Mrs. Harry McDonald of the Jackson Park Casting club and Dick Miller, Huntington Beach, Cal., both of whom won their events in Wednesday's opening competition, came back in attempts for additional titles yesterday. Mrs. McDonald failed by a slim margin in her quest for the ⅝ ounce women's title after winning the ⅜ championship Wednesday, but Miller added the distance fly championship to the salmon fly title won in the tournament's first session.

One Cast Is 155 Feet.

Miller averaged 145½ feet to win the distance fly, with a long cast of 152 feet. Ben Malesky, runner-up, had the longest single cast—155 feet—but his average was four feet less than that of Miller.

Mrs. McDonald was tied with Mrs. Jack Lewis of Indianapolis until the tenth ring of the ⅝ event, but lost when Mrs. Lewis scored a perfect final cast while her last toss was a few inches outside the ring. Summaries:

DISTANCE FLY—Won by Dick Miller, Huntington Beach, Cal., average 145½ feet; Ben Malesky, Worcester, Mass., second, average 140¼ feet; Paul Ufer, Toledo, O., third, average 132⅓ feet; Everett Karlene, Toledo, O., fourth, average 132 feet.

LADIES' ⅝ OUNCE ACCURACY—Won by Mrs. Jack Lewis, Indianapolis, 96; Mrs. Harry McDonald, Jackson Park Casting club, second, 95; Mrs. U. J. Bauer, Akron, O., tie for third, 94; Mrs. Myrtle Sutphin, Indianapolis, tie for third, 94.

JUVENILE ⅝ OUNCE ACCURACY—Won by Paul Brewer Jr., Lincoln Park Casting club, 96; Charles Sutphin, Indianapolis, second, 95; William Bizek Jr., Lincoln Park Casting club, third, 94; Harold Dixon, St. Louis, fourth, 93.

Bears Attain Peak Form for All-Star Test

Palmer House headquarters. Danny Fortmann, co-captain, mirrored the attitude of the champions when he said:

"I wasn't what you would call confident before last year's game. And I'm more doubtful of the outcome this time, tho I really believe we will win after a hard game. Of course, we have good full backs—Bill Osmanski and Gary Famiglietti—to name a couple. But last year we had these two, plus Norm Standlee. Right half backs? Yes, we have Hugh Gallarneau and Scooter McLean. But we also had George McAfee in that 1941 game."

Shaughnessy Is Confident.

The big worry—whether the Bears have attained the right mental stage for their test—was dissipated when Clark Shaughnessy, whose T formation teams at Stanford gave collegiate football its big punch in 1940, said he was sure the professionals were coming up to the contest in the right frame of mind. Shaughnessy lent his genius to Coach George Halas and his associates at the Bears' training camp in Delafield, Wis.

There is no doubt about the physical condition of the squad. The very method of training, a minimum of contact work with emphasis placed on mastery of split second handling of the ball and a thoro knowledge of what's what on every play, precluded injury. The only major injury was suffered by Bob Nowaskey, end, whose knee was wrenched in the champions' 32 to 6 tuneup victory last Saturday over the Camp Grant Warriors. Nowaskey will be able to play.

They Can Expect Anything.

Before leaving Delafield the Bears held a drill in the St. John's Military academy gymnasium. They were warned to expect anything when the All-Stars, coached by Bob Zuppke and a staff of able aids, have possession of the ball.

The Bears, who met and whipped the All-Stars last year, 37 to 13, had the same personnel of the team which a few months before had routed Washington, 73 to 0, for the professional title. They could have been pardoned for being overconfident against the All-Americans, yet they weren't. This team which meets the All-Stars has lost 13 men, the majority because of the war. This would be a check on any tendency to underestimate their task, if any were needed.

The Bears will rest in their hotel rooms until 4 o'clock, when they will eat a hearty dinner—at least those whose appetite does not suffer as game time nears. Joe Stydahar, for instance, becomes so wound up thinking about a game, he settles for soft boiled eggs, toast, and tea. There will be a last minute meeting of the squad in the afternoon, at which time the champions' plan of attack and defense again will be discussed.

Halas in Midseason Form.

Coach George Halas, perhaps just desiring to be a bit mysterious, would not announce his starting lineup. There were two certain changes over 1941. Dick Plasman, who started at left end, is in the marines and that position will be manned at the beginning by John Siegal, who was one of the right ends last year. Hugh Gallarneau will start at right half instead of McAfee, and the speedy fellow from Stanford well may turn out to be the champions' niftiest runner on the field. Otherwise there is no change in the starting back field, with a trifle heavier Sid Luckman at quarter back. Ray Nolting at left half, and Osmanski at full back.

Here Comes Charley.

Charley O'Rourke, the lanky blond from Boston college, who fired a touchdown pass to Jackie Robinson for the collegians last year, will draw more attention than perhaps any of the Bears' newcomers.

The Bears are not without a Cinderella player. He is Arnold Winters, a 210 pound Chicago boy who is making the leap into football's biggest game from prairie football. Arnold, who played in the Chicago Metropolitan Amateur league last year, came to the Bears' camp on his own. He was so impressive in practice that he survived a squad cut. The big tackle ended his high school football career two years ago at Lane Tech.

C Men Honor Stagg

Former athletes of the University of Chicago who now are members of the Order of the C yesterday afternoon gathered in Mandel's grill room to honor their old coach—Amos Alonzo Stagg. The College of the Pacific football coach, who spent 40 years on the Midway, tonight will present the All-Star most valuable player trophy to George Franck, star of the 1941 All-American squad between halves of the Chicago Bears-All-Stars' contest in Soldiers' field.

After the last of the players, Jack Graf, Ohio State full back, has taken the field, the All-Star coaches will be introduced. These men are Burt Ingwersen, Northwestern; Lon Stiner, Oregon State; Homer Norton, Texas A. & M.; Lynn Waldorf, Northwestern, and Bob Zuppke, who completed 29 years of service last fall at the University of Illinois. Frank Leahy of Notre Dame, who also was a member of the All-Star coaching staff, will be unable to attend because of illness.

It's a Military Spectacle.

Several factors have combined to make this game a sellout. It is one of the most important in the history of the series, which The Tribune Charities inaugurated in 1934. The pageantry and color which are paralleled only in the Army-Navy game, have had no small part in making the game attractive. This year, with the nation at war, attention is turned to the armed forces and the thousands of sailors, marines, and soldiers in attendance will remind that all of us are engaged in a fight to retain the American way of life. The ideals of sportsmanship and fair play, which the rivals carry into the game, are the principles for which the nation is fighting in world wide conflict.

Bears Always Produce Action.

The Bears' famed T formation, from which sharp thrusts into the line or lateral and forward passes by Sid Luckman have confounded opponents, is a spectators' type of game. But the Bears have no patent on spectacular play. It has been said that Bob Zuppke taught fundamental plays from the T formation long before public attention was centered on it in recent years by the Bears and Stanford university. Certainly, Zuppke has given the All-Stars an attack that in many respects will be similar and could have been identical if Zuppke had wished.

Followers of the collegians are hopeful that the All-Stars also have become familiar with the Bears' attack by the similarity of their own offense to it. Such was the intent and the All-Stars will demonstrate lateral and forward passes that may give the pro champions a bit of their own medicine.

Fans Back the Champions.

This All-Star team has over all strength and, while it may not match previous teams at some positions, it is by no means impotent. Impartial observers have rated it superior to the 1941 squad. Bruce Smith, Minnesota half back, who will pair with Steve Juzwik of Notre Dame at the half back posts, is a triple threat man around whom the Gophers built teams that have won 17 consecutive games. Smith's accurate passing, his steady punting, and his sweeping runs are important in the All-Stars' plans.

Everybody Knows Steve.

Juzwik, a Chicago boy, needs no introduction. He and Pete Kmetovic, Stanford right half back, are the fastest men on the college squad. Supporting Smith are Bill Dudley of Virginia, who may become the star of the night; Jack Jacobs of Oklahoma, Bob Moser of Texas A. & M., Andy Tomasic of Temple, Jack Hunt of Marshall college, and Dick Fisher of Ohio State. At right half are Bob Dethman of Oregon State's Rose bowl championship team; Steve Lach of Duke, beaten by Oregon State in that game; Bob Robertson of Southern California, and Harry Ice of Missouri.

Bob Westfall of Michigan and Bob Sweiger of Minnesota are ready to help Graf at the full back spot. Dick Erdlitz, Northwestern's keen field general, is the starting quarter back. Lloyd Cheatham, a husky blocker from Alabama Poly; Bob Hargrave of Notre Dame, and Tom Farris of Wisconsin are other quarter backs who will see action.

This All-Star squad has the finest group of centers in the history of the competition. Banonis of Detroit will start, but Bob Gude of Vanderbilt; Bob Ingalls of Michigan; Vic Lindskog of Stanford; Bill Diehl of Iowa, and Bill Chadwick of Beloit complete the group without peer in the last eight years.

Bernie Crimmins, Notre Dame right guard, is captain of the All-Stars. His defensive work may be a deciding factor in tonight's game. Moreover, Crimmins is the fastest guard in the list that includes Bob Jeffries of Missouri, Ray Frankowski of Washington, George Abel of Nebraska, Bob Maddock of Notre Dame, Larry Sartori of Fordham, Tom Melton of Purdue, and Butch Levy of Minnesota. Levy may not be able to play because of an injury.

Jim Daniell of Ohio State and Al Blozis, 250 pound Georgetown star, will be the starting tackles. Zuppke also can call on Jack Stephenson of Ohio State, Paul Lillis, captain of Notre Dame's undefeated 1941 team, Clarence Herndon of Nebraska, Urban Odson of Minnesota, Jim Walker of Iowa, and Alf Bauman of Northwestern.

Kutner and Ringer at End.

The starting ends are Mal Kutner of Texas and Judd Ringer of Minnesota. Outstanding pass receiver is Henry Stanton of Arizona. Fred Meyer of Stanford also has repeatedly shown his skill in the All-Stars' practice games. Holt Rast of Alabama, Bob Fitch of Minnesota, and John Kovatch of Notre Dame are certain to have a share in the game.

The biggest ceremonies in the history of the All-Star games will be staged between the halves. At the finale 2,900 soldiers, sailors, and marines will be on the field. G. Cliffe Bainum of Northwestern university is director of the ceremonies. He has assembled a band of 175 musicians for the marching formations, which annually have featured this part of the spectacle. When the stadium is darkened the musicians' instruments will be outlined by 5,000 lights.

Within the ivy-covered walls of this distillery no whiskey other than Old Taylor has ever been made.

THE late Col. E. H. Taylor Jr. wrote a fine hand. But he was an even better hand at making bourbon. He judged one so far the best that he proudly gave it his name. That one is OLD TAYLOR. In its bottle, you identify it by his signature on the label. In your glass, you identify this princely bourbon by its glorious good taste.

OUTSIDERS MUST BE CONSIDERED IN AMERICAN DERBY

Field for Derby

SEVEN horses remain in the field of possible starters for tomorrow's American Derby over the mile and a quarter route at Washington Park. All except With Regards are considered sure to go. The field follows:

Horse—	Wt.	Jockey—	Pr. odds.
Alsab	126	G. Woolf	4-5
Valdina Orphan	126	F. Zufelt	2-1
Rounders	121	F. A. Smith	2-1
Aletern	121	L. Balaski	8-1
King's Abbey	118	R. Neves	10-1
Anticlimax	121	S. Brooks	20-1
With Regards	121	J. Longden	20-1

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Race fans who habitually look for outsiders to knock off the favorites in important stake events will have Aletern, King's Abbey, and Anticlimax to consider in tomorrow's $78,000 American Derby at Washington Park. While the heaviest betting will be divided between Alsab and Emerson F. Woodward's entry of Valdina Orphan and Rounders, the three others may be expected to get to the post at fairly high odds. In the event of mud, With Regards also may join the starters.

Of the three outsiders, Aletern is generally considered the most dangerous. He raced in good company thruout the Arlington meeting without getting anything, but instead of dropping him down his handlers kept him right up there and he rewarded their confidence by an excellent performance in winning the $7,500 Sheridan handicap on the first Saturday of the Washington Park meeting.

Strong Stretch Runner.

On that occasion, at a mile and a furlong, Aletern demonstrated a strong stretch running ability. In the Dick Welles handicap last week he was thoroly pocketed in the stretch and was unable to make a move, finishing far back. That, however, was no true index of his capability.

Anticlimax ran remarkably well in winning a mile and an eighth gallop Tuesday. Steve Brooks took him to the front on the break and kept him there all the way to complete the trip in 1:50 1-5, three-fifths of a second slower than the track record. The stewards announced yesterday that Brooks, now under suspension, would be permitted to fulfill his engagement as Anticlimax's rider tomorrow.

King's Abbey never has been able to win a stake race, but he has been up there prominently in high grade company and there's always the possibility that he might have a good day and turn on some real running. He was beaten only half a length by Alsab in the Dick Welles handicap last week.

With Regards Below Form.

With Regards has been training off lately and has indicated that he is somewhat below his best form. This fast breaking front runner had shown ability to carry his speed for more than a mile earlier in the season and he won the Victory handicap on the last day of the Arlington meeting, but in his last few starts he has shown a disposition to give up after going half a mile or so. He was on the track yesterday for a workout, going a mile and an eighth in 1:55 3-5. Then he galloped out another eighth, easing up, to finish the Derby route of a mile and a quarter in 2:11 2-5.

Another Just Misses Third Money.

Louis B. Mayer made up his mind that he wanted to win the $4,000 Pollyanna stakes yesterday at Washington Park with no fooling about it. So his trainer, Graceton Philpot, sent three fillies—Miss Barbara, Dear Judy, and Samaritan—into this race, which drew six starters.

Miss Barbara finished first, Samaritan second, and Dear Judy was beaten out of third place by Mrs. Jake Lowenstein's Remind by the margin of a nose.

Odds Are Down, 2 to 5.

The Mayer entry was so heavily backed in this 6 furlong dash that the three fillies were quoted at 2 to 5.

Dear Judy took over the pace making assignment soon after the start. Miss Barbara was following closely and Remind was third. Meanwhile Samaritan was taking things easily, quite a way back.

Remind Makes Move.

Approaching the stretch, Remind moved up head and head with Miss Barbara while Dear Judy continued to go winging along in front by a length. Here Samaritan began closing ground swiftly, racing quite wide. In the stretch, Dear Judy gave way, but by this time Samaritan had come up to join Miss Barbara and these two shared command. Miss Barbara drew away from her stablemate in the last stages and won by two and a half lengths.

DAD MYER DIES; OLD TIME BOXER AND TRACK AID

Miami, Fla., Aug. 27 (AP).—William Austin ["Dad"] Myer, 82 years old, superintendent of grounds at Tropical Park and onetime bareknuckle fighter, died today at his home in Coral Gables. He achieved boxing fame in the 1880's as the "Streator cyclone," after Streator, Ill. He fought Jack McAuliffe for the world lightweight championship, but lost.

For 49 years Myer had been tending racing surfaces at such tracks as Washington Park, Arlington Park, Hawthorne, Sportsman's Park, Hot Springs, Saratoga, Belmont Park, and Tropical Park. UNKNOWNS LEAD GRAND AMERICAN TRAPSHOOTING

Shift to 200 Targets Is Futile; Ammann Has 97.

Vandalia, O., Aug. 27 (AP).—The Amateur Trap Shooting association's experiment of boosting the $10,000 Grand American handicap from 100 to 200 targets appeared futile today as unknowns took charge just as they have for the last 42 years. The change was made to give the star shooters, handicapped far back, a chance to win over novices who shoot from nearer the traps and who might enjoy a hot day.

Tonight 185 of the field of 935 were still waiting to shoot, but two unknowns were out front for the first half of the program, to be completed tomorrow. Heading the list today were Everett Addy, a 48 year old sheet metal worker from Springfield, O., and A. H. Ammann, 60 year old veteran from Peotone, Ill. The two cracked 97 of 100, Addy from 19 yards and Ammann from 22.

Addy Injured En Route.

Addy was injured Tuesday in an automobile accident en route to the big shoot, and fired today with a bandaged forehead and knee. Ammann, a grandfather, is an uncle of Lela Hall of Strasburg, Mo., five time winner of the woman's title.

Back of them in the two day chase for the biggest crown in the clay target game were nine shooters with scores of 96, few of them listed among the country's hot shots. They included J. W. Eshelman of Lancaster, Pa.; Dr. J. B. West of Seattle, Wash.; Art Finney of Mankato, Minn.; A. C. Holme of Minneapolis; Lawrence Bollman of Prophetstown, Ill., and H. E. Bloomerader of Highmore, S. D.

The old tradition that no man can win the event twice appeared safe for another year as 11 former champions finished far down the line. Only Fred Harlow of Newark, O., the 1908 king, broke more than 89. Harlow had 91.

Two Tie at 89.

B. F. Cheek of Clinton, Ind., and L. G. Dana of Derrick City, Pa., had 89. F. G. Carroll of Brecksville, O.; A. E. Sheffield of Dixon, Ill., and Ike Andrews of Spartanburg, S. C., had 86. Walter Beaver of Conshohocken, Pa., had 85. D. L. Ritchie of Goshen, O., and C. A. Young of Springfield, O., had 84.

Defending Champion Walter Tulburt of Detroit had 80, and E. H. Wolfe of Charleston, W. Va., 78.

Army, Navy Football Game Is a Problem

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27 (AP).—Whether or not some 100,000 football fans will flock to Philadelphia Nov. 28 for the Army-Navy game remained today a problem for Secretary of War Stimson to solve.

There were veiled hints that the sports spectacle might be canceled because of the exigencies of the war, but nothing official came out of the war department.

Transportation a Factor.

The game still is scheduled, but army officials said there was no certainty it would be played. The need for rail transportation for the armed forces would be one controling factor in the final decision, it was indicated.

Such a decision would rest with Secretary Stimson because of the army's function in protecting the land areas and keeping a close check on transportation matters, and would not come out of any joint discussions between athletic representatives of the two services, it was said.

Col. Lawrence [Biff] Jones, graduate manager of athletics at West Point, said he had heard nothing about cancelation and that the army was going ahead with plans for the game.

No Information at Annapolis.

Commander L. S. Perry, naval academy athletic director, said at Annapolis he had no official information about cancelation.

Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson has said repeatedly that the army might have to cut down spectator sports to ease the strain on transportation facilities, not only rail, but automobiles as well.

The Office of Price Administration lately has disclosed it would determine whether motorists with extra gas rations are violating regulations by driving to sports events, etc.

Last year the Navy won, 14 to 6. The first game between the two was played Nov. 29, 1890, with the Navy the victor, 24 to 0. The games were canceled in 1917 and 1918 because of the war.

STAR RACERS TO RESUME SERIES THIS AFTERNOON

The yachtsmen competing in the 19th annual international Star class championship regatta here this week will resume racing at 1:30 p. m. today off Chicago harbor. The 16 skippers and their crews spent yesterday drying their sails—which they brought from their own boats—and repairing other gear on the 16 local Star yachts being used in the five race series.

Harry Nye Jr., of the Southern Lake Michigan fleet, who was runner up in the 1941 world's championship regatta, leads the fleet by one point in the current series. He and his crew, Lieut. Col. Stanley Fahlstrom, fly the Chicago Yacht club burgee.

The skippers and crews will be guests of the Sheridan Shore Yacht club at Wilmette tonight following the race.

FEDERAL UNIT TO COMMANDEER SOY BEAN CROP

Details of Program Expected Today.

BY PHILIP WARDEN.

For the first time in history the government has commandeered for disposal at its own discretion and own price the entire yield of a major farm crop. Details of the program whereby Uncle Sam "takes over" are expected to be outlined in Washington, D. C., today.

Philip R. O'Brien [top] and Paul Mathias.

The crop is the soy bean. Its oil, from which are made cooking oils, oleomargarine, paints, plastics, and a wide variety of other products, is vital to the war effort. Illinois is its major producer, growing almost twice as many soy beans as any other state.

Groundwork for the government's step was laid last winter, according to soy bean dealers. At that time the department of agriculture promised farmers it would pay them highly attractive prices this year if they would make 1942 soy bean production the largest in all agricultural history.

Market Price Weakens.

The price it promised the farmer for his beans was $1.60 a bushel. Subsequently this offer was boosted to $1.67 a bushel. At the time the price was announced, the farmer was getting as high as $1.80 a bushel because supplies were scarce and the demand large.

But as the 1941 crop poured onto the markets, demand for the oil slackened. And for the major byproduct of soy bean oil—soy bean meal, production of which goes far in determining the price paid the farmer for his beans—there was almost no market. Consequently bean prices started to drop.

Meanwhile the attractive prices promised the farmer for the new crop were achieving their purpose. Soy bean acreage was increased tremendously and crop prospects have continued bright. Production is expected to exceed even the most optimistic forecasts, but there has been little improvement in the oil or meal markets.

Plans Initiated Early.

Knowing that the large production would make trade maintenance of such a price impossible and that the beans eventually would come into government hands thru a "loan" program operated by the department of agriculture thru the Commodity Credit corporation, administration officials early in the year made plans with processors for handling of the crop.

From the War Production board the Commodity Credit corporation got an order giving it the power to "allocate to itself the entire production or any portion thereof of vegetable oil seed products for resale by it on such terms as it deems appropriate." Grain men assert that in substance, this order gives the government authority to direct the purchase of all or any quantity of soy beans, to store and crush them, and to determine the area within which soy bean products may or may not be purchased.

Similar programs have been worked out for both the flaxseed and the peanut crops. The department of agriculture has announced that Commodity Credit corporation has entered into an agreement with processors which requires them to purchase flaxseed at $2.40 a bushel if they wish the guarantee of a government loan of 12 cents a pound for linseed oil.

O'Brien Heads Delegation.

Philip R. O'Brien, president of the Chicago Board of Trade, and a delegation of grain men are in Washington to seek a modification of the government's program. M. L. Vehon also is there from the grain exchange, along with grain men from other major markets.

Paul Mathias, secretary of the Illinois Agricultural association, Chicago, will represent the farmers. George D. Bradley, Chicago regional director, and J. H. Lloyd, who will have charge of soy beans, represent the local office of the Commodity Credit corporation. A large delegation of processors also is expected.

Grain men are expected to ask that the program be modified so that the soy beans can be marketed thru normal trade channels.

RAILROADS MOVE BIGGEST FREIGHT TRAFFIC OF YEAR

Loadings of revenue freight during the week ended Aug. 22 totaled 869,404 cars, the largest so far this year, the Association of American Railroads reported yesterday. This was an increase of 559 cars, or 0.1 per cent, compared with the preceding week; a decrease of 30,384 cars, or 3.4 per cent, compared with a year ago.

The report classified the loadings as follows:

Cotton Farmer Urged to Hold for High Price

Jackson, Miss., Aug. 27 (AP).—The Southern Association of Commissioners of Agriculture at a meeting here today joined the movement to hold the 1942 cotton crop in government loan until a 21.47 cent a pound price is reached.

With commissioners or representatives from 11 states attending, the association unanimously adopted a resolution calling on farmers to keep their cotton off the market.

Another resolution asked the United States department of agriculture to scrap the present parity formula and adopt a new price level "based on present economic conditions."

Oppose Sugar Limitation.

The cotton resolution followed closely the wording of one adopted two days ago at a meeting in Dallas, Tex., attended by Senators John H. Bankhead of Alabama, Elmer Thomas of Oklahoma, and W. Lee O'Daniel of Texas.

Earlier the group approved a resolution urging that no limitation be put on sugar acreage.

Declaring that congress had passed legislation directing Price Administrator Leon Henderson not to place any ceiling on cotton goods which would prevent payment of a 21.47 cent price for middling ⅞ inch cotton at interior points, Commissioner J. E. McDonald of Texas said "the public is going to pay on the basis of the ceiling price anyhow, so unless we farmers obtain our price we're just lessening our chances to produce for defense without helping the consumer."

Doubts Adequate Crop.

McDonald said that because of the scarcity of agricultural labor and increasing labor costs, "regardless of the price, the south next year will not be able to produce an adequate crop—but a good price would help us do so."

Commissioner Tom Linder of Georgia asserted that "our strongest point will be that the ceiling price on goods already has been set."

STORE SALES DIP IN CHICAGO AREA FOR 4TH WEEK

The Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago reported yesterday that department store sales in the seventh reserve district during the week ended Aug. 22 showed their fourth consecutive weekly decline from year ago figures. Volume dipped 4 per cent both from the preceding week and last year.

Chicago store sales averaged 12 per cent less than a year ago and 3 per cent less than in the preceding week. Every other reporting city in the district had lower sales than last year, except Detroit, where stores recorded a 20 per cent gain.

Store sales for the entire nation were 3 per cent less than last year both for the week and four weeks ended Aug. 22.

STATES COLLECT 5 BILLION TAXES IN FISCAL YEAR

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27 (AP).—The census bureau said today that the 48 states collected nearly 5 billion dollars in taxes in the fiscal year ended June 30, an estimated 10 per cent increase over the preceding year.

The biggest gains were 67 per cent in corporation income taxes, 22 per cent in tobacco taxes, 20 per cent in unemployment insurance levies, 14.5 per cent in individual income taxes, 13 per cent in alcoholic beverage taxes, and 11 per cent in sales taxes.

Gasoline and other automotive taxes held about even, chain store taxes declined 33 per cent, general property levies dropped 14 per cent, and death and gift taxes decreased 6 per cent.

BANK CLEARINGS SHOW DECLINE OF 17.4% FOR WEEK

New York, Aug. 27 (AP).—Bank clearing volume during the week ended Aug. 26 was 17.4 per cent less than in the preceding week but 5.7 per cent more than in the corresponding period last year, Dun & Bradstreet reported today. For 23 leading cities the mercantile agency found volume was $6,232,341,000 for the current week.

New York clearings were up 2.4 per cent from a year ago at $3,189,491,000. Larger advances from 1941 were made at Omaha, 41.8 per cent; Seattle, 31.2; Kansas City, 25.9; Portland, Ore., 24.7; New Orleans, 22.6, and Cincinnati, 21.9

Chicago volume, at $374,000,000, was up 0.8 of one per cent.

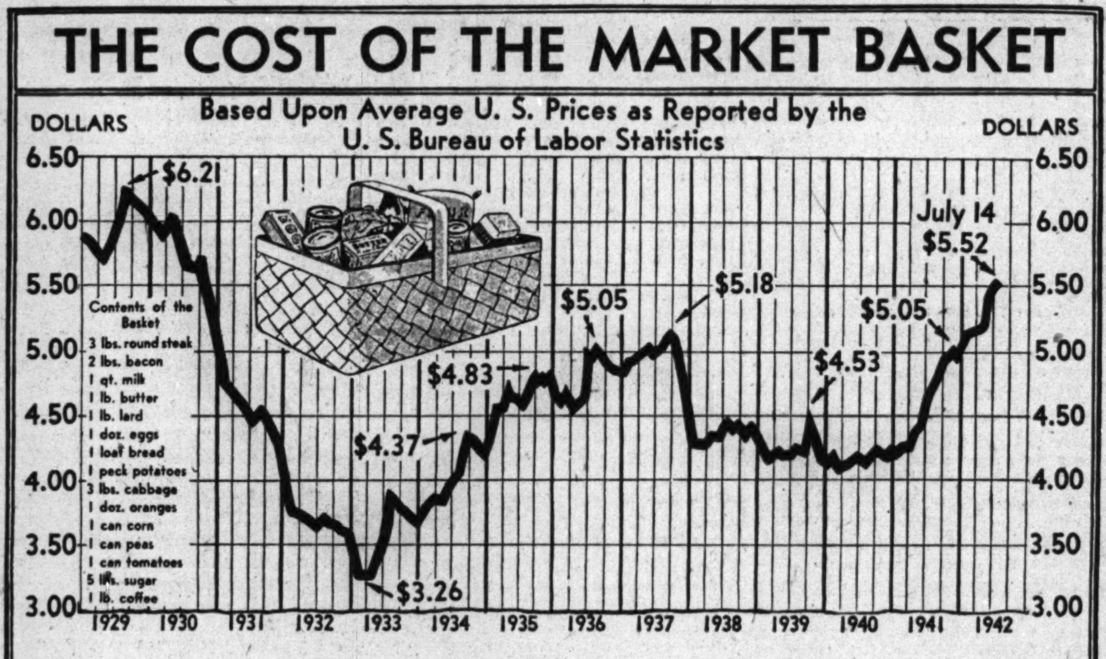
TREASURY'S NEXT LOAN SCHEDULED AFTER LABOR DAY

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27 (AP).—Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau said today that the next war borrowing by the treasury will be done shortly after Labor day.

Altho the treasury has been regularly borrowing 4 to 5 billion dollars a month, Morgenthau said he could not at this time give any further details of the proposed financing.

CAB Orders Pan-American to Justify Ocean Mail Rates

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27 (AP).—Citing load increases said to be far in excess of anticipations, the Civil Aeronautics board today ordered Pan American Airways, Inc., to show cause why rates now in effect for transportation of mail on that company's trans-Atlantic routes from New York to Bermuda and Europe should not be reduced.



Set Up Pricing Rules for Cold Weather Items

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27 [Special].—A pricing method by which retailers and wholsalers of "seasonal commodities," including cold weather apparel items, toys, and seasonal sporting goods, may establish ceiling prices was announced today by the Office of Price Administration.

In general, a seller establishes his ceilings for a particular commodity included in the list by finding his "average cost" of the article or his "current cost" and adding to the lower of the two the "initial percentage markup" he took during the last six months of last year.

Covers Ear Muffs, Storm Doors.

Types of consumer wearing apparel included under the price schedule range from heavy wool sweaters to ear muffs, women's quilted house coats and wool or part wool hosiery, men's and boys' wool and leather jackets and gloves, and certain types of footwear.

Appliances covered include such items as fire and snow shovels, storm doors and sashes, portable or fixed room heaters, and certain harvesting knives or saw handles. Wholesalers and retailers of certain games and toys as well as Halloween novelties and Christmas tree ornaments come under the regulation.

Dehydrates Exempted.

OPA lifted the price ceiling from the sale of dehydrated vegetables to government purchasing agencies in order to encourage development of dehydrated foods for war purposes.

The department of agriculture announced minimum prices at which it will support grower prices of 1942 crop dry edible beans.

Those prices will be $5.10 a hundred pounds for United States No 1 grade and $4.95 for No. 2 grade, in bags, carlots, f. o. b. cars at country shipping points.

MIDLAND UNITED UNIT PLANS SALE AND DISSOLUTION

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 27 (AP).—Utilities, Inc., a unit of Midland United company, proposed today to the Securities and Exchange commission to dissolve after selling two lots and buildings in South Bend, Ind., to two associate companies.

One of the buyers is Northern Indiana Public Service company, parent firm of Utilities Building, which will acquire part of a lot and a building it uses for office purposes in return for a reduction of $135,000 in Utilities Building indebtedness.

The other property will be sold for $75,000 cash to Chicago, South Shore and South Bend railroad.

Railroad's First Woman Travel Agent Will Retire

Miss Nellie C. Quigley, 4917 Jackson boulevard, the Chicago and North Western railway's first woman travel representative, will retire Monday after 35 years of service. Employed in 1907 when railroading still was primarily a field for men, Miss Quigley spent 20 years in the North Western's freight department. Since 1927 she has been travel representative for the state of Colorado.

HALF OF WAR ORDERS PLACED IN 8 STATES; ILLINOIS RANKS NO. 8

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27 (AP).—A War Production board tabulation showed today that eight states got more than half the $80,338,688,000 poured into major war supply and plant contracts from the start of the defense program up to the end of June this year.

The biggest portion went to Michigan, where the motor industry's conversion to armament production contributed to a state total of $7,417,140,000.

New York was second with $6,980,332,000, and California close behind with $6,944,119,000.

The other five states which obtained major pieces of the grand total were: Ohio, $5,321,506,000; Pennsylvania, $4,629,240,000; New Jersey, $4,407,079,000; Connecticut, $3,252,734,000; and Illinois, $3,243,123,000.

The tabulation, however, was not representative of the total government commitments for war purposes, since it excluded various items which would have increased the national total to a figure about 50 billion dollars higher. Contract awards of less than $50,000 and all awards for foodstuffs were excluded.

BUTTER AND EGG FUTURES EASE; POTATOES GAIN

Butter futures closed unchanged to 0.1 cent a pound lower yesterday on the Chicago Mercantile exchange. The November future ended at 41.75 cents. Larger production in some areas and larger receipts than on the corresponding day last year counterbalanced constructive consumption statistics and the less urgent charater of the selling, market observers said.

Egg futures were under light, scattered selling to close 0.1 to 0.15 cent a dozen lower. The October delivery closed at 34.9 cents. Continued large receipts and slow wholesale demand for farm run and lower grade eggs depressed the market, brokers said. Closing prices were the lowest in three weeks.

After spurting up 8 cents to near their 1942 peaks, potato futures toppled back to $2.94 a hundred pounds for a net gain of 1 cent. Idaho russets, continued to sell above $4 in the wholesale market.

RULING SOUGHT ON CONFLICTING OIL WELL LAWS

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 27 (AP).—The state department of mines and minerals has asked Attorney General George F. Barrett to rule whether the recent federal order to restrict oil well drilling shall supersede the state oil and gas conservation law.

The state law limits drilling to one well to 20 acres in limestone formations, but the M-68 order, promulgated at the request of the Office of Petroleum Coördinator as a wartime steel conservation measure, restricts such drilling to one well to 40 acres. Sen. Scott Lucas [D., Ill.] annnounced last week that the federal order would be modified in some respects, but would retain the 40 acre spacing provision for limestone formations.

The state department of mines and minerals also sought a ruling on OPC actions that permit five acre spacing in shallow pools. This is under the state limitation.

The Bendix Aviation corporation yesterday estimated that earnings for the nine months ended June 30 were $11,035,022, equivalent to $5.22 a share, compared with year ago income for the period of $9,507,895, or $4.52 a share.

The 20th Century-Fox Film corporation reported its consolidated profit for the 26 weeks ended June 27 was $2,190,894, equal after preferred dividends to 86 cents a common share, compared with $861,278, or 9 cents a share, for the first 26 weeks of 1941.

Bendix established a reserve of $66,232,792 for federal excess profits and income taxes. The corporation said it had estimated taxliability on the basis of an effective rate of 80 per cent for the last six months of the period covered by the report.

Special Reserves Provided.

The corporation said it also provided what are considered adequate reserves for possible losses on termination of contracts, deducting these amounts after taxes. These reserves are intended to cover substantial voluntary reductions in prices as previously announced and subsequent cuts, but not losses that might occur in renegotiation of contracts.

The Bendix Home Appliance company, South Bend, now entirely converted to war production, realized net income of $13,354 for the six months ended June 30, compared with $218,661 a year earlier.

CARRIERS OPPOSE RATE BOOST FOR LIVE STOCK CARS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27 (AP).—Twenty-one railroads which serve the Chicago stockyards told the Interstate Commerce commission today that they opposed the proposed increase in charges for loading and unloading cars at the yard.

The carriers said, however, that if the ICC found the higher rates reasonable, they would increase the rates for transporting live stock to shippers by the same amount.

Present rates charged by the Union Stockyard and Transit company are $1.25 for a single deck car and $1.50 for a double deck car. The company has proposed increases to $4.25 and $4.50, respectively. The ICC suspended the proposed tariff until Feb. 5, 1943, pending an investigation.

United Steelworkers Vote Strike Threat at Montreal

MONTREAL, Que., Aug. 27 (AP).—Members of the United Steelworkers of America employed at the plant of Canadian Vickers, Ltd., have voted 96 per cent to go on strike if such action is necessary to enforce wage demands, union officials said tonight.

WLB DENIES AID TO UNION WHICH STRUCK IN WAR

Unanimous Decision Sets Precedent.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27 (AP).—The War Labor board, declaring that a union of chemical workers had violated labor's no strike pledge, refused today to grant it any form of union security. Labor members of the board joined in making the decision unanimous.

A strike was called on July 15 at the Everett, Mass., plants of the Monsanto Chemical company and the New England Alcohol company and was terminated July 20 following certification of the case to the board. The only issues in dispute were the requests of the AFL Chemical Workers union for a union shop and the check-off.

Says Union Violated Pledge.

Wayne L. Morse, public member of the board, wrote the WLB opinion which said:

"The peaceful procedures for settling labor disputes referred to by the President in the executive order creating the national War Labor board rest upon good faith. There is no substitute for good faith. The War Labor board can not afford in this case to set a precedent whereby a union is granted union maintenance protection by the board in the very face of a record which shows that the union violated its no-strike pledge.

"Hence, the granting of union security to this union must at least be postponed until such time as this union demonstrates that it has adopted a change of attitude in regard to the use of the strike weapon during the period of this war.

No Justification for Strikes.

"The important point for all concerned to remember is that when labor agreed to forfeit its right to strike for the duration of the war, the government provided it with an orderly and impartial tribunal to settle its disputes with industry.

"So long as the War Labor board functions, there is neither need nor justification for strikes. Certainly, it must be clear to every one that the War Labor board, as an agency of the federal government and acting under executive order, should not and will not be swayed by economic pressure brought to bear by either management or labor."

Asks Alcoa Case Review.

The CIO International Union of Mine, Mill, and Smelter Workers filed a petition asking the WLB to review that part of its recent decision which refused a wage increase to employés in the Cleveland, O., plant of the Aluminum Company of America.

The petition contended that the board, in ruling on an industry-wide basis, distorted the picture of conditions locally.

Workers, in the nine other Alcoa plants involved in the case are represented by two other CIO unions, the Aluminum Workers of America and the United Auto Workers. Nick Zonarich, president of the Aluminum Workers, said his union had not petitioned to reopen the case and that he desired "straightening this thing out without any interruption of work."

Ask Premium Pay Equality.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 27 (AP).—Officers of the United Automobile Workers [CIO] asked President Roosevelt today for an audience this week to discuss their demands that premium pay be relinquished in all industries or else restored to UAW members.

R. J. Thomas, president of the union, said the UAW had fixed Sept. 7 as a deadline. He accused the AFL machinists' union of giving "only lip service" to surrender of premium pay.

Wholesale Price Index Unchanged in Last Week

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27 (AP).—The labor department reported today the index of wholesale prices for the week ended Aug. 22 remained at 98.9 per cent of the 1926 average. The index a year ago was 90.

U. S. Agency Organized to Collect Scrap

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27 (AP).—Final details of the organization of War Materials, Inc., which has been designated by the War Production board to collect at least 5 million tons of scrap metal in the remainder of this year, were announced today by Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones.

J. M. Hopwood, president of the Hagan corporation, Pittsburgh, Pa., will be president of the new government agency. Main offices will be established in Pittsburgh, with regional offices in other cities.

The corporation, a subsidiary of the Reconstruction Finance corporation and agent for the Metals Reserve company, is expected to buy and scrap old bridges, abandoned buildings, household scrap and any other metal that the general public, industry, or municipalities can provide.

Asks Coöperation of All.

"The success of this program," said Jones, "will depend in large measure on the coöperation and support of the iron and steel scrap industry, whose facilities will be used to the greatest extent possible. Nevertheless, however great the effort, success can only come with the coöperation of every one who is in possession of scrap metals or objects containing iron and steel which are serving no useful purpose."

The scrap obtained will be allocated to steel mills by the WPB and sold to war industries at prices established by the Office of Price Administration.

Directors Cover Steel Field.

Other directors of the corporation beside Hopwood:

G. Temple Bridgeman, executive vice president of Metals Reserve; A. C. Clarke, chief engineer of Baltimore and Ohio railroad; L. D. Greene, assistant purchasing agent of Bethlehem Steel corporation; C. R. Miller Jr., vice president in charge of purchases for United States Steel corporation; L. Morris Mitchell, chief engineer of Merritt Chapman and Scott, New York; C. W. Nichols, vice president of Metals Reserve; H. E. ELEVATED LINES REPORT TRAFFIC IS UP 7 PER CENT

Elevated railroad traffic, stimulated by the growing army of war workers and motorists who have chosen to ride rather than drive, is running about 7 per cent above a year ago, the Chicago Rapid Transit company reported yesterday. The increase has been largest on the south side branch, with a gain of approximately 16 per cent.

The company said it expected the traffic volume would increase more rapidly during the fall and winter months as more automobile owners find themselves obliged to give up use of their cars.

Completion of the subway will speed up the elevated trains, the company said. Diversion of more than 50 per cent of the north and south side trains to underground routes, the company stated, will not only speed traffic in these directions but will also relieve congestion on the loop elevated tracks for more rapid movement of west and northwest side trains.

STANDARD FORM FOR REPORTS BY BROKERS DRAWN

A standard form for brokers to use in reporting their financial condition was agreed upon at a meeting in Chicago of representatives of the Securities and Exchange commission and security dealers, James W. Treanor Jr., director of the SEC's training division, said yesterday.

The form is designed to end confusion in reporting to various state and federal agencies and the stock exchanges. It will be considered next week by the National Association of State Securities Commissioners at its annual meeting in St. Paul, Minn.

NEGRO BUSINESS HONOR AWARDED TO S. B. FULLER

S. B. Fuller, president of the Chicago Negro Chamber of Commerce, last night was awarded the Robert S. Abbott award for Negro business achievement at the convention of the National Negro Business league at Du Sable High school. The award was presented by John H. Sengstacke, president of the Robert S. Abbott Publishing company.

Earlier in the day the league had heard representatives of government agencies explain their wartime relationships to business and the Negro.

Baldwin's July Orders Soar Above 21 Millions

The Baldwin Locomotive works and wholly owned subsidiaries yesterday reported the dollar value of orders taken in July amounted to $21,300,520, against $12,752,437 in the same month a year ago. July bookings raised the total for the first seven months of this year to $266,370,188, compared with $57,209,257 a year earlier.

RAIL REVENUES SOAR, BUT NET EARNINGS LAG

Stockholders' Share Whittled Down.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

Booming freight and passenger business caused by the war has sent gross revenues of the railroads to the highest levels in years, railroad earnings reports now being made public indicate.

Joseph B. Eastman, ODT director, disagrees with WPB.

This temporary business has solved at least temporarily, one vexing railroad problem—that of obtaining sufficient gross revenues to pay operating expenses.

Altho most of the railroads are showing fairly substantial profits after the long lean years during which about one-third of the nation's railroad mileage was forced into bankruptcy, the increases in profits are much smaller than the increases in gross revenues.

Little Hope for Reserves.

Increasing operating costs—including the substantial wage increases ordered late last year—and soaring taxes are whittling down that part of the gross revenues remaining for the stockholders. The tax outlook, according to railroad executives, leaves little hope that the railroads will be able to store up any reserves for the day when railroad competition from the highways and the air becomes active again with renewed vigor.

Transcontinental freight business has increased greatly because of the transfer of shipping between the coasts from steamship lines to railroads as a result of submarine attacks. Restrictions on truck operations to conserve rubber also have shunted large amounts of freight to the railroads in addition to the big transportation burden normally imposed by the war.

Reports Show Profit Lag.

Reports from a number of representative railroads for July emphasize the way in which profits have lagged in comparison with larger gross revenues as a result of the increased costs. The following table compares results for 1942 with 1941:

Meanwhile, the railroads have had to handle their largest increase in traffic volume with about 600,000 fewer freight cars and 10,000 fewer freight locomotives than they had during World War I. Despite this, they have moved a larger amount of freight than in the earlier war.

Efficiency Is Increased.

The railroads' ability to take care of present war demands—which are growing much larger—has resulted from increased operating efficiency and lessons learned during 1917-'18.

Cars are loaded more fully now, the average mileage of a freight train is greater, cars are loaded and unloaded with greater dispatch, and, of paramount importance, freight cars are not used for storing freight as they were in World War I.

Sharp differences of opinion already have come to light between Joseph B. Eastman, director of the Office of Defense Transportation, and the War Production board. Eastman has warned that the railroads must have more equipment to replace worn out cars and locomotives.

The WPB, however, has refused to make materials available to build new cars. It even has prevented one Chicago railroad from using material in hand for the construction of a number of box cars. The equipment already had been cut to fit the box cars and if not used for this purpose will be largely wasted, it was said.

YOUR PICK OF JOBS BY THE SCORES!

To make sure you overlook no offer of employment that would interest you, read the Help Wanted and Employment Agency ads in the Tribune every day. You will be far more likely to learn of the job you want when you read the Tribune because it prints more than twice as much Help Wanted and Employment Agency advertising as all other Chicago newspapers combined.

STOCKS MANAGE SMALL RECOVERY IN DULL MARKET

Rail Issues Are Leaders in Fractional Rise.

New York, Aug. 27 (AP).—The stock market negotiated a modest recovery today, but little buying came into the dull session.

Part of the credit for the turnaround was given to the slightly more encouraging war news from the Solomon Islands and Russia. In addition, a few commitments were reinstated on the belief that yesterday's relapse, sharpest in more than a month, provided a healthy "correction" of the preceding upswing.

There still were plenty of doubters regarding the administration's contemplated anti-inflation drive, and the tax question persisted as a restraining influence.

Gains Paced at Close.

The list showed signs of revival at the start, and by mid-day rails and selected industrials had advanced fractions. Best marks were reduced in many cases at the close.

Dealings dragged and the 271,130 share turnover was the smallest for a five hour session since Aug. 11 and compared with 357,710 yesterday. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up 0.1 to a point at 36.6.

Heartening to market followers was the quick oversubscription of a "special" offering of a 17,000 share block of United States Steel at 46¼. The regularly traded stock closed up ⅛ at 46⅝. Bethlehem gained ⅞.

Among a smattering of new 1942 highs were Chicago and Eastern Illinois "A" and Amerada, up ⅝ and 1⅝, respectively.

CHICAGO STOCKS LOWER.

Chicago Stock exchange prices moved slightly lower again yesterday. Nearly half of the 20,000 share volume was in Williams Oil-O-Matic, which dipped ⅝. Midland United preferred reached a new high of 5¼, then reacted to 5⅛. Commonwealth Edison was off ⅛. Central and South West Utilities and Fuller Manufacturing were fractionally lower.

WHEAT FUTURES GAIN SLIGHTLY IN DULL TRADING

Grain Hedges Shifted Into Later Deliveries.

Switching of hedges from September contracts to later deliveries and spreading operations predominated in grain futures transactions yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade. Wheat closed ⅛ to ½ cent higher, with the September future at $1.17⅜ a bushel.

Corn futures closed ⅛ cent lower to ⅛ cent higher, the September future encountering light liquidation. Oats futures finished ¼ cent higher. Rye, after selling at new seasonal lows, rallied to close unchanged. Soy beans advanced ¼ to 1⅜ cents.

Price Spread Widens.

Liquidation of the September wheat future widened the spread between it and the deferred deliveries. The differential between the September and December futures increased to 3½ cents from 3⅛ cents at the close on Wednesday.

An agreement made between United States and Canada earlier this year concerning farm crops appeared to be working out, grain men said. The United States informed the dominion that, because so much of its feed grain acreage would be diverted to production of oil bearing crops like soy beans and flaxseed, it probably would be necessary to import oats and barley to supplement the domestic production.

Canadian Oats Offered.

Elevator interests disclosed that Canadian oats are being offered to New England buyers at about a cent a bushel less than the domestic grain. The offers are said to average about 4 to 4½ cents above the Chicago September future, compared with 5 to 5½ cents for United States grain. The Canadian grain is reported to have a test weight of 40 to 44 pounds a bushel.

Commodity Credit corporation officials reported last night that the demand for government wheat for feeding purposes is bigger than expected. New York, Pennsylvana, Kentucky, and Tennessee farmers have indicated they will use twice as much wheat for feeding purposes during the winter than they did in the first half of this year.

Meanwhile, officials admit they are discouraged over the storage situation. With a record soy bean crop coming on, storage facilities already are crammed with grains. In many southern states where soy bean production has been stepped up the beans will compete with cottonseed for space.

Army-Navy 'E' Flags Given to Two Chicago War Plants

The vital part Chicagoland industries are taking in furnishing tools for the nation's fighting men was portrayed yesterday in ceremonies at two war plants in which the new joint army-navy "E" award was presented to the Hawthorne works of the Western Electric company and the Borg-Warner corporation's spring division.

at the Borg-Warner plant in Bellwood was made by Brig. Gen. N. F. Ramsey, commanding officer of the Rock Island arsenal, on behalf of the Chicago ordnance district. The citations were for "exceptional performance in the production of war equipment."

War Bond Campaign Ends.

At the same time Western Electric announced the successful close of an employés' campaign to pledge 10 per cent of their total pay roll for war bond purchases. This means that total pay roll deduction pledges of $500,000 a month.

The Western Electric award was accepted by David Levinger, vice president and Hawthorne works manager, and C. H. Flax, chairman of the Western Electric Independent association. The emblem was raised by Miss Dorothy O'Brien, the Hawthorne plant's "Victory Girl."

A token presentation of "E" pins was made to 12 employés by Col. Thomas L. Clark, Chicago district signal corps chief. Ferre C. Watkins, past state American Legion commander, introduced Mayor Kelly and other speakers. C. G. Stoll of New York, Western Electric president, attended the ceremony.

Woman Represents Employés.

The emblem presented at the Borg-Warner plant by Gen. Ramsey was accepted by H. P. Troendly, vice president and general manager, and by Miss Dorothy Symanik, Bellwood, on behalf of the employés. Gov. Green complimented the company and employés in his address. William J. Mink, mayor of Bellwood, presided, and C. S. Davis, president of Borg-Warner, attended the ceremonies.

Pins were presented by Lieut. Col. J. Slezak, acting chief of the industrial division of the Chicago ordnance district. They were accepted by Lee Brewton on behalf of the employés.

Another Chicago company to receive the joint award is the Belmont Radio corporation, 5921 West Dickens avenue. The formal presentation will take place Sept. 10.

HOG PRICE FAIRLY STEADY IN FACE OF PRICE CEILING

Prospects for a minimum as well as a maximum price for live hogs had little effect on a dull but fairly steady market at the stockyards yesterday. A slight price reduction was attributed entirely to an increase in shipments and reports that Ohio and Indiana farmers are moving larger numbers of spring pigs, a seasonal occurrence.

DAY by DAY on the FARM By BEN MARKLAND

Lambs Try Deception.

Aug. 27, 1942.

THE veterinarian who recommended that the sheep and lambs on the Wheaton farm be kept out of the sheepbarn as a precaution against worm infestation isn't popular with the farm flock, judging by its actions.

The men herded the lambs into an adjacent field of wheat stubble and put the ewes in another lot some distance from the barn, but while the flockmaster built the runway and temporary feeding and watering station just outside the sheepbarn, the lambs kept edging toward the barn with the evident intent of sneaking into the cool building. In the meantime, the ewes were moseying down toward the barn from the woodlot to the north, so the flockmaster mounted his horse and headed out to drive the ewes back to their new headquarters. As soon as he was gone the lambs dashed thru the new runway and into the barn, evidently satisfied that their strategic advance had been successful.

Now, however, the temporary sheep quarters outside the barn have been completed, so the flock can't get in regardless of maneuvers. A gate has been placed across the barn door and the sheep stay in the fields until the veterinarian gives the password.

Bolts Close Together.

Does lightning ever strike twice in the same place? Can one bolt of lightning strike two trees?

The men on the Wheaton farm have been asking these questions since a recent thunderstorm in which both an oak tree and a nearby elm were damaged by lightning. The farm workers are willing to forget the old lightning adage, because they now have evidence that even if lightning never strikes twice in the same place, it may strike twice in a small area. The two trees which were hit are only 20 feet apart. The oak tree is ripped straight down the trunk, a 25 foot scar reaching from the ground to a point one-third of the way to the top of the tree.

Bittersweet Is Stubborn.

Autumn gradually is overtaking summer, with early autumn wildflowers in bloom and the leaves of the hickory and sumac trees starting to turn color, but as yet the bittersweet berries have not succumbed to autumn's advance. These wild vines which produce fall and winter bouquets for the farm homes are growing profusely over the wire fence along the east edge of the farm.

At about this time of the year the husks of these orange berries dry up and expose the bright red fruits which give the bittersweet its distinctive coloring. We examined the vines the other morning, however, and found the orange husks still intact despite several cool nights.

LETTERS

[Letters of 200 words or less addressed to the financial editor are printed in this column from time to time.]

Inflation and Butter.

Evanston, Ill., Aug. 18—The recent announcement by the department of agriculture of its intention to support the price of butter at 39 cents, a 3 cent increase, for the rest of the year, has resulted in a rapid increase in the price of that commodity which might well be the spark to set off the dreaded inflationary explosion.

Except for the coming November election, it is difficult to comprehend why a governmental department should encourage an upward price movement in a commodity so universally used, and in an industry beyond the reach of legal price control.

The reason given for this action, namely to induce increased butter production, sounds plausible. But there are no idle cows which, like idle machines, can be thrown into production overnight, nor can their output be speeded up to take advantage of possible increased profits. Hence the present and immediate future source of supply is constant, and the only possible means of increasing butter production is to divert cream from other uses, chiefly cheese making.

There is a reported oversupply of cheese. If the department, instead of increasing the butter price, had announced a reduction in its support price on cheese, that which would have occurred naturally in an uncontroled market, the needed cream diversion, would have been obtained along with many added beneficial results, such as giving the consumer a break, relieving the cheese glut and curbing the inflationary trend.

The peril of inflation notwithstanding, it is evident that one cannot expect horse sense economic policies from Washington in an election year.

RESERVE BANKS CUT HOLDINGS OF U. S. SECURITIES

First Reduction Since Week Ended May 20.

For the first time since May 20 the 12 federal reserve banks in the last week have reduced their total holdings of United States government securities, the weekly statement issued by the Federal Reserve board showed last night. The 12 banks cut their holdings of treasury bills to $669,410,000 as at the close of business Wednesday, a drop of $62,725,000 compared with a week earlier, but added $3,397,000 of government bonds.

The central banks' holdings of treasury bills have climbed rapidly since May 20, when they amounted to $129,759,000, or $539,651,000 less than at present. In the same three month period the 12 banks' holdings of direct and guaranteed government securities have risen from 2 billion 444 million dollars to 3 billion 388 millions.

Member Banks Buying.

The Federal Reserve bank of Chicago reported a decline of nearly 8 millions for the week in its holdings of treasury bills, but it added more than a million dollars of bonds, notes, and certificates. At the same time the member banks in the Chicago district boosted their holdings of treasury bills by 30 millions, and the New York City member banks added 54 millions.

The member banks' increased investments in government securities reflected in part the increase in excess reserves resulting from the reduction a week ago in the reserve requirements for Chicago and New York City central reserve city banks to 24 per cent of net demand deposits, from 26. Chicago member banks' excess reserves amounted to $82,800,000 as of Wednesday, compared with 16 millions on the preceding Wednesday. New York City members' excess reserves were up to 375 millions, from 180 millions a week earlier.

Circulation at New High.

The reserve statement showed money in circulation thruout the country at a new record high of 13 billion, 57 million dollars, an increase of 101 million in the last week and of 3 billion, 158 million in the last year.

For all member banks in the system the excess reserves amounted to 2 billion 340 million dollars, compared with 2 billion 100 million a week earlier, a gain of 240 millions. The more excess reserves the banks have the more money they have for loans and investments, including purchases of government securities to help finance the war.

2 UTILITY BONDS MAKE UP NEARLY THIRD OF VOLUME

New York, Aug. 27 (AP).—Rails and utilities dominated a steady bond market today with heavy turnover in two issues of the Columbia Gas and Electric corporation the market feature. Total transfers rose to $9,872,000, face value, from $6,701,200 the day before.

Sales of two Columbia Gas bonds accounted for nearly a third of the volume. The 5s of 1961 ended down ¾ at 89¼ on sales of $1,702,000 and the 5s of May, 1952, were off ¾ at 93¼ on sales of $1,456,000.

The company recently obtained permission of the Securities and Exchange commission to acquire by tender or open market operations a total of $9,452,000, face value, of the two bonds for retirement and it was understood the majority of the bonds changing hands yesterday and today were for the company's account.

Financial quarters explained the slight drop in the two issues, unusual under the circumstances, as due to the fact the company specified exactly what it would pay for what it wanted and sellers decided to meet the offer.

VOTE ALASKA BONDS.

The senate has passed a bill authorizing Petersburg, Alaska, to issue $125,000 in bonds for improvements in its hydroelectric plant and system, its water system, and to construct and equip a municipal hospital.

FASHIONS FOLLOW THE WAR TREND

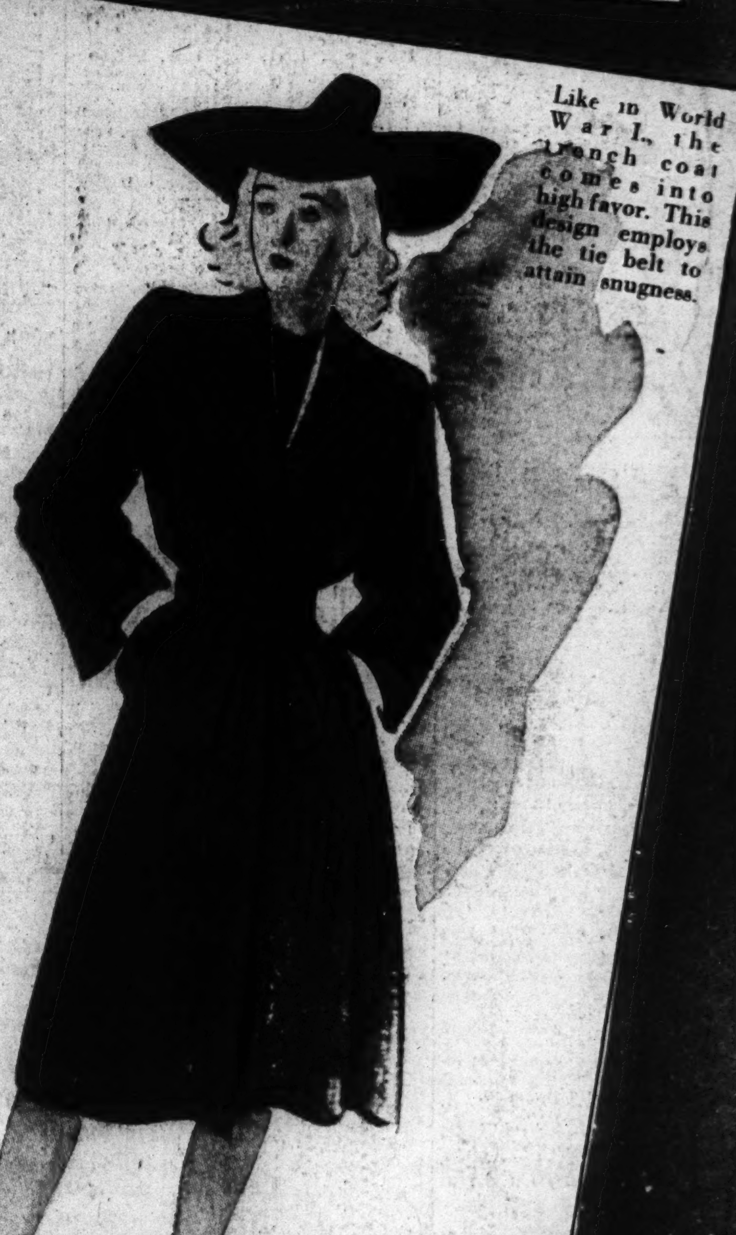
Trench coats with large patch pockets, some of fur, indicate the military trend. They are adaptations of field service coats.



Like in World War I., the trench coat comes into high favor. This design employs the tie belt to attain snugness.

FASHIONS ever have followed the military trend. In time of war the influence is more marked than in peacetime, because every one's thoughts, including those of the fashion designers, are upon the grim business of defeating the enemy. Not only do men's garments then reflect the styles adopted for war, but women's and children's as well. This influence extends to accessories and ornaments, to virtually every object that makes up the complete wardrobe. The lapel ornaments worn by the girl pictured above—including the eagle and shield and the "Remember Pearl Harbor" novelty, with a synthetic pearl taking the place of the actual word itself—are in the military manner and patriotic indeed in their expression. Americans today—men, women, and children—are remembering Pearl Harbor as those of two generations ago remembered the Maine. To make certain that they will not forget, the jewelry and novelty designers are offering all sorts of decorative clasps and pins designed upon this important theme. The eagle, America's national bird; the shield of red, white, and blue, and other similar motifs are ever in favor, but particularly in time of war.
